All Smiles
Freshmen Christina Grable and Richie Huggett look like they're having a blast at the Homecoming dance. Being their first semiformal, both enjoyed the first of many dances.

This Is How We Do It

Have you ever set back and really looked at the students at Marshall High? At any given day, at any given time, you can find an extreme diversity among the students. Even though all of us are unique in our own ways, we all seem to fall back on the fact that we're all Redskins.

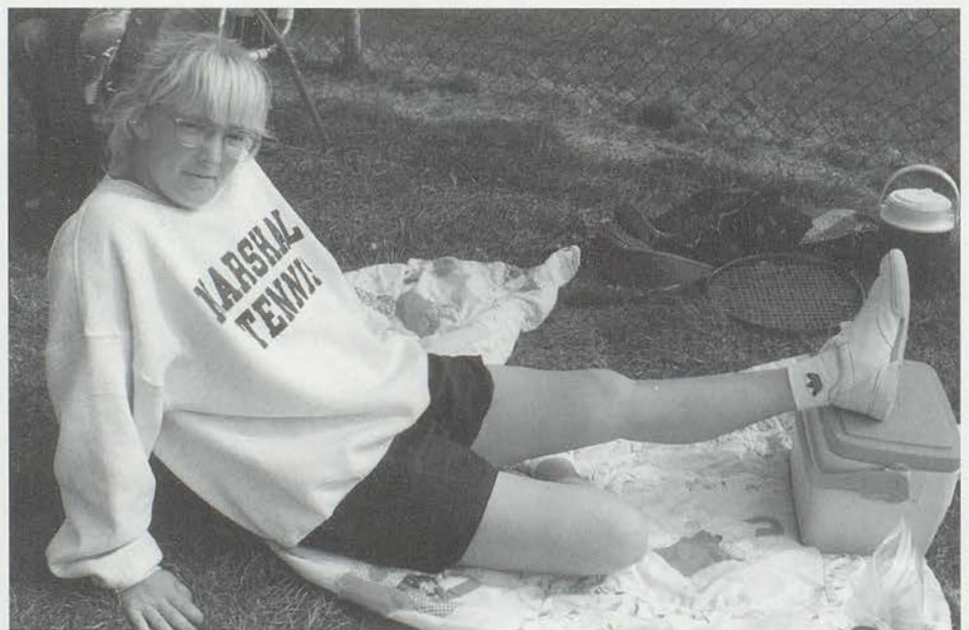

Like the students at Marshall, music comes in many varieties. This is why this year's yearbook staff has chosen Music as its theme. As you flip through the pages of the yearbook, you will find a song title that best represents that page. All these songs blended together to create an interesting mix that typifies the mixture of the students' personalities.

"This Is How We Do It." This one song title illustrates the way each and every one of us do our own thing. This book is a catalog of every class, athletic team, and student at Marshall and how each has its own identity.

