mr. davis: key mhs advisor

Mr. Davis came to Marshall High School in 1962 as a member of the vocational teaching staff.

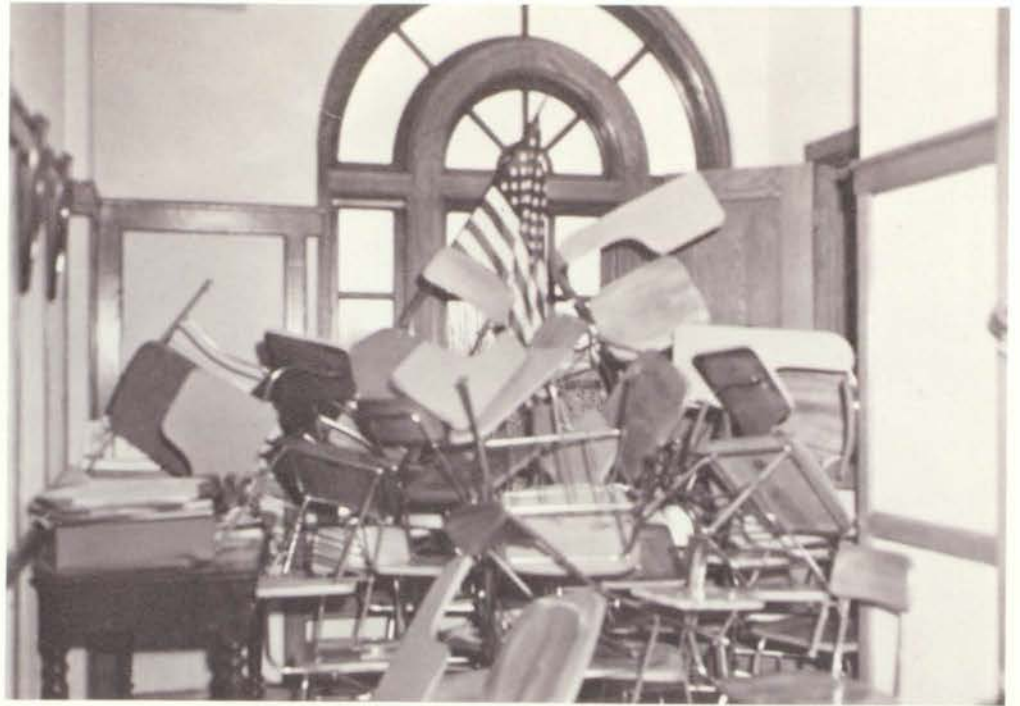

During his first six years in Marshall, he taught exploratory woodshop, exploratory metal and drafting. In 1968, he took over the position of Assistant Principal.

Mr. Davis graduated from Muskegon Heights High School in 1956. He enjoys his job as Assistant Principal and seems to "know all the tricks" because he probably pulled most of them at one time or another.

The Marshall Jaycees awarded him Teacher of the year award three years ago.

He is the Student Government Advisor for the last two years. With Mr. Davis's help, they worked out a student dress code that was more liberal and practical. He has sponsored the sophomore class, and has worked in Driver's Education since 1963. He is a member of the Chamber of Commerce, Marshall Jaycees, Historical Society, and several other professional organizations.

“. . . no such, no touch”

Marshall High's senior class presented "David and Lisa" Nov. 20 and 21 in the high school auditorium.

The production was based on the award winning movie of the same name and employed some of the same techniques, such as a series of blackouts to typify scene changes. Another added touch was having Larry Sommers portray a man walking through the audience calling the students, "A bunch of screwballs, ruining the town."

The play centers around the emotionally disturbed students of Berkley school, an institute for emotionally disturbed adolescents.

This was the first production for Mr. Mike Perry, a newcomer in Marshall. Thirty-three people had speaking roles with total cast and crew amounting to fifty-eight.

fourteen vie for junior miss

Friday night, Nov. 27, Sandy Brown was crowned Marshall's 1971 Junior Miss. Carol Antonino was first runner-up and second runner-up was Margo Hammell. Receiving other awards were: Deb Daniels, Creative and Performing Arts; and Jane Metzger, Miss Congeniality.

The pageant took place in the Marshall High School auditorium with fourteen girls participating. The talent ranged from performance on the uneven parallel bars to scenes from "Romeo and Juliet" to a mouse skit.

Chosen as one of the twelve finalists at the Regional Pageant, Sandy went to the State Junior Miss Pageant on Jan. 23, where she placed second runner-up. She won first place in the party-planning contest sponsored by the Kraft Food Company and was second in a hair-styling contest put on by the John H. Breck Company.

class night fills auditorium

Several changes highlighted this year's class night performance. First, the awards presentation was taken care of at the beginning of the program instead of being the traditional closing of the show. This was done due to the unusually long length of the show and different effect of the finale, "Let the Sunshine." Also surprising were the large number of seniors who participated. Eighty-five students took part in Class Night.

Marty Lively and Steve Kosinski emceed the show and emphasized changing attitudes in a changing world. Mrs. Darlene Erickson was the director with help from Mr. Brian Burns.

faculty honors 14 seniors

Honored Seniors are those students judged by a committee of MHS faculty members to be the most outstanding individuals in the class. Selection is based on scholastic ability, leadership qualities and citizenship during the four years of high school.

Fourteen members of the Class of '71 were chosen this year to be so honored. These students displayed all of these admirable qualities during their years at Marshall High. We, their fellow students, join in saluting these deserving seniors.

Commencement this year was held June 8, 1971, and featured Mr. Arthur Holst, salesman, businessman and line judge for the National Football League. He spoke on "The Challenge of Leadership" and addressed a graduating class of 248.

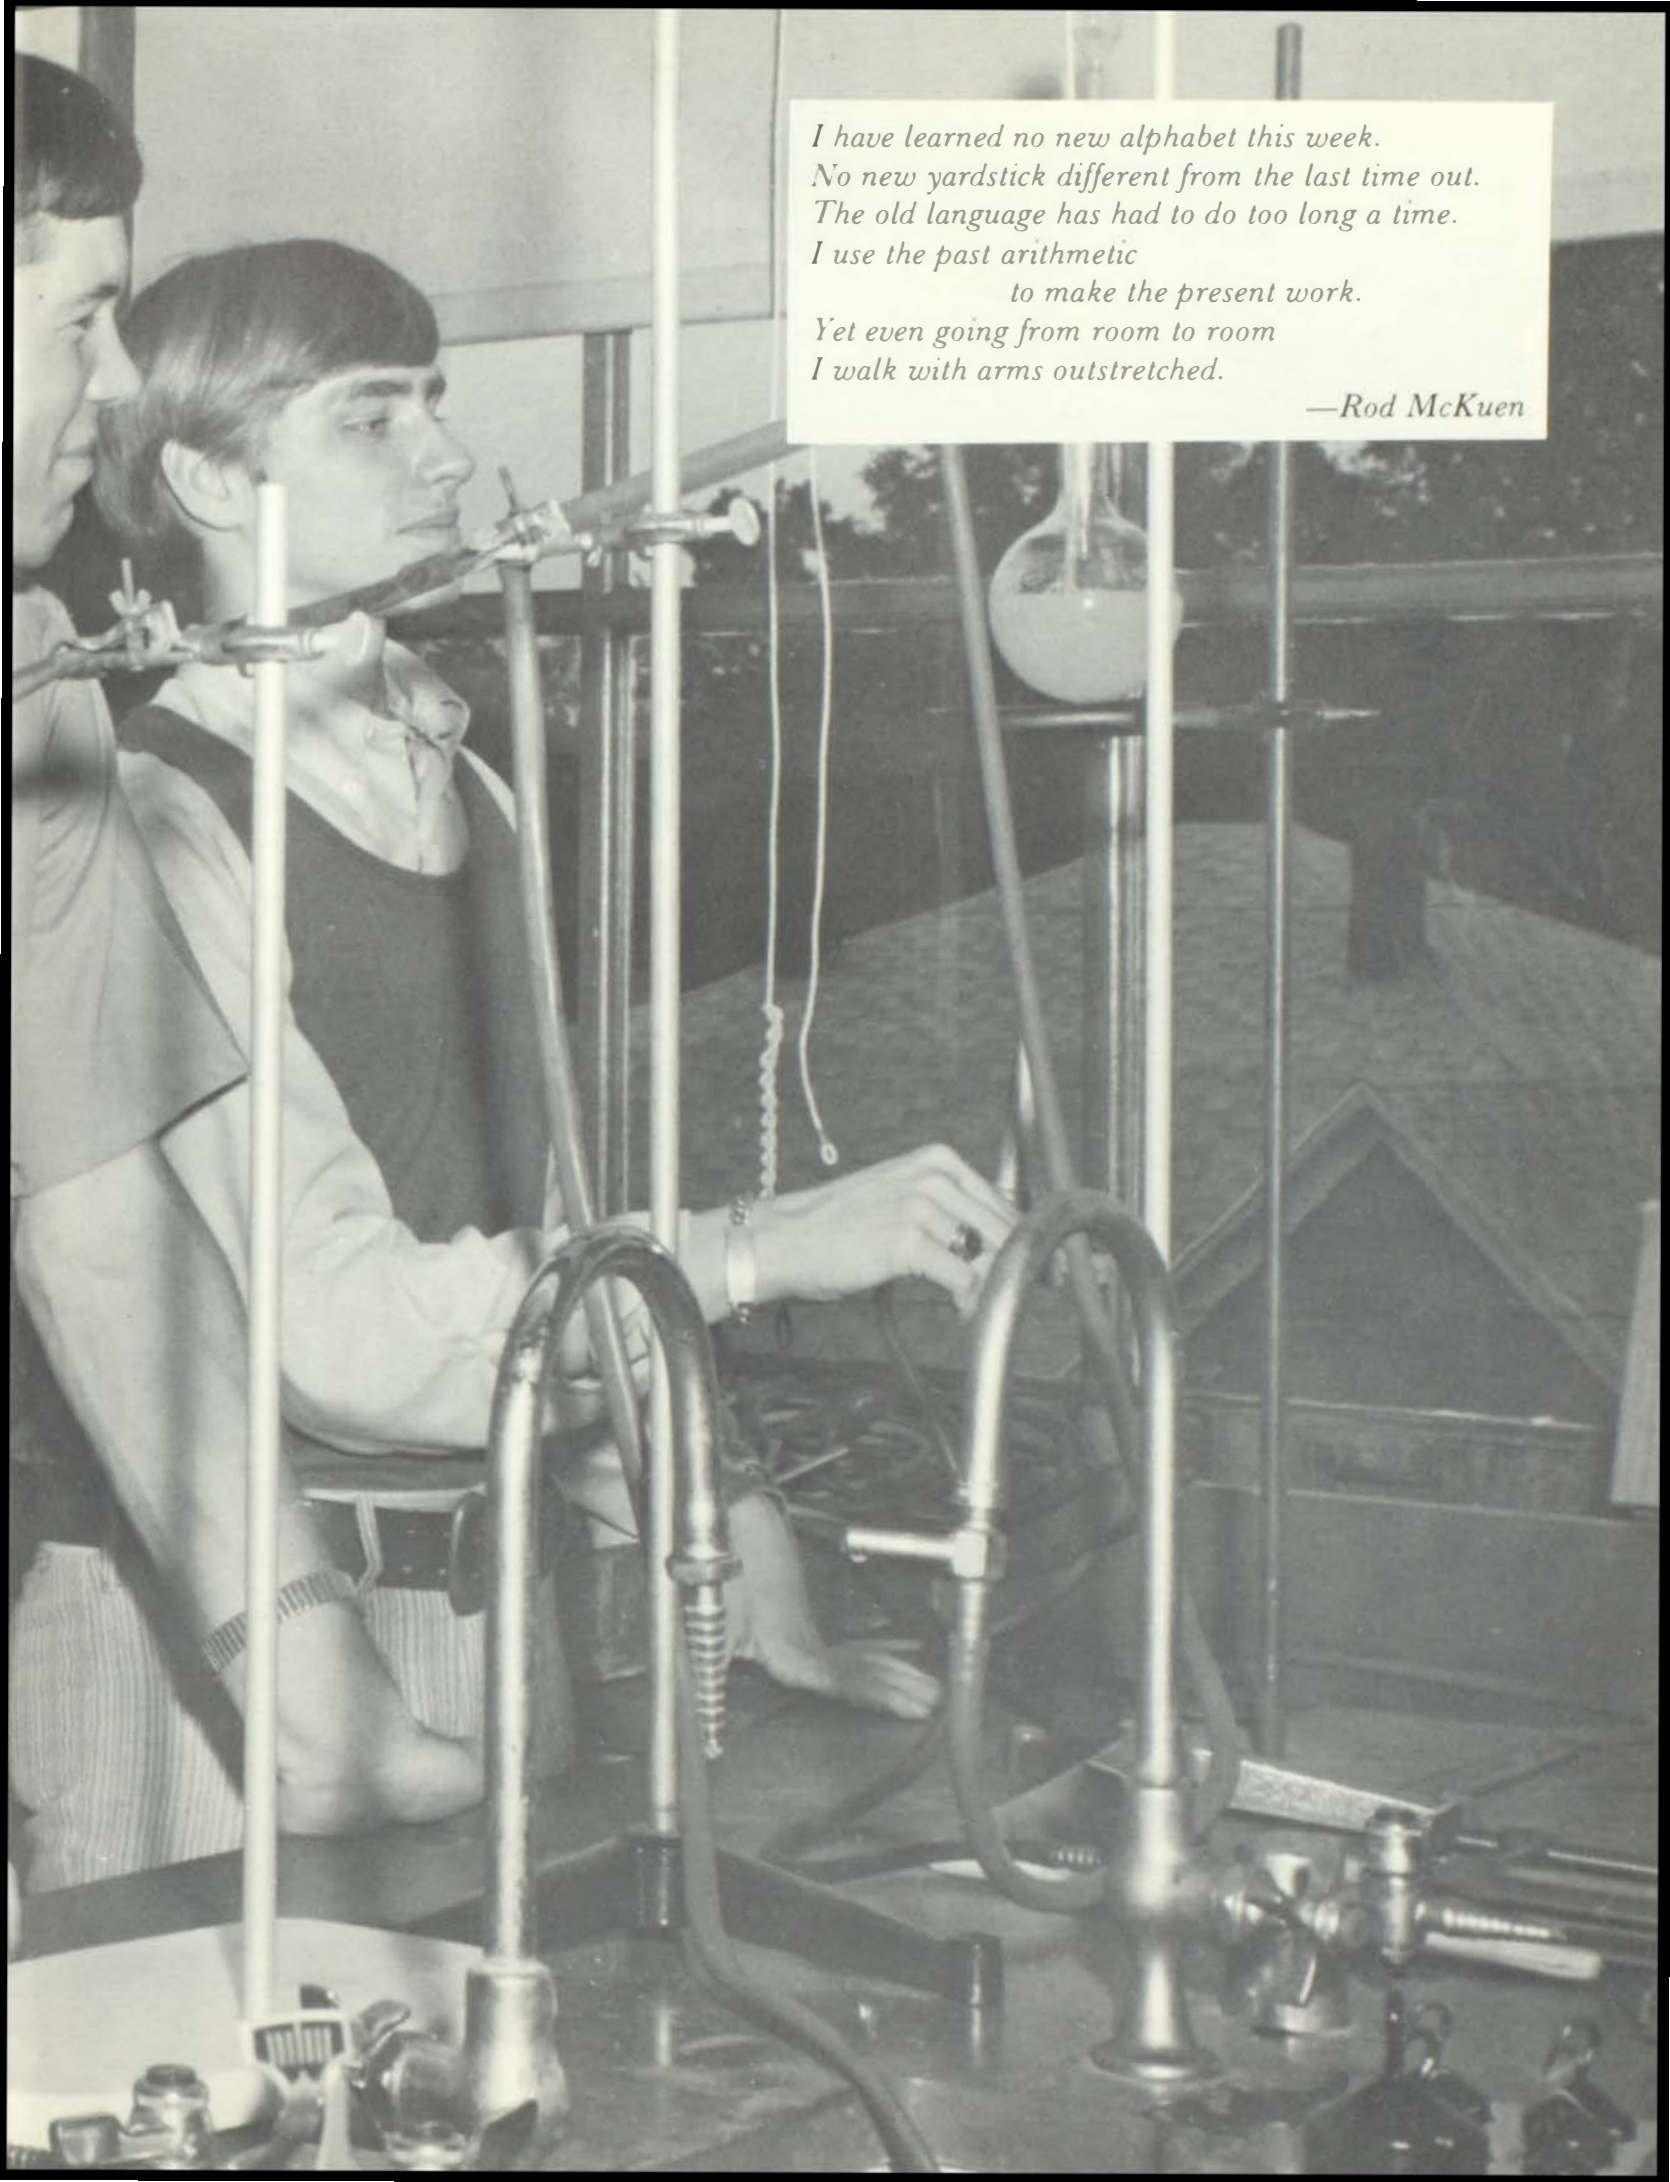

The Class of 1971 chose brown and gold as the colors they wore in their last act at Marshall High School. They received their diplomas from Mr. Richard Berge, the President of the Marshall Board of Education.

As in past years, the Marshall Country Club and parents of other seniors sponsored and chaperoned the annual graduation dance, catered by Win Schuler's, Inc.

disciplinary code established

Working from general recommendations outlined by the Michigan Board of Education, a special committee established a Disciplinary Code for Marshall High. The committee was compiled of two parents, two teachers, two administrators and four students. Parents were represented by Mrs. Faye Berry and Mrs. Ann Schneider, a member of the Marshall Board of Education; teachers were represented by Mrs. Darlene Erickson and Mr. Philip Wuori. Representing the students were Teri Gish, Marv Prescott, Bill Strough and Sue Stauffer; and administrators taking part were Mr. William Crumrine and Mr. Henry Cunningham.

With the resignation of David Foster from the school board, Mr. Van Hatch was appointed acting member for the remainder of 1971.

counseling staff adds social worker

An addition to the counseling staff this year is Mr. Lawrence Leamy, social worker from Lansing. Mr. Leamy works with students and their parents when the student has difficulties in adjusting to studies or learning. He works with students at the elementary, junior and senior high levels.

Due to the new rule requiring all students to remain in school five hours a day, several students have begun work as co-op school secretaries. In addition to the student secretaries, Mrs. Becky Dooley joined the staff at Conley School and Mrs. Phyllis Steward, from Hinderoon, Kentucky now works in the superintendant's office at the high school.

writers aim for creativity

Creative Writing, a class designed to increase the student's proficiency in communications, was offered for the first time this year by the English Department. This one semester course, taught by Mrs. Darlene Erickson, also emphasized creativity in the area of written communications.

Although the department did not incorporate new curriculum objectives, they did set a goal to achieve more in the area of semester classes.

Mrs. Mary Fansher, Mrs. Carol Perry and Mrs. Linda Schrock joined the English Department as new teachers.

Both sophomores and juniors became involved in publication work as the Junior Journalism classes were expanded to accommodate both groups. The beginning classes, to gain experience in journalism, wrote many of the articles that appeared in the Warpath Beat.

The Warpath Beat, the school's bi-weekly newspaper, provided its readers with a wide feature and news material. Margo Hammell served as Editor-in-Chief while Mary Tidey, Cis Pierce and Donna Laupp acted as News Editors. The position of Business Manager was filled by Garry Tackett, and Marvin Prescott worked as Layout Editor.

students offer tax service

The Business Department set up a program to help Marshall High School students in other high school departments fill out their tax returns, using students trained in the Business Education Department. There was no charge for the service.

Two new courses were added, Business Law and Business Math. These were both taught by Mr. Ben Armstrong. Business Law gave students a background of the laws under which we live. Business Math gave students a better background of basic math, particularly oriented towards solving business problems.

New equipment in the department was concerned with the replacement of the old transcribers in the Office Machines Room with two new Electronic IBM Transcribers.

Promoting the dignity and worth of each individual in relation to society is the main objective of the Social Studies Department.

Two new classes were incorporated into the department this year, both on the senior level. Western Civilization was taught by Mr. Phillip Wuori and dealt with the study of leaders and life in the Western Hemisphere. Mr. Roger Schrock taught the other new course, Sociology, which was concerned with the basic concepts of various human group relations. As a course project, students took on-the-spot surveys.

Law Days were featured as a part of the Government classes. On Law Days, students were given the opportunity to listen and react to lawyers who spoke on socially related legal topics.

library fulfills many needs

Classes in French, Spanish and Latin are offered to Marshall High School students by the Language Department. Although college entrance requirements make it necessary for students to study a foreign language, the department, through a motivational approach, encourages students to enroll in a language class.

Through the efforts of student teachers and regular department members, team teaching was incorporated into regular classroom programs. Also new to the Language Department this year was Mrs. Kimberly Brown who taught the classes in French.