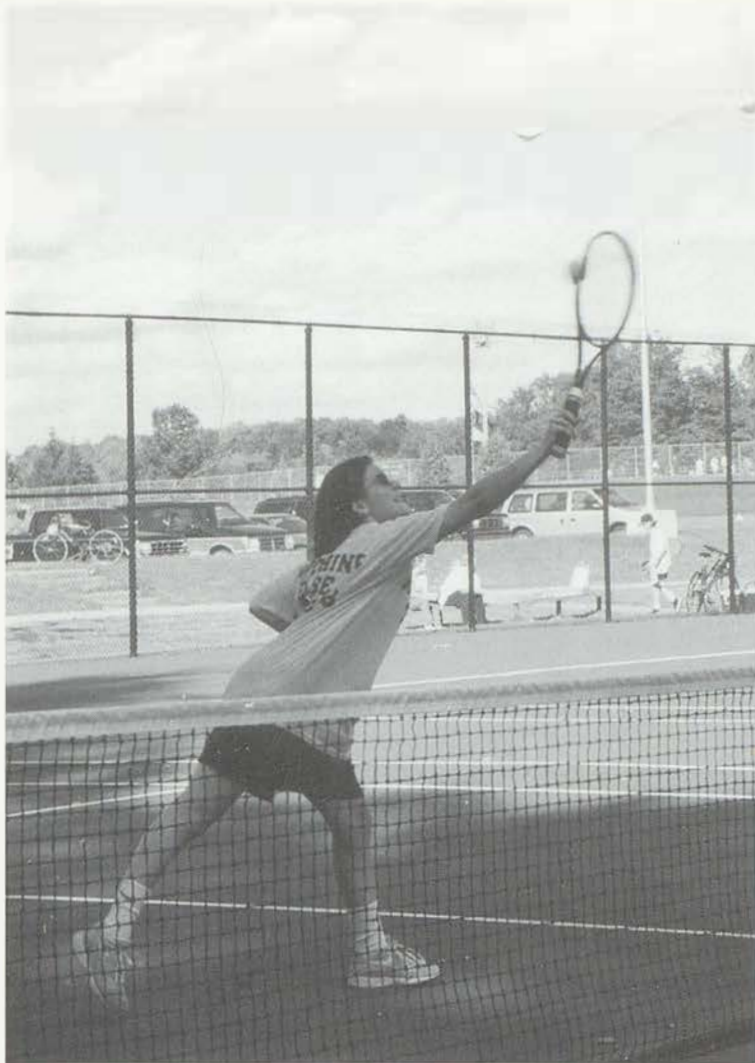

"Even on first impressions, any visitor can see that the students of Marshall are very active and busy. There's a lot of positive energy in this building that even a newcomer like myself can pick up on immediately." -Mr. Reed

Boogie Down
Mr. Armstrong grabs his class' attention by jamming on his air guitar. Arn's unique teaching skills keep his students focused and entertained.

Feeling the Bite ...
Junior Amanda Walters props her leg up to stop the swelling after getting stung by a bee during her tennis match. She stuck out the pain through her match against Pennfield, but couldn't finish the day.

Going the Distance
Exchange Student Marie Vespa stretches to make an up close attack on her opponent. Her skills helped add to the offense of the J.V. Tennis Team.

Barreling Down
Seniors Lisa Ward and Rob Brownell show the underclassmen how it's done by finishing first in the wheelbarrow race at the Homecoming events. Their first place victory helped the Seniors wrap up their finish.

Scooter-poutin
Freshman Staci Smith works out with the swim team on the scooters to improve her race. The team combined land exercises with their usual pool workouts to add to their strength and conditioning.

Dumb and Dumber?
Juniors John Dobbins and J.D. Stealy get wild and crazy while finishing their homecoming float. Despite their busy schedules, they still found time to help their class in the events.

After the Summer's Gone

It's 78 degrees outside. The sky is perfectly clear and the sun is shining. Soft tropical music is playing from somewhere. Brad Pitt is serving you chocolate mousse by the poolside as he checks out your hot bod while you sunbathe. The guys are having visions of Cindy Crawford waxing their brand new Porsche. They've just been awarded sole possession of a river teeming with huge fish and a lifetime supply of bait, tackle and munchies. Life is good! Then, from all around you, an evil beeping noise melts everything! We all groggily get up and actually see the sunrise for the first time in three months! It's the dreaded first day of school, again. Bleary-eyed freshmen frantically search the halls for the stairway to the third floor that a senior told them about! Pretty soon though, everyone gets settled in, and days have already become routine.

We made it off to a good start this year at M.H.S. The assemblies at the beginning of the year were a nice touch to get reacquainted with all of our friends, as we watched Jesse Bell run his head into a chinese gong! Wearing pajamas and hats during school is what's best about Spirit Week. We did well with the sports this year by breaking a lot of records, such as Liz Haines breaking the school diving record 4 times in a row. We also got to enjoy ten exchange students this year! YACers gave the theater department grants that enabled them to put on wonderful productions this year, and the debate teams won several awards while representing M.H.S. I say, it's all good!

Health smart from the start. Family planning, CPR and great videos are the most liked and remembered part of freshmen Health class.

I'm resourceful, therefore I am
Using his creative talent during Spirit Week, Greg Trax used supplies from his advanced art class to come up with the most unique toga.

Bookin' it
Of course Ben Marshall and Matt Bramble enjoyed running in Cross Country this year. They helped the team qualify for State at the Regional Conference Meet at Cornwell's.

Life is good!
 Even with a fog delay, the annual blood drive resulted in a large amount of donated blood. Although most first time donors were nervous, Steffen Jepsen sat and relaxed.