The library, under the direction of Miss Eleanor Bullock, served as a site for various testing programs, college representative meetings, make tests and individual study.

math dept. sets objectives

"We probably have one of the best Math Departments in the state," said Mr. Larry Glynn, one of Marshall High School's math instructors. The two main objectives of the department were to teach students to read and write mathematics and to teach the students to be able to solve problems of specific nature, where the need for it is identified.

There were several personnel changes made this year. Mr. Steve Eckert, who taught here last year left to teach in the Fremont Public Schools, and Mrs. Ester Moss retired during last year. New teachers were Mr. John Watson from Coldwater and Mrs. Nyla Jo Cowles.

There were no curriculum changes or any new equipment added to the department.

science department adds 'stream table'

Better understanding of the physical world is the primary objective of Earth Science, a new course offered by the Science Department. Mr. Michael Stockford, course instructor, made use of a "stream table" to study water erosion and stream formation.

The main objectives of the Science Department were to develop an understanding of the position and potential of science in modern living. The members of the department stressed the concept that science and everyday life are combined.

The Physical Education Department promoted physical fitness through the teaching of a variety of physical skills and activities. Study courses were offered to certain students upon the instructor's recommendation. Classes in physical education were separated by grade level, however, for some activities, classes were combined. Freshman and sophomores had classes by themselves and juniors and seniors classes were grouped together.

The Universal Weight Machine supplemented the boys program this year and was used primarily for pre-season conditioning.

music department presents “little mary sunshine”

This year, the bands and orchestras were directed by Mr. James Gass and Mr. Peter Cardeccia. The Marshall Singers, Girls Glee Club and Concert Choir were directed by Department Chairman, Mr. Phillip Clissold.

As in the past, the groups presented their various concerts. New this year were the Chamber Concerts given by the Singers and orchestra and the musical put on by the Choral Department, “Little Mary Sunshine.”

The Music Department’s main purpose is to teach appreciation for fine music, offer advanced musical opportunities, to challenge and improve the student’s musical abilities and to serve as a learning experience.

Activities other than the concerts and musical included the Solo and Ensemble Festivals, tag day and the annual candy sale.

Mr. Bruce Kronlein, a native of Ludington, Michigan replaced Mr. Thomas Miller as metal shop instructor. Mr. Miller left to teach at the Vocational Center in Battle Creek, Michigan.

The new equipment of the department was an auto engine analyzer, a complete set of mechanic tools and an auto ignition demonstrator test unit. This equipment was used in the Power Mechanic class.

The Art Department provided a strong basic background by having the course become a building process rather than units of individual study. In the attempt of developing a four year program, a new freshman course of study was incorporated, covering the principles and element of design.

Bob Rowbothen from Lawton High School replaced Carol Maus as an Art instructor.

The curriculum of the Home Economics Department was changed from one year courses to one semester courses. The new semester courses included: Home Decoration where the students developed a greater appreciation of the home. Child Psychology where working with actual children taught the students the likeness and difference in each child. Advanced Foods worked with Foreign menus and Advanced.

The high school cafeteria, under the direction of Mrs. Elizabeth Dunn, served five schools this year by expanding their facilities to produce seven hundred hot lunches each full school day.

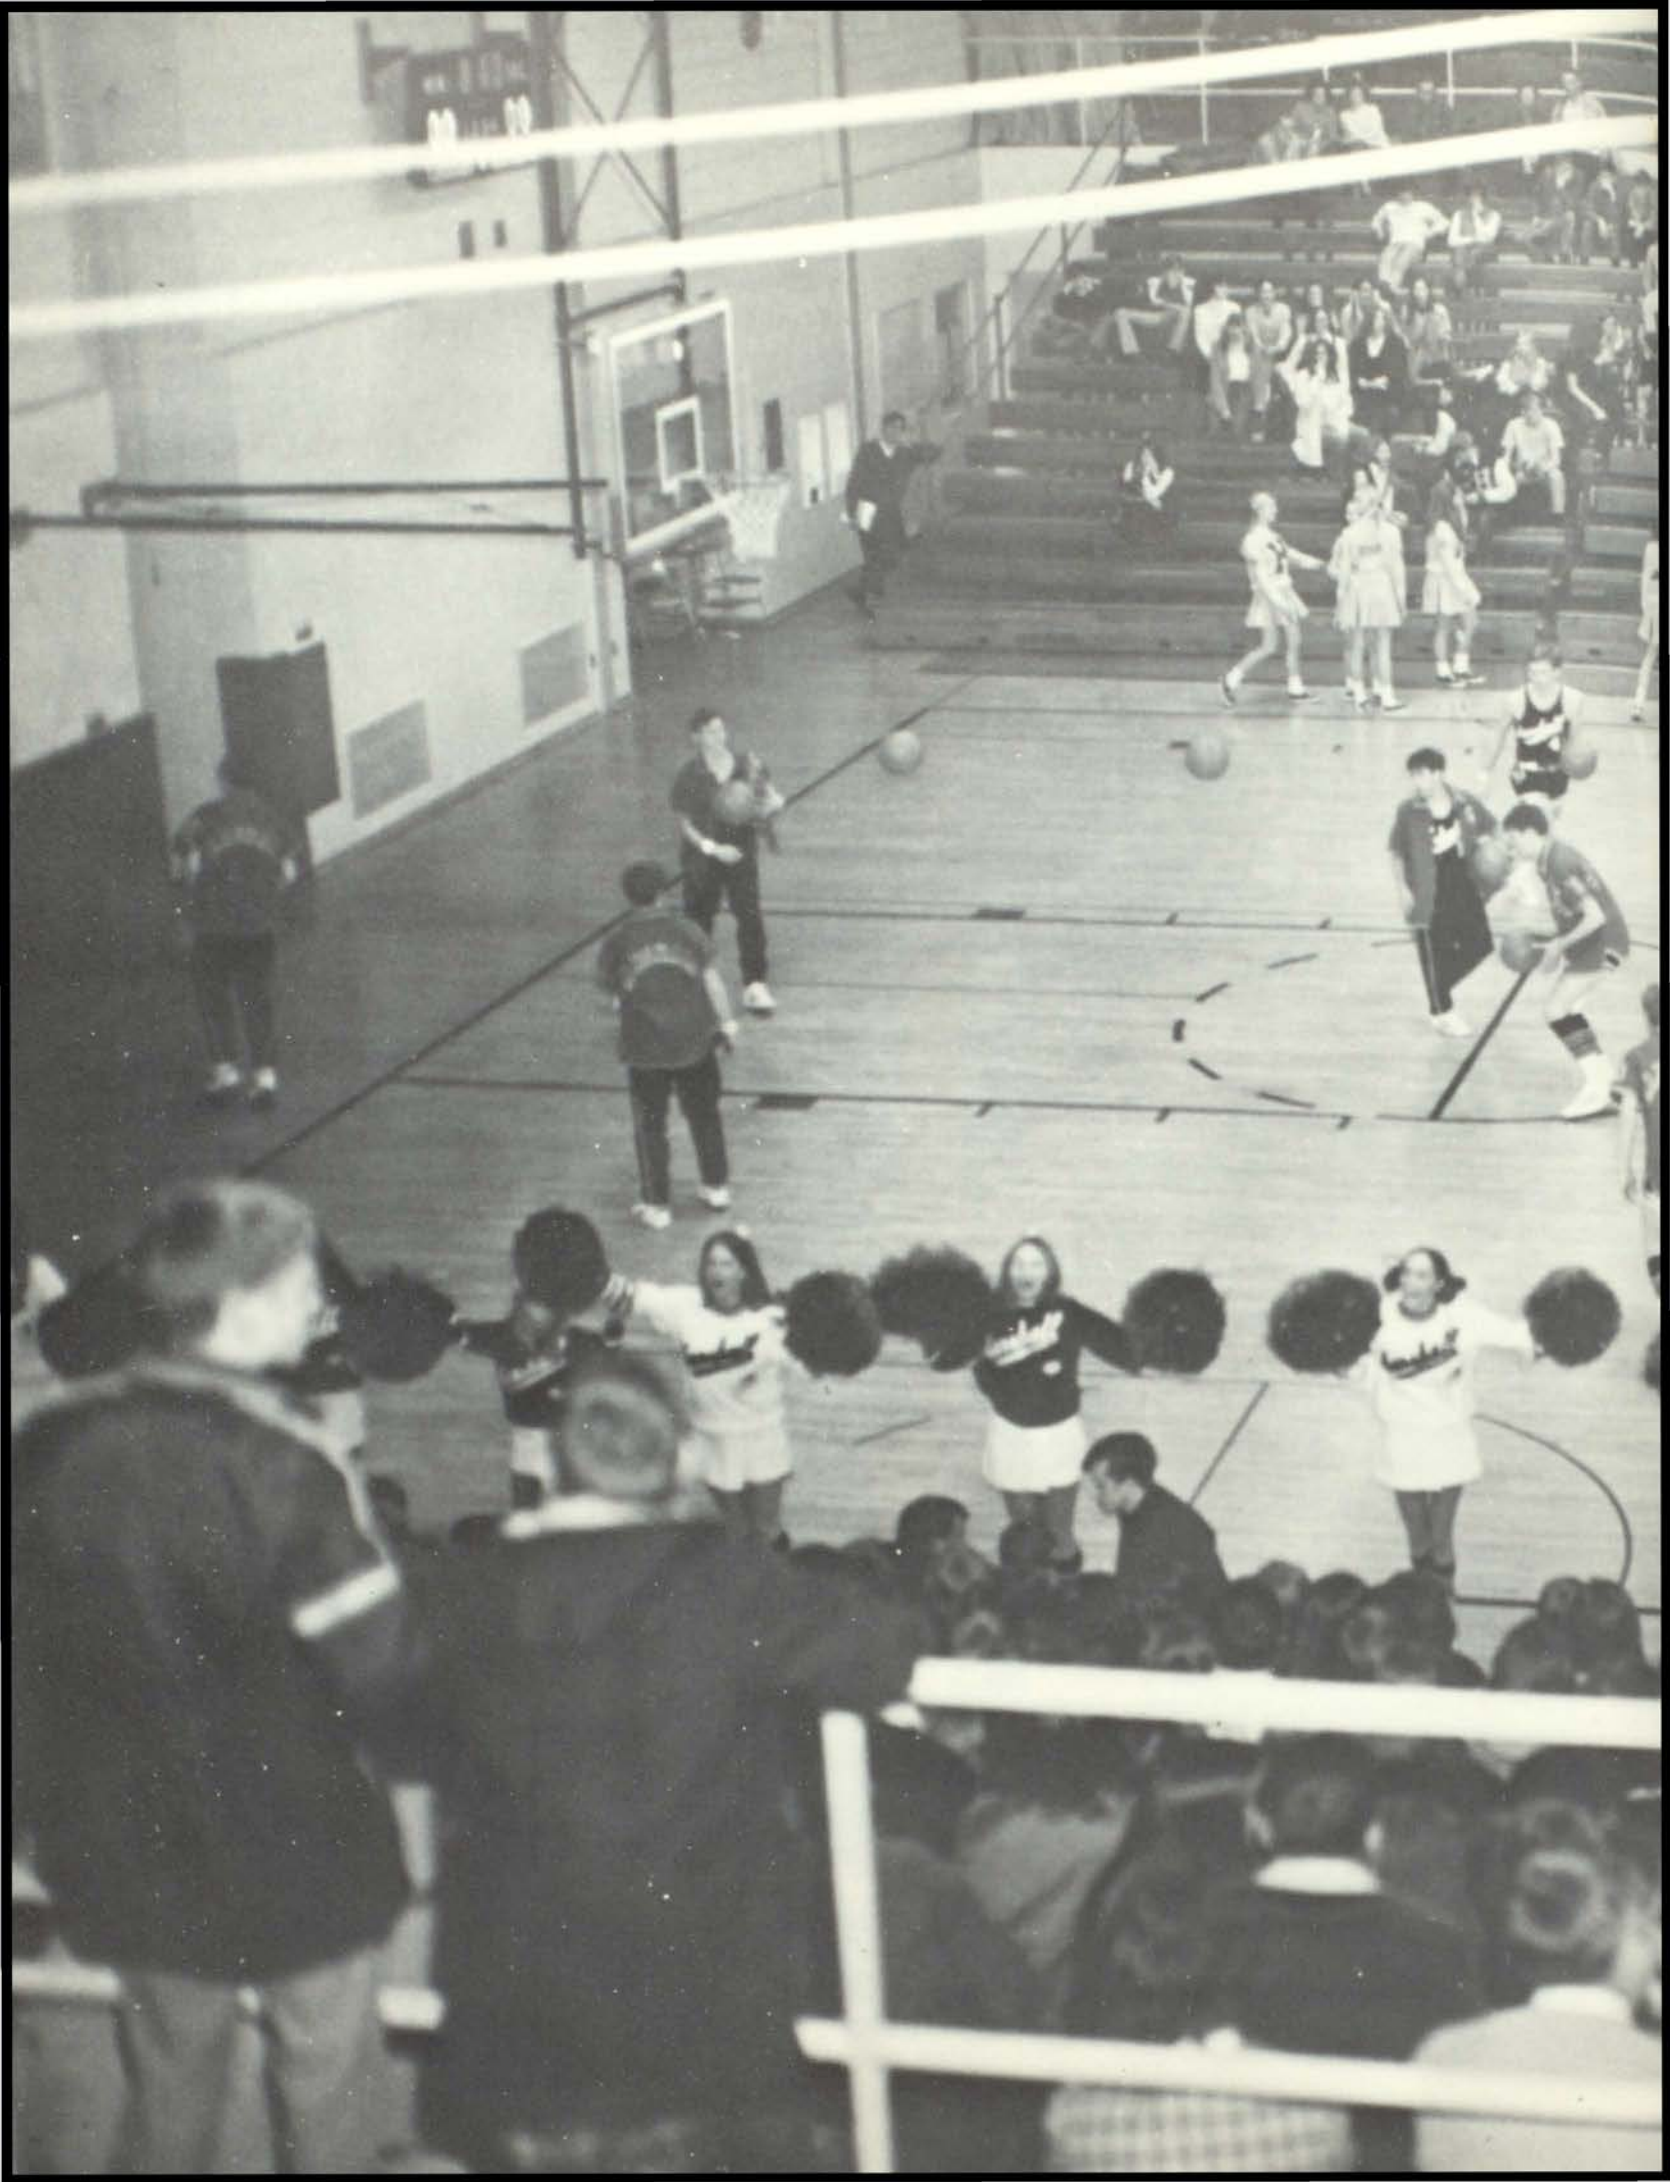

Three new persons have been added to the elementary schools, and Mrs. Judith Root was added to the high school staff to compensate for the additional students.