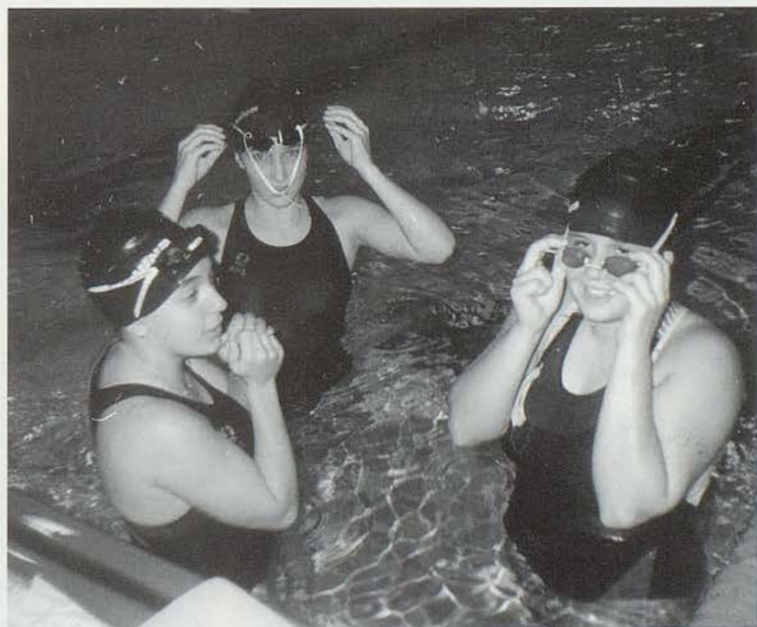

Sunshine on my shoulder makes me happy!
 Our Girls Varsity Tennis team, including Katie Crowle, Elysia Hecox, Shiree Rochelle, Jen Walbeck, and Jessica Moffat relaxed, laughed, and often had grass fights together!

Do we care?
 While Sturgis, a long time rival of M.H.S., called off their starting players at a home basketball game, Marshall supporters demonstrated their lack of interest by pulling out newspapers and sighing. The actual game was much more exciting, considering that we won!

Kickin' it out in the hall
 Is it Bruce Lee? Kristi Yamaguchi on hiatus? No! It's Elliott London and Jim Lough goofing around. What else is there to do around here?

Breath break
 Most swim practices were pretty tough. Nicki Breckenridge, Lissy Umphrey, and Danielle Vining take advantage of a quick one minute break between swimming several series of laps. Practices usually ran about 2½ hours long. It's a good thing the team got along really well!

Wake up!
Mr. Reynolds and Mr. Burns try to awaken Chief Ben Eagle at the 1995 Homecoming assembly. Chief Eagle came out of his trance in time to wish the football team luck against Albion.

Doctor, Doctor

Have a headache? How about the sniffles? Well, you're in luck because new to the 1995-96 Marshall High School staff is Sue Boley, R.N. Mrs. Boley moved to Marshall in 1968 with her husband, Frank. Since then, she has worked at both Oaklawn Hospital and Battle Creek Health Systems. The Boleys have two children. They have also been involved with the Youth for Understanding student exchange program for ten years. In that time, the Boleys have been hosts to fourteen students from all over the world.

Mrs. Boley holds the title of school nurse to the entire Marshall school district. The program, which started in June, took off in August when she gave immunizations to students at registration a week before school began. Mrs. Boley has many goals for the new program. She wants students to feel comfortable about health and to know what to do if they aren't feeling well. She also plans to extend the program into education. She would like to teach classes about how to find a doctor, how to react in an emergency, substance abuse, eating disorders, and stopping smoking. Mrs. Boley says that although the new program is successful, the hardest part has been letting the kids know that she's there and what she can do for them. Just remember, if you don't feel too well, stop in and see Mrs. Boley!

Be Prepared

Also new to the 1996 school year is Mrs. Osborn's Career Center. The Career Center makes not only college, but also military and apprenticeship information available to all students. In the Career Center one has access to books and pamphlets as well as computer programs like College View and MOIS. Mrs. Osborn wants all students to be aware of the programs available to students after they graduate; especially those students who are not college-bound.

Mrs. Osborn is also instrumental in the School-to-Work and Cadet Teaching programs. School-to-Work is in its second year and has expanded from only involving Eaton to now include Cellasto Plastics, Perstorp, and Walker. The Cadet Teaching program allows senior students the experience of working in a classroom at one of the elementary schools. Both of these programs offer students a great opportunity and tremendous preparation for their futures.