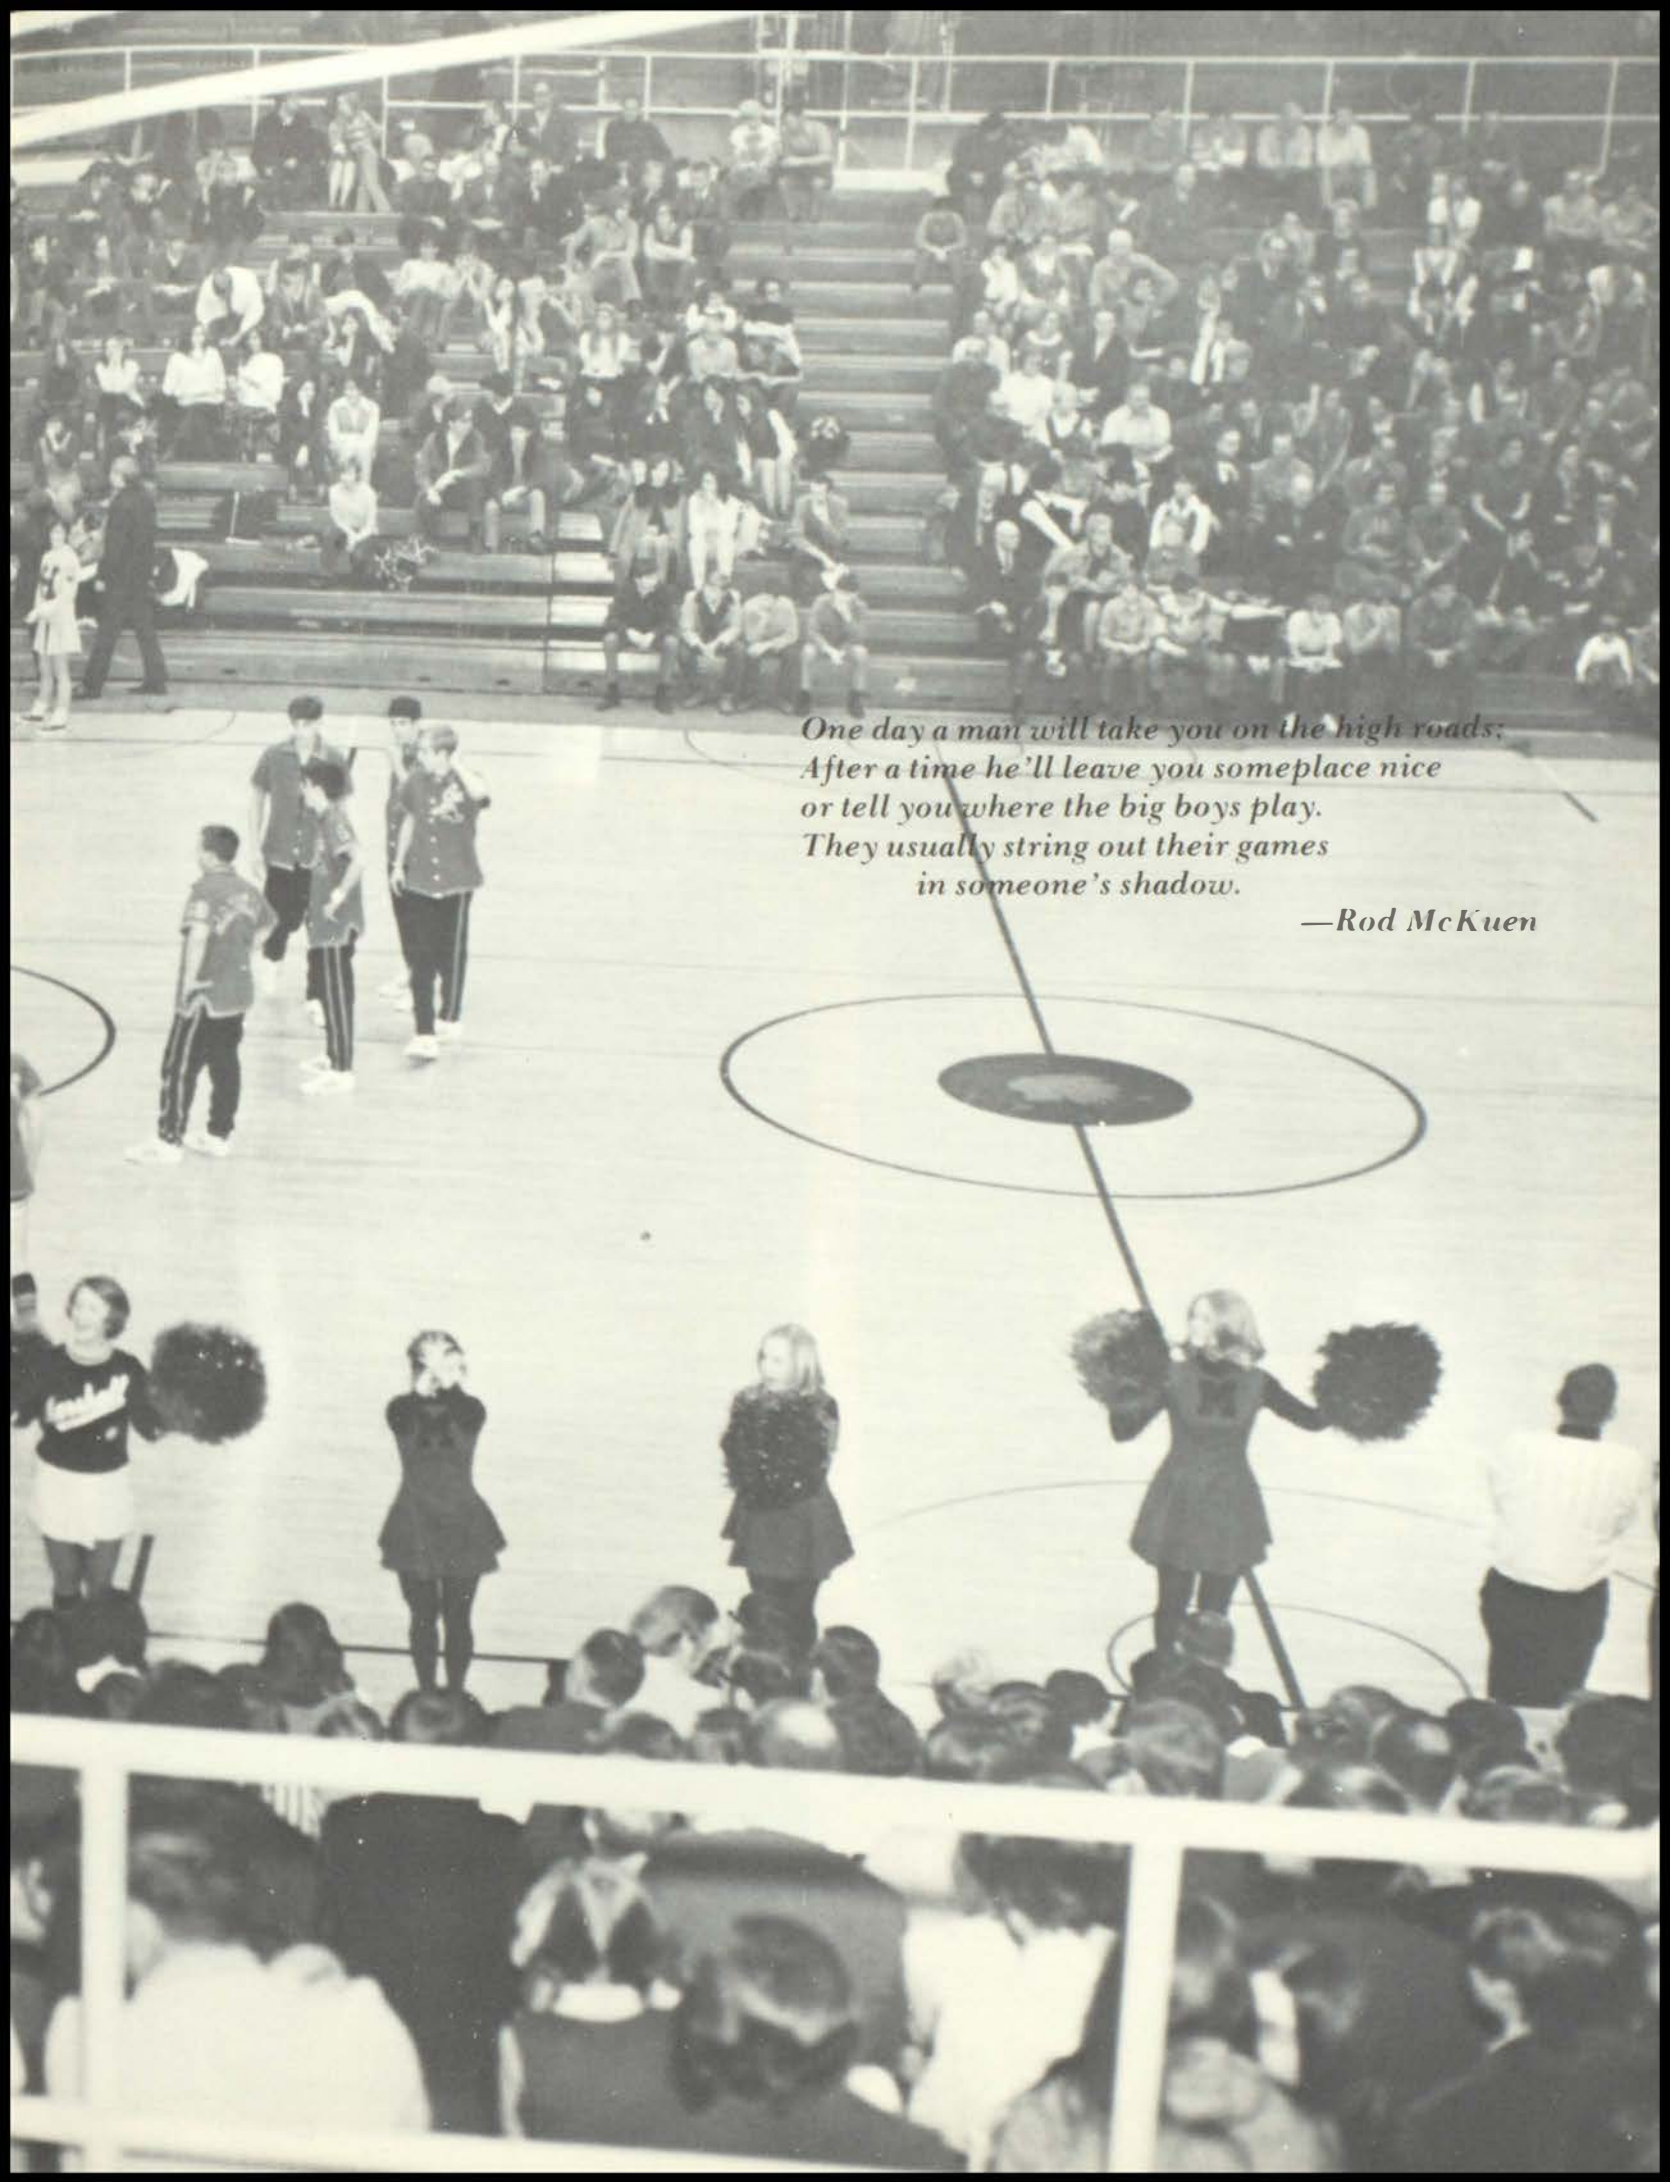

Each of the elementary kitchens have added warming cabinets to their equipment, while the high school added a refrigeration and warming unit.

harriers compile 6-1 record

The Marshall harriers moved from the league cellar in 1969 to a second place Twin Valley finish this year. Coach Steve Johnson had only four returning letterman, but still managed a strong showing at the conference meet.

Marshall had a fine showing in dual meets, compiling a 6-1 record, beating Sturgis and losing only to strong Harper Creek who finished fourth in the State Finals. The team also placed eleventh at the Albion Invationals and sixth in Regional competition.

Coach Johnson was particularly pleased with the team's unity and the desire displayed by the underclassmen. Six to eight varsity runners will return next season, which should present a balanced attack.

Off at the start, Rick Smalek runs barefooted in the race.

debaters triumph again

Marshall High School debaters made history in the 1970-71 season by winning an unprecedented third consecutive Class "B" State Championship. Varsity debaters were Steve Kosinski, Dave Mestemaker, Allen Chichester, Pete Sherman and Craig Fry, and were coached by Mr. James Telfer.

Marshall debaters started the season well on all levels and continued to be successful throughout the year, winning over forty trophies during the season. Marshall's Varsity speakers debated in two leagues, finishing first in both. The novice and yearling teams took second place in their league. Also on the schedule were several invitational tournaments throughout the year. Several out-state trips highlighted the season with Steve Kosinski and Pete Sherman going to the quarter-finals at the Taylor Alderdice Invitational in Pittsburgh.

By virtue of being the top speaker at Districts, Steve Kosinski qualified for the John S. Knight Scholarship competition in Detroit. Steve finished as a runner-up, winning a one hundred dollar scholarship, another first for a Marshall student.

forensicators go to state

Marshall High Schools Forensic Team was compiled of forty members this year, and achieved better results than any previous year.

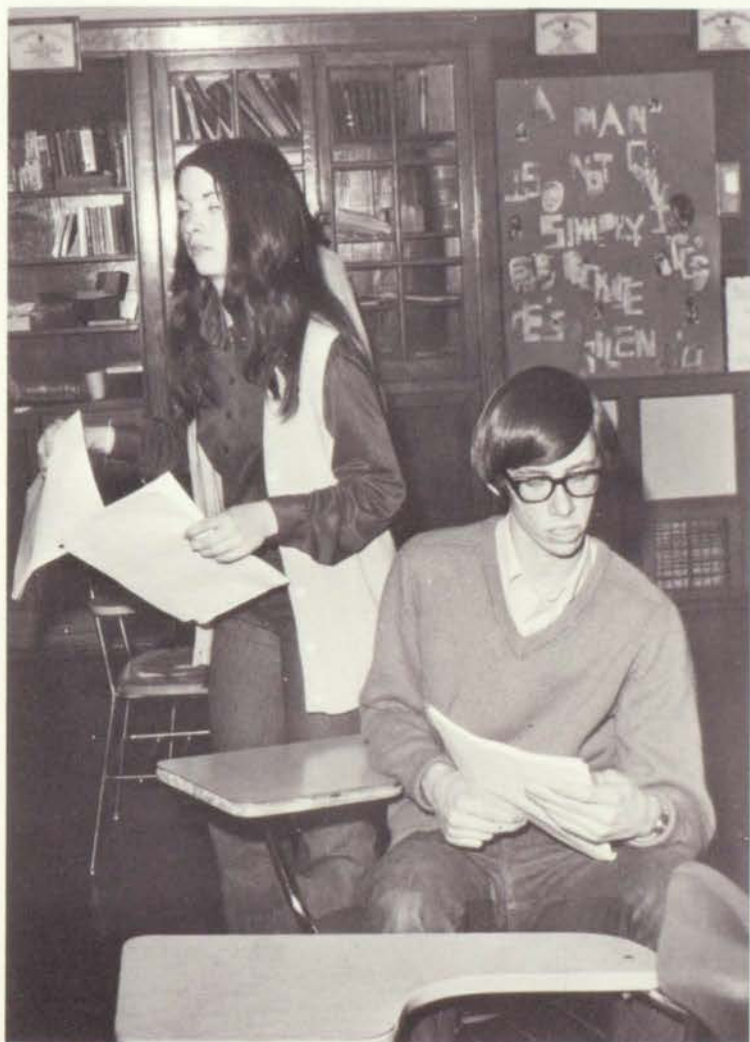

The team started out the season with strong showings at tournaments held at Dearborn High, Battle Creek Central, and Kalamazoo Central. Districts were then held at Homer High on March 24. Eleven people came out of Districts as Marshall swept honors. At Regionals, nine persons made it to the final round and five went to State Finals. At State competition, held at the University of Michigan on May 8th, Jay Marvin placed third in Declamation and Regina Kuschman finished third in Humerous Interpretation. This is the farthest that Marshall students have ever gone in forensics.

frosh, reserves display desire and teamwork

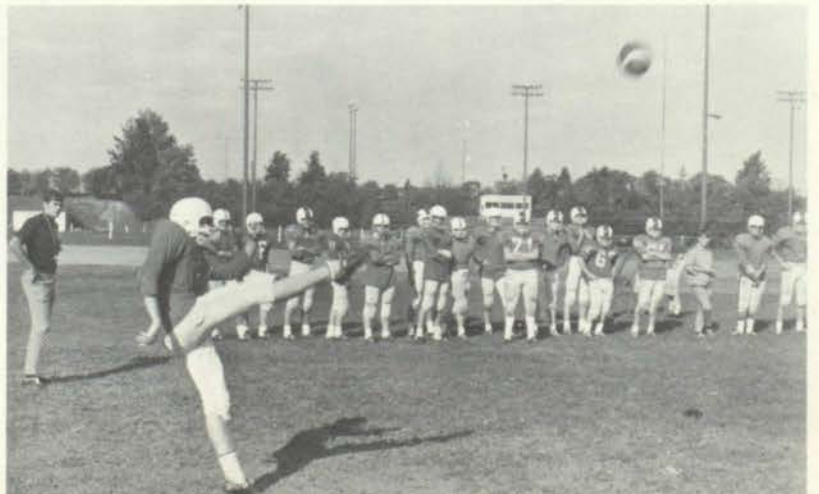

For the second consecutive year, an excessively large number of freshman boys turned out to play football in the fall. This caused Coaches Tom Gallant and Ben Armstrong to once again divide the team into two squads. A total of 55 boys played frosh ball. The "A" squad posted a 1-6 record, with the coach stressing sportsmanship and fundamentals as important aspects of freshman play. The "B" squad finished with a 2-2 record. Both coaches felt these players of the future varsity team displayed great spirit and desire.