Welcome to the Jungle

"Where am I? Omigoodness that guy is looking at me fun-nay. Is he gonna beat me up? I can't handle this pressure!"

This is what is called Freshman Anxiety. Come on - get real.

"High school is supposed to be a learning experience. And boy have I learned a lot in the last few months," stated Joe Cargo.

Freshmen learn almost too soon about the fast-paced life of high school compared to the middle school thang. Classes are harder, more advanced and intense.

"I love it here. There is so much to see and do. I especially like the fact that I can meet and see different kinds of people," commented Kate Goedde. Kate has the right idea about meeting new people. With over eight hundred and twenty-six people stationed in this school, there is always a new face to be seen throughout the campus.

The life of a freshman is a fairly exciting one. With so many new and different activities going on to see and experience, the life of a freshman is far from boring. There is always the first homecoming dance, assemblies which can not compare to anything they give to you in the middle school. The most important thing is the sense of being older and along with that goes responsibility. So the class of nineteen hundred and ninety-nine good luck and welcome to the jungle!

Struttin' her stuff
Kate Goedde struts down the hall in a hurry to get to her next class. Some students find this a challenge. The halls tend to become very crowded with rushing students racing to get to their classes. When this happens the best excuse for students tends to be - "I can't get my locker open." Some teachers don't really buy this excuse.

Baby driver

Mesmerized & Hypnotized
Brian Mullen uses seminar time productively, concentrating on the book he's reading in Mr. Foreman's room.

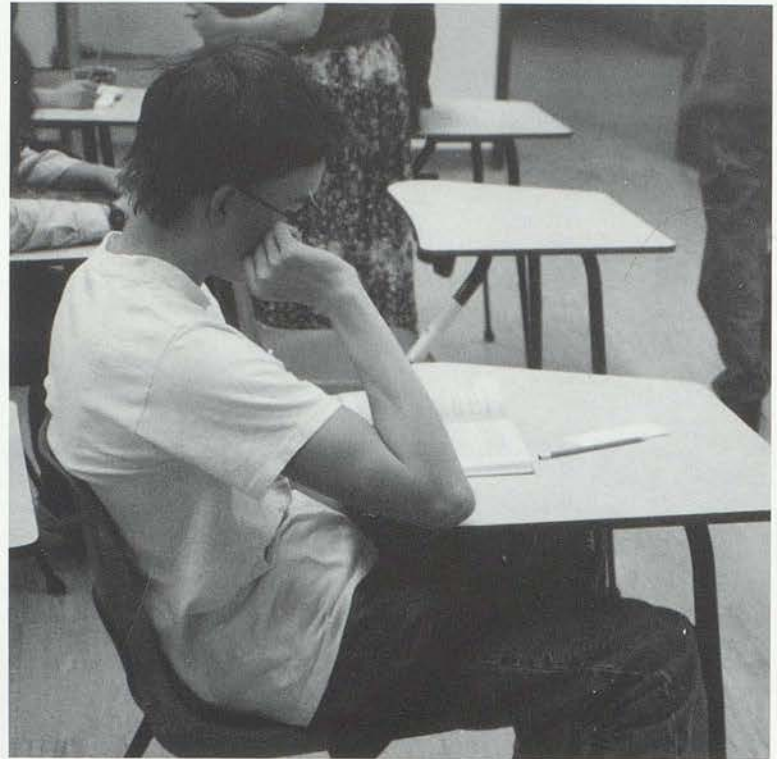

The class of 1998 is a class of "baby" drivers. Most of them turn sixteen and get their drivers' licenses as sophomores. They can now drive by themselves, unlike when they only had learners' permits. "It's terrible to drive with your parents," said Seth Palmer. Not all sophomores are quite so lucky, though, some are still too young.

Drivers' licenses aren't the only new thing sophomores get. In December many class rings come in from the Herff Jones Company. "Rings are cool because you get to show off your pride fashionably," said Andy Paulson.

Tenth grade is a time of changes in sports, also. You move from frosh sports teams to JV or varsity. "The competition on the JV team is a lot better (than the freshman) because you get incoming freshmen that are moved up to JV," commented Kari Pardoe, who runs track and plays basketball.

All in all, with licenses, rings, and JV/varsity sports, tenth grade is a pretty cool year.