Junior Varsity Coach Tom Dillon was faced with the task of turning 28 boys into a team of players who would live up to a winning tradition. After a slow start, the reserve Redskins came alive winning their last three outings, to post a winning record for the coach with a 4-3 mark. The coach pointed out that seven of this year's starters had not played at these positions before. He also turned to a strong desire to win by the J.V.'s as a good sign of varsity potential. The coach was particularly pleased with the unity in the last half of the season and pointed to the 26-0 shutout over Gull Lake as the high point of the year.

The Marshall Redskin Varsity football team compiled a 5-2-2 record for 1970-1971. In Twin Valley competition, the gridgers were 3-1-2 which enabled them to reach a second place finish. Redskins filled five spots on the All-Conference team. Jim Trapp and Mike Heatherly represented the offense, and Doug Albrecht landed a defensive spot. John Crapo won honors both ways. Honorable Mention went to Larry Johnson, Jerry Crampton and Tom Batista. Awards went to Most Valuable Player Trapp and Johnson was Most Improved. Jerry Underhill won the Oil Can Award. Team captains for next year are Batista, Trapp and Crampton.

Marshall's stingy defense held opposing teams to only 76 points in nine outings, and shut out the last three opponents. The offense added up 184 points, averaging 20 per game. The team also won the Albion-Marshall trophy for the first time in eight years.

pep girls promote spirit

The spirit team of Marshall High School is the cheerleaders. They, along with Squaw Marcy Hall and Indian Chief Ron Paulson, are involved with increasing the level of school spirit, not only by cheering at the games, but also by putting on various pep assemblies.

The cheerleaders have gone to two clinics in Grand Rapids and a camp at Eastern Michigan University.

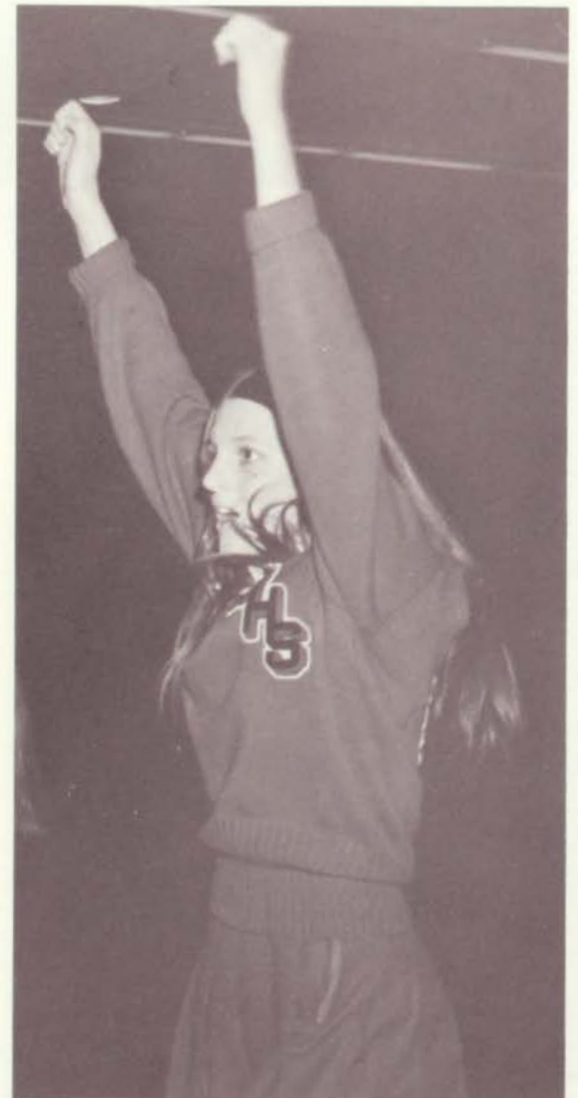

They sponsored a car wash, several bake sales, a spaghetti dinner, and a Christmas jewelry sale. Included in Homecoming week were sales of beanie hats and Homecoming pins. The proceeds from these went for paying for their football uniforms, one half of their camp expenses and for the purchase of twenty-six pom-poms. Another addition to their equipment was the Spirit-o-Meter created by the Indian Chief.

grappler don shamp earns third in state

Although this year's wrestling team ended its dual meets with a 7-8 record, this is not really representative of its skill. Even without a complete team, the junior varsity made fine showings all year. The varsity placed well at many invitationals as well as finishing third in the Twin Valley. Don Shamp and Jim Sill both became Twin Valley champions in their weight classes, while other placing men were: Mike Bushman, second; Doug Albrecht, Steve Obenour, third; Richard Shamp, Doug Gates, Roger Fitch, fourth.

At districts, Sill, Shamp, and Albrecht earned the right to proceed to regionals. Shamp won the 132-pound regional championship, Albrecht placed third, and Sill failed to place. This meant that Shamp and Albrecht would represent Marshall at the State Finals.

Albrecht wrestled well there, finishing with an unofficial fifth. Shamp became the first Marshall matman to place in the state when he earned a third place berth. He finished the season 43-2, with his four-year record being an outstanding 105-15.

skins wind up third in t.v.

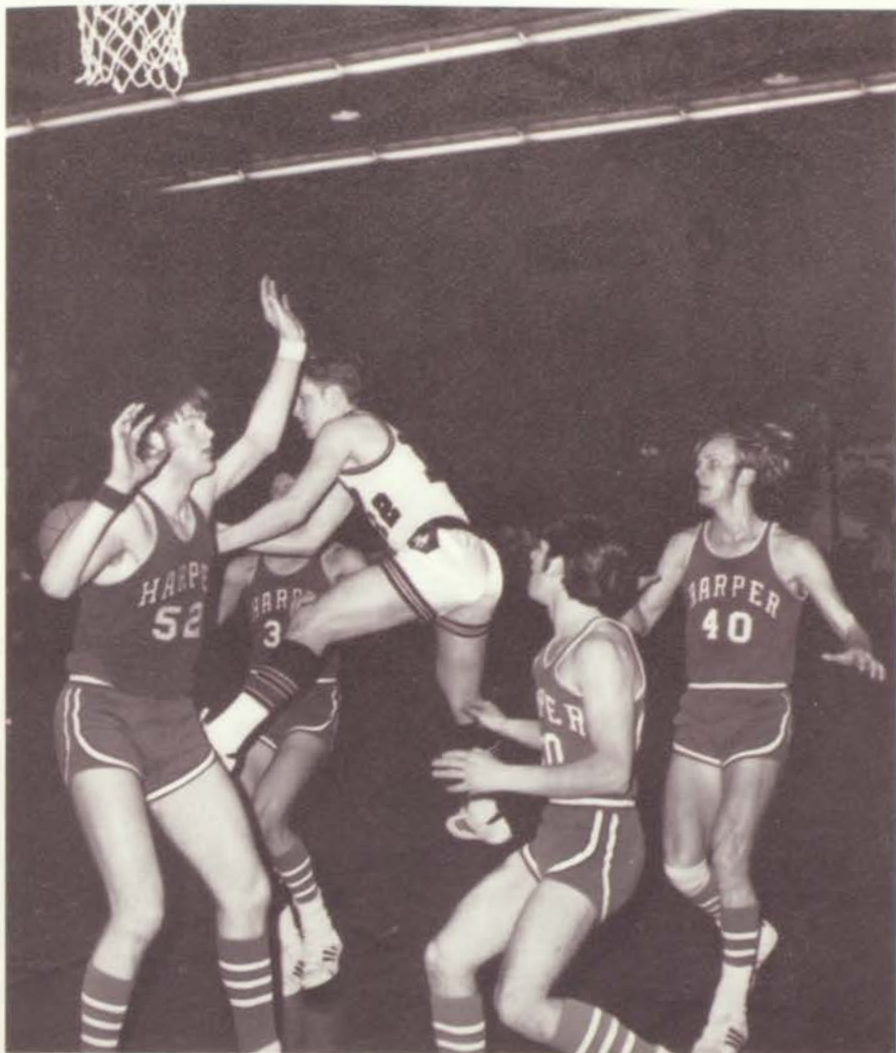

Sharp shooting and a tough defense enabled the Marshall Redskins to have another winning season in basketball. Marshall's efforts were led by its two "Chinese Bandits," Andy Hammond and Gene Willis, who both received All-Conference recognition. The team played strong basketball all year but were hampered by hot and cold spells. The cagers had a deceiving 9-9 record overall winding up with a 7-5 Twin Valley mark.

The two senior guards, Hammond and Willis were voted joint Most Valuable Player. Most Improved was Steve Saylor, and Lyn Hankey carried the best Free Throw Percentage.

JV's take pride in performance

Pride in performing well was the major reason cited by Coach Dave Harmsen for a successful J.V. season. The papoose Redskin cagers displayed excellent balance on offense and defense while finishing second in the conference with a 13-3 record. The strong offense averaged 76 points per game while limiting opponents to 60 points a contest.

Matt Oren led the J.V.'s in scoring and rebounding and was moved up to Varsity near the end of the year performing well. Other strong performers were Bryce Tucker and Jim Wasielewski. Joe Fedak was named Most Improved Player.