Too Much On My Mind

This is the first day of the rest of your life! How many times have you heard that? In a lot of ways the junior year is the beginning of the rest of your life. There are many events during your junior year that will shape your life. The year begins with taking the PSAT. Many students thought it was hard, but it will help them prepare for the SAT and ACT. It is important for students to take this test if they plan on attending college.

Junior year isn't all work and no play. The class had a great time building the float for homecoming. The float took first in the competition, and the junior class took second overall. Another fun event is prom. The juniors worked hard to make the dance memorable. The event that a lot of juniors find to be the most fun is Close-Up. The juniors that sign up to be in this work all year on fundraisers to raise money for the trip to Washington D.C. Students who go on this trip have a good time. Fun and excitement make for a great year.

Drink Up!
In preparation for the Mountain Dew drinking contest, Dan Wallen unscrews the cap of his bottle while Mr. Tenny looks on. Dan's great drinking ability helped the Junior class place second in the Homecoming events.

Unforgettable

There are no few words that can sum up the past four years of our class that could cover everything. However, we're sure that everyone will agree that the class of '96 has been very unique and added excitement to everything they've been a part of. These Seniors have added a few last thoughts to the end of our Senior year! Liz Pedranzan - "Like sand through an hourglass, so have gone our days at Marshall High."

Josh Heppner - "Sports were great ... They really got me through the years. If I could relive anything, it would be my Senior year of football."

Emily Line - "For years I dreamed of being a Senior ... the excitement and thrill of everything that comes with that special year. Now I'm a Senior and like everyone's fantasy ... my Senior year is great, but I will really miss all the people I have been in school with all my life."

Andie Cornwell - "It really doesn't seem possible. The last four years have completely flown by."

Emily Dereski - "For 13 years I've wanted it to end, but now that it's here, it don't want it to."

Julie Beglin - "Everyone always told me that the four years of high school fly by, but I didn't believe them. But now, I can't believe I'm a Senior and my time here is almost gone. I'm really going to miss it! It has been a great four years!"

Jenny Fuller - "The past 4 years have been a great time and sometimes I wish it wouldn't have to end. As a Senior, it's sad to look back and see the fun times that we had together and now we're all splitting up. I guess that's just part of growing up."

What a pair
Exchange students Tibor Kormendy and Martin Mejia take a leisurely stroll home after school. Tibor is visiting us from Croatia and Martin is from Columbia.

How's that?
Josh Ivey, a four year band member, plays the drums at the Homecoming events. It's tradition for the Senior band members to play the cadence at the events.

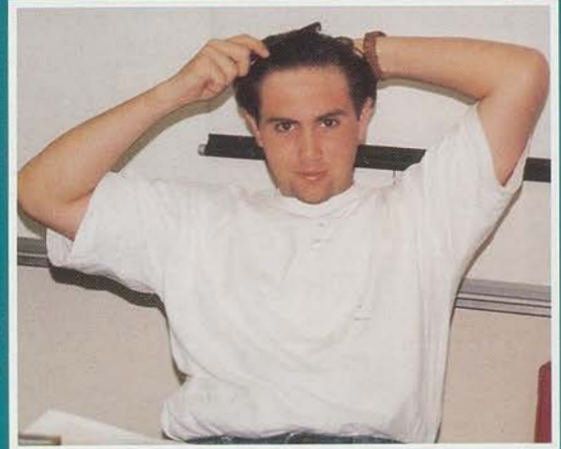

Ooohh la la
Penny Barnes, returning from summer break, gets down to work on her yearbook assignments. Penny had numerous responsibilities this year as one of the two editors of the yearbook.

MINE
Matt Rodgers appears to claim possession over Rachel Kelly at a tennis match. Matt helped out with the girl's team to give them harder practices.

Look at that dress
Liz Pedranzan and Jamey Hamilton discuss one of the many unique dresses at Homecoming this year. Florian Link states, "The one thing about semi-formals here is that we went out to eat and we don't do that in Germany. It really added to the night."

Suave
Trying to attract attention, and girls, Chris Bell combs his hair to make sure everything is in place. Chris spends a lot of his time grabbing attention on the stage.

New kid in town

Imagine leaving your home, your family, your friends, and your native country to travel thousands of miles to experience another culture for a year. You would have to learn a new language, adapt to a new culture and make new friends just to survive. Nine students at M.H.S. accepted this challenge as an adventure. The exchange students enjoy our after-school activities; however, they agreed that the classes are easier than in their own countries. We would like to thank the exchange students for giving us a taste of their cultures.