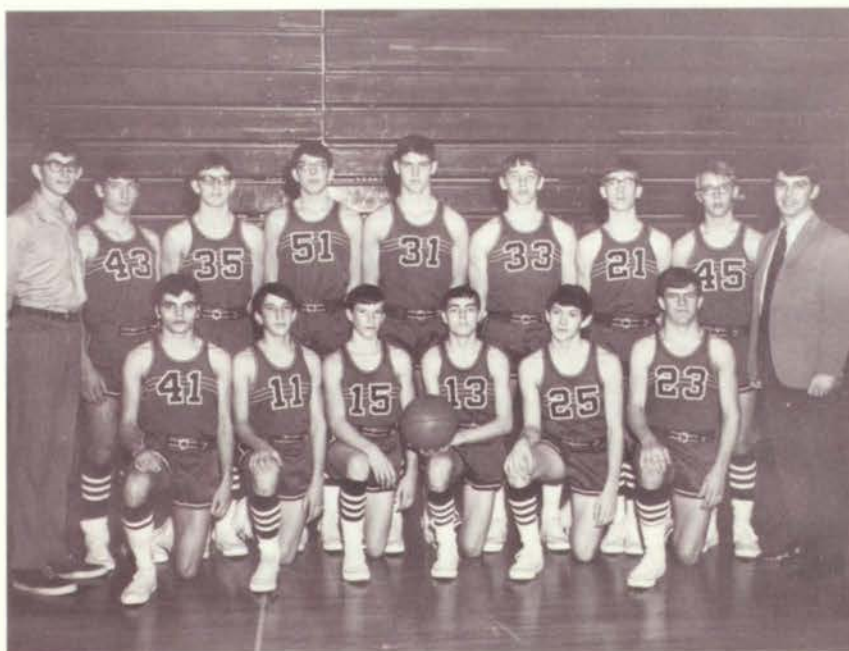

Under the guidance of Mr. Tom Dillon, the Freshman squad showed a strong effort, developing the basic skills of the game.

crapo sixth in shot

Two Varsity track and field records were broken by Marshall harriers this year. Jon Presecan broke an eight year old quarter mile record by running the 440 yard circuit in 51.4 seconds. John Quigley broke the freshman record in the 440 and half mile with times of 56 seconds and 2:06.8 for the two respectively.

The team's performance ran hot and cold, this year with a 3-3 showing in the conference. At the Twin Valley Meet, the skins placed fifth, securing a fifth place finish in the T.V. Regional champs last year, the team could only master a second place in 1971. Marshall was represented in four events at the state meet. John Crapo took sixth in the shot put, John Blodgett competed in the long jump, Jon Presecan ran the 440 and the team of Presecan, Larry Leonard, Dave Mestemaker, and Pete Zull ran in the mile relay.

netters show balanced attack

The Redskins netters displayed good team depth this year which led to a second place tie with Coldwater in the Twin Valley. Sturgis dominated the conference on their way to the state crown. The skins were 12-3 overall and 4-2 in the T.V. Four times the team swept matches from other schools and four other times won 6-1. At Regionals the netters placed second and sent doubles team Curt Hicks and Lyn Hankey to the State Tournament. Coach Don Heinstra has six returning letterman and anticipates another strong season.

golfers place at state

The 1971 golf season marked the last year high school linksters will play in the spring. Due to conflicting sports and poor spring weather, golf will be played as a fall sport in 1972.

Marshall's season was marked as the fourth straight year the Redskins captured the Gull Lake Invitational. The team was slightly disappointed with their second place finish in the conference but made up for it by emerging as Regional Champions and by also finishing high in state competition.

Mr. Bill Church replaced Mr. VanderGeest as interim coach for this year only. Dan Ashdown received the E. Lear Kaye Medalist trophy for being the golfer with the lowest average for the year. Marsh Nowlin was runner-up, and Nowlin and Ashdown also received All-Conference recognition.

frosh begin earning money for graduation

Each year, the Freshman Class sponsors the Marshall Relays in the spring. This year, the class of 1974 took in large profits from the annual classic.

Cheering on the frosh athletes were pep girls Pam Bunning, Jerrlynn Butler, Mary Dyer, Sandy Embury, Lori Rood and Tammy Weidner.

Freshman officers were: Kyle La-Fountain, President; Jim Bibbings, Vice-President; and Pam Bunning, Secretary-Treasurer.

sophomores win goldfish contest

During Homecoming Week the Sophomore Class ate their way to victory in the Goldfish-eating contest. Their float, featuring "Grog" as its theme, placed second in the float competition.

The money-making project of the class was the Puffball concession stand. Class members volunteered to work Friday nights and clean up on Saturday mornings.

Officers of the class were: Nancy Foster, President; Mike Murphy, Vice-President; and Carol Langridge, Secretary-Treasurer.

junior float wins first

The Junior class had 272 students. Dean Clutter acted as President, Michele Sayers, Vice President and Mary Maddux was Secretary-Treasurer. Mr. Robert Eggleston and Mrs. Carol Perry were the class advisors.

This year the group sold 2,530 dollars worth of magazines during the magazine sale, which made approximately 950 dollars that will go into the class fund. Top salesman was Carl Hoffman who sold 150 dollars worth. Thirty five other prizes were awarded.

Juniors won the float competition. Dean Clutter won the goldfish-eating contest by eating thirty-three fish.

Other activities for the year included the candy sale, the J-Hop, and the Junior Play.

'let it be a challenge'

The class of 1972 presented "Up the Down Staircase," March 25-26 in the high school auditorium, as one of the junior class money making projects. The play was adapted from the hit movie of the same name and featured Linda Nowlin in the leading role.

The play was based on the life of a young school teacher, (Linda) and the everyday problems she faced at school. A series of blackouts and quick "one-liners" added to the uniqueness of the whole show. Thirty players were in the cast with the total cast and crew numbering forty-five. Mr. Mike Perry directed the comedy with the assistance from student directors Clayton VanSyckile and Linda Tazelaar.

j-hop features 'atlantis'

Seniors went "way down below the ocean" to the mythical continent of Atlantis for the annual J Hop held on May 22 in the gymnasium. The junior class worked hard to get that "just right" effect of an underwater atmosphere complete with a fog dispenser that created a water wonderland of fun for the senior and junior couples.

Entertainment was handled a little differently this year. The Big Band, a ten piece dance band, charmed the dancers.

After the dance, couples went out to dinner, and on Sunday made the traditional trip to Lake Michigan.

1114 register in gym

Eleven hundred fourteen Marshall High School students started school Monday, August 31, 1970, by registering in the high school gym.

The program consisted of filling out registration cards and other forms that were handed out at the door. Mr. Ray Davis, the assistant principal, outlined procedures in filling out absentee and tardy slips.

Each class dispersed to pick up their daily schedules and sign for I.D. cards and lockers.

Registrational activities resumed during the afternoon, as school began with students following their schedules on a reduced scale, consisting of twenty-five minute class meetings omitting zero and seventh hours. Students unhappy with their schedules had them corrected on the second and third days of school.

skins, sturgis battle to tie

The festivities during Homecoming week began when the senior boys voted Becky Bachman as the Queen to rule over Marshall High in 1970. Top runner-up was Sharon Bunning who served as the Senior attendant to Queen Becky. Junior boys voted Michelle Sayers as the girl to represent their class on the court. Carol Langridge was the attendant who represented the sophomore class, and Jane Visner attended for the freshman.

During the week, students of all classes worked diligently on their respective floats. A new rule by the Student Government allowed the students to work only until Wednesday night on the floats.

The Homecoming Parade was highlighted by several new and fresh entries this year such as several marching bands from other high schools. Besides being represented by their floats, each class had their officers or representatives ride in the parade. The class of 1972 won the float competition, with Noah's Ark.

The week culminated on Friday night with a 6-6 tie with Sturgis.

fish and turtles join homecoming activities

Homecoming 1970 at Marshall High school lasted from October 12 to 16. The week was highlighted by several new class activities. These included a fish eating contest, turtle race, hot dog roast plus the traditional activities as the tug-of-war, bon fire and pow-wow.

The fish eating contest was won by the junior class lead by President, Dean Clutter, who swallowed thirty-three fish. Next came the turtle race, which went to the class of '74. In a tug-of-war contest which saw the rope break several times and caused mixed emotions, the senior class finally came out on top, beating the junior's in the final pull. The bon fire and hot dog roast were held together the same night as the tug-of-war. The Student Government sponsored the hot dog roast and served apple cider with the hot dogs. Finally, the evening terminated with the burning in effigy of the Trojan dummy. The annual pow-wow featured the music of the "Bloody Truth," an anti-drug advocate band.

An assembly was held in the gym, Monday of Homecoming Week to announce the Queen and her court. Reigning as Queen was, senior Becky Bachman who was escorted to the various activities by Steve Kosinski, also a senior. Sharon Bunning represented the Senior class in the court. Her escort was George Wright. Michele Sayers of the Junior Class was escorted by Carl Clatterbuck. Carol Langridge and John Visner were from Sophomore class and the Freshman class was represented by Jane Visner and her escort Chuck Swan.

There were five girls all together chosen with five boys to act as their escorts for the week. They all appeared in the Homecoming Parade and at the Homecoming semi-formal.

gaa adds gymnastics

Sports competition and fellowship is offered to all high school girls through the Girl's Athletic Association. Meetings, held on Thursday evenings in the girls' side of the gym, and activities were sponsored by Mrs. Karen Gilbert, girls' physical education instructor.

GAA served as the hub of all girl's athletic activities which included basketball, volleyball and gymnastics. Because of the hub concept, girls wishing to participate in sports activities had to first join GAA.

GAA also invited other schools to Marshall to take part in sports competition on "Play Day," and the organization also sponsored both open gym nights.

"Love is All Around" was the theme for the GAA Formal Dance held in February. To raise money, the club also sponsored several informal dances.

The Christmas float constructed by the GAA featured "A Christmas With The Flintstones" as its theme.

GAA initiated new members the beginning of the school year, and the group's officers attended Michigan GAA Camp last fall.

Sponsoring dances and selling pictures taken at school activities is how it's members financed the Photography Club this year. Mr. John Malinowski and Mr. Brian Olmstead were club sponsors.

During club meetings, members learned to develop, print, and enlarge their own negatives. They also learned about special effect photography and the general use of the camera.

Junior Achievement this year involved sophomores, juniors and seniors. The purpose of J.A. is to educate youth with today's free enterprise system.