What are you looking at? Mikko looks like he is lost in space during class. Although he wanted to be an exchange student, America was not his first choice. Mikko was an active member of the M.H.S. Yearbook staff.

One of a kind Martin, from Columbia, is looking forward to improving his English. One way he accomplished that was participating in Yearbook. Here, Martin pauses in the art room for a quick picture.

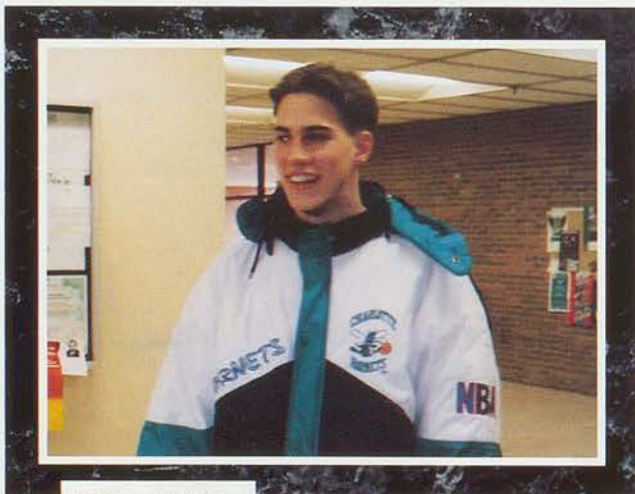

Is it cold out? Florian prepares to go outside. He participated in boys' soccer during the fall. Florian was one of nine exchange students from several different countries.

A beautiful smile Martine was a bright addition to M.H.S. She made many friends by participating on the girls' swim team and the J.V. volleyball team. Martine looks forward to every tomorrow while visiting the U.S.

An evil grin Tibor comes around the corner. Is he out of class? No, it's after school and he is headed out. He enjoys spending time with the other exchange students visiting Marshall this year.

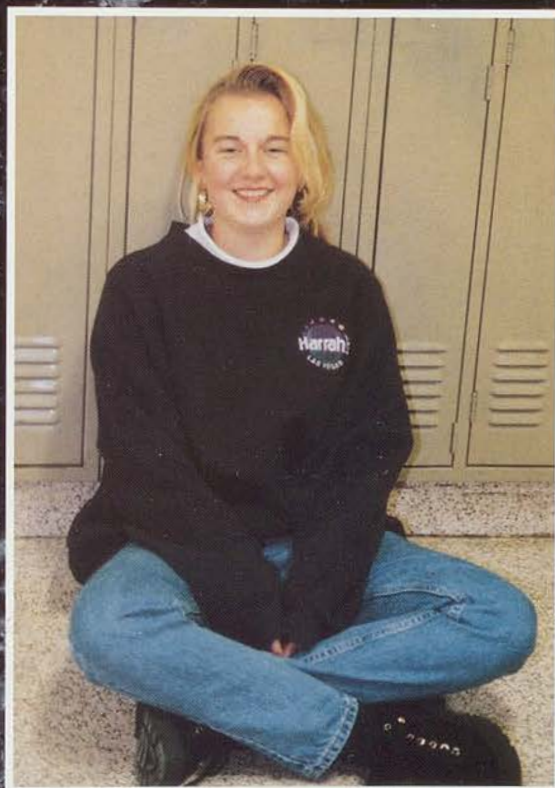

The new kids in town ...
 Front row: Martin Mejia from Columbia, Marie Vespa from France, Anja Spreeman from Germany, Martine Vermeulen from Belgium, and Steffen Jepsen from Denmark. Back row: Midori Matsubara from Japan, Mikko Orsila from Finland, Florian Link from Germany, Tibor Karmendy from Croatia, and Lucie Markova from the Czech Republic were all exchange students at Marshall High School this year.

French culture
 Marie Vespa pauses on a cold day so we could remember her. Marie was in the musical, The Wiz. She became an exchange student so she could "get away from home."

Smile pretty
 Anja Spreeman takes a break in front of her locker. She was a member of the Marshall Singers this year. She enjoyed sitting at her locker talking to her new friends and doing homework.

Gotcha!
 Lucie Markova from the Czech Republic is caught for the picture. The exchange students learned about our culture as we also learned about theirs.