Marshall J.A. was very successful this year. From 25 other J.A. companies in Battle Creek and Marshall, Glasco, a Marshall Co., took most of the major awards. Some included: Company of the year, Best Annual Report, Accounting Co. of the year, and Best Salesman of the year. Another title went to Margo Hammell when she was crowned "Miss J.A. of the Battle Creek area" in March.

M.H.S. students enjoyed numerous assemblies throughout the school year, ranging from spirit raising pep assemblies to the nationally famous magician, Prince Kimo.

One particularly special pep rally during the Homecoming Activities included the travelling rock and roll group, the Bloody Truth.

On March 10, the National Honor Society held its annual induction ceremonies in the auditorium. Seven seniors and ten juniors were initiated into the Marshall Chapter of the Society by last year's members.

Finally, the Student Government sponsored special assemblies for interested students, including speakers for the John Birch Society and in the spring, Dr. Irwin Ross, a hypnotist.

Under the sponsorship of Mrs. Ann Machek, the Art Club put on a school dance, which featured a light show. The group also attended a rock concert in Lansing. Steve Peek served as president, Vickie Cornwell as vice-president and Gail Holton was secretary-treasurer.

Pep Club met on Monday nights, either in the art room or the gym. Mr. Robert Rowbotham was the new advisor with Val Hubbard acting as president. Co-chairmen were Marcy Hall and Jane Metzger.

This year's Co-Op program involved 47 students who worked for various businesses in the community. Co-Op is designed to give the students working experience in combination with related subjects that are taught in the classroom.

student government offers communication bridge

The Student Government voices student opinion via a representative form of government. This provides a communication link between the students and the administration.

Homecoming activities, dances and several assemblies were sponsored by the government. A rock music group was featured during Homecoming week. A magician performed during the fall and a hypnotist during the spring.

On Saturdays, the Student Government airs a radio program on WALM, with George Wright, Mike Carons and Bill Bastian emceeing the program.

Couples discuss decorations and music at the annual GAA formal.

“hands of time” highlight gaa

“Love is all around us.” So went the theme of the 1971 GAA Formal held February 27 in the gym.

The formal has become an annual affair at Marshall High and is different from most dances in that the girl asks the boy to the dance. This year the “Hands of Time” provided the music playing tunes by the Beatles, Doors and some original numbers.

Members of the GAA decorations committee provided a wide array of colors for the gala while freshman members of the organization handled refreshments.

ffa attends two conventions

FFA's main purpose is to develop leadership and to create a more intelligent choice of agricultural occupations among its members.

They have participated in the National FFA Convention in Kansas City, the State FFA Convention and the basketball league competition with other FFA teams in the area. The club officers also took part in a leadership conference in February. The club sponsored a pecan sale and an informal dance to make necessary money. The building and trades home was landscaped by the Future Farmers of America.

During the second semester the National Honor Society held an assembly in which they initiated the all-round students and citizens of Marshall High School into their organization.

Sponsored by Miss Francis Merritt, the group meets in room 205. There are no officers, but a chairman for the next school year is chosen after the new members have been initiated.

french club plans canada trip

In Spanish Club the member were given opportunities to act out various aspects of the Mexican and Spanish social and political customs. Money-making activities were planned on a weekly instead of a monthly basis. Mr. William Haroff acted as the club advisor.

Latin Club promoted the students personal involvement in the Latin culture and custom. The club retained its old officers and in addition elected representatives from each Latin class where the meetings were held. Mrs. Kendra Galberach, Latin instructor was the club advisor.

The French Club earned its money to sponsor a trip to Canada's french Montreal over the Christmas Vacation of next year. They've held a bake sale in the Cafeteria at various times during the year, a flower sale in the foyer on St. Patrick's Day and a Candy Sale during St. Valentine's Day. The new French instructor Mrs. Kimberly Brown also was the club advisor for the French Club.

library closes early

To serve the school and the community when and where the services of an usher are needed is the Usher Club's main purpose under the leadership of Mrs. Karen Jones. This year a gold pin was given to each member in an attempt to devise a "uniform" for them.

Although there was no formal Library Club, several students aided the librarians in their bookwork this year, receiving one-half credit for their efforts.

Miss Eleanor Bullock was head librarian and received help from Mrs. LaVaughn Phillips and Mrs. Shirley Goodwin. The library closed for the last time May 2nd in order to pack and move to the new school.

choirs present musical

Appreciation for fine music and entertainment of the residents of the community is the main purpose of the music department. It consists of three choirs Marshall Singers, Concert Choir, Glee Club, the orchestra and two bands; the Symphonic Band and the Concert Band.

For the first time in several years the Music Department put on a musical, "Little Mary Sunshine." Over one hundred students were involved in the production of the play. This was an unusual experiment because it was done during school time and was a graded project for the players. The play was a satire on melodramatic shows. The four main characters were double cast.

The girls of Marshall Singers received a one plus rating at the Solo and Ensemble Festival in February. The entire Marshall Singers received straight one ratings at the State Festival while Girls Glee Club received a rating of two.

bands acquire new uniforms

Mr. James H. Gass took over the direction of the Symphonic Band, the Concert Band and the Orchestra this year. The Symphonic Band received 1 ratings in both the Marching and District Festivals.

The Music Department sponsored a candy sale in November and a Pencil Day in May. During Pencil Day members gave pencils in return for donations. The money resulting from that was used for uniforms and other expenses.

Later in the year, Mr. Peter Cardecia left when he was drafted into the Army. Some shifting of personnel resulted and for the remainder of the year Mr. Phil Clissold acted as band director along with his regular duties as choir director and department chairman.

officers oversee activities

In the spring of each year, classes choose officers for the following school year. Selections are based on leadership and popularity with fellow students.

The duties of the class officers are to run, in part, the activities of the class, call class meetings and represent the student body of each class at Student Government meetings. Some of the fund raising projects which the officers oversee are the Puffball, Candy Sales, the Marshall Relays, the Magazine Sale and the two class plays.

Serving as officers for the class of 1972, Vice Pres. Michele Sayers, Sec.-Tres. Mary Maddux, and Pres. Dean Clutter brought profits to the Junior class.

Pres. Steve Kosinski supports Vice Pres. Mary Twist, Absent from the shot is Sandy Brown, Sec.-Tres.

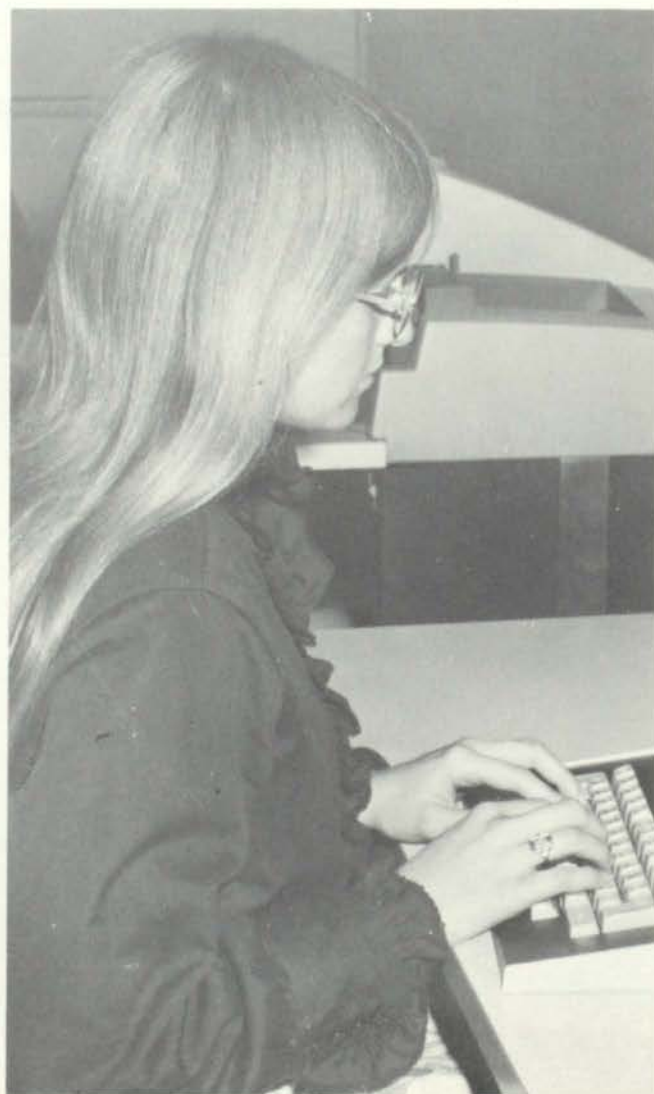

county opens vo-ed center

Seventy-five Marshall students, including 32 seniors and 43 juniors, participated in 20 different programs at the Calhoun County Vocational Center. Each student received three credits for being involved in his respective program. This year, because the center just recently opened, only one year classes were offered to the senior participants. The purpose of the Vocational Center is to aid students in learning a saleable skill that will enable them to be placed in a job after they graduate from high school.

Next year, Marshall students will be able to attend the Vocational Center during either the morning or afternoon shifts. Vocational students may choose classes in such diversified areas as air conditioning and refrigeration, large appliance repair, and graphic reproduction.

rod mckuen sets dial theme

A staff of twelve seniors compiled the 224 page Marshall High School yearbook, the Dial. After drawing a lay-out for each page, cropping and tagging each picture, and writing all instructions on all triplicate forms, pages were sent to Edwards Brothers, Inc. of Ann Arbor. Edwards Brothers did the actual printing as well as producing the cover.

Except for portraits, all photographs were taken by students and were processed by Beller Studio.

While the Dial is required to finance itself through advertising and sales, all camera supplies and repairs are subsidized by the Marshall Board of Education.

(Above) Pictured here are the 1971 Dial Staff members, in back from left to right, V. Hubbard, G. Stockman, D. Daniels, P. Aaron. 2nd row D. Mestemaker, T. Dunn, T. Haymaker, S. Kosinski, V. Sherman, D. Murdock, B. Barnum, R. Paulson. (left) Teri Dunn checks out a folder before sending it to be printed.

*Now that the summer's come and gone I'll say good-bye.
Now that the winter's comin' on I'll say good-bye.
I'm not the first man or the last,
who had a thirst to leave the past.
So while the autumn rain is falling I'll say good-bye.*

*For every star that falls to earth a new one glows.
For every dream that fades away a new one grows.
When things are not what they would seem you must keep following your dream.
While my heart is still believing I'll say good-bye.*

*So as the winter says hello I'll say good-bye.
I never ever did like snow I'll say good-bye.
I'm just a man and nothing more in the face of love I'll close the door.
Because another road is calling I'll say good-bye.*

—Rod McKuen