The Heat Is On

June first was a great day for those of us at Marshall High because it meant that summer had officially begun. That meant staying up late, sleeping in, and spending a lot of time with your friends. Jobs, hot weather, and swimming those are all fun things you can do in the summer. A lot of people went on vacations or had jobs or even got in trouble, but of course it all comes along with the territory. You never really want it to end, but it eventually has to. The weather gets cold, the sun doesn't come out as much, and last but not least, school starts. That is the day all students, especially Freshmen, dread. Here comes another year for students to go through wishing that summer would hurry up and get here. So, "GOOD LUCK"!!!!!!!

Long day for hard work R.J. Selby, Ben Reed, Mike Reed, William Dopp and Jim "Hat" Lough all look exhausted WONDER WHY? They have been helping Ben's brother move all day.

At least look happy Melissa Bice and her brother stop and pose for a long day of touring Colonado Bay in California. She is not as tired as her brother and wants to continue walking around by the nice and warm touristic zone. I guess they didn't want to come back to Michigan.

Great day to sit around Jamie Arquette and her friend Chris Brockman go into the kitchen to grab something to eat for their lazy day that Jamie used to put in practice some hair-stylist skills using the head of her victim. Chris will call Mom to ask her to rescue him.

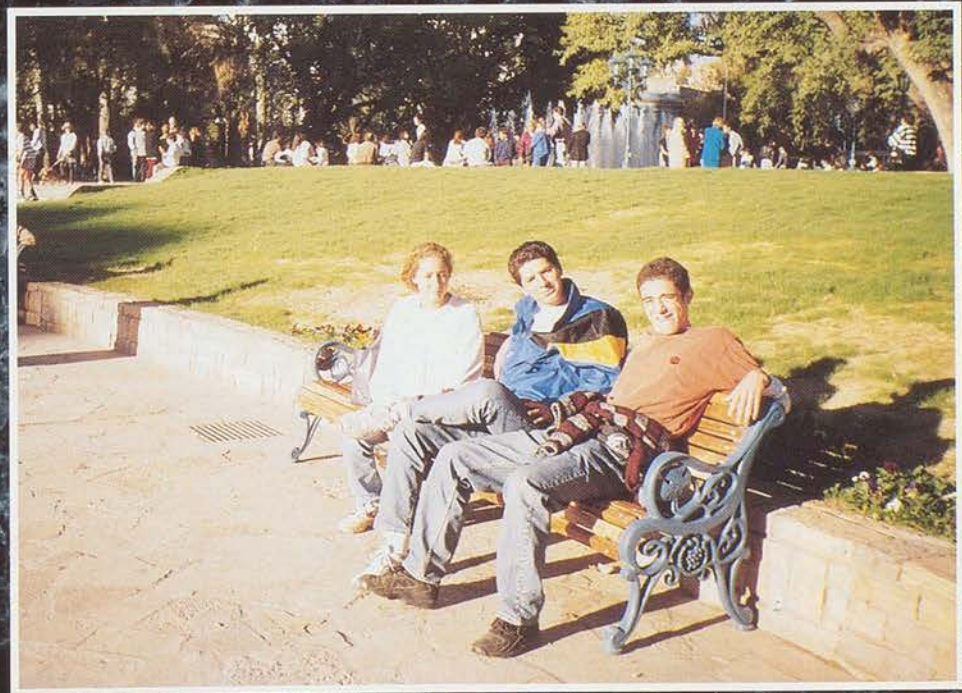

Watch out here we come. The soon to be freshman class goes on a boat ride through Resurrection Bay in Seward, Alaska, touring a little bit and making biological research in the area for the Alaska Great Lakes Project. It doesn't look too cold!

Look!!! It's Miranda Bell smiling pretty for the camera at Warren Dunes on Lake Michigan. Miranda stopped there on her way home from the hot Air Balloon Festival, which she attended with her family.

Look what I found! Sarah Dillman shows off very happily the very large starfish she found in Alaska. She was studying the plants and animals in the cold sea water enjoying her scientific but fun vacations in the Alaska Great Lakes Project.

Express Yourself

Students at Marshall High expressed themselves in many ways this fall. The sports teams did extremely well this year. The football team made it to the playoffs, and ended their season with a 7-3 record. Varsity Soccer had the best season in MHS history as they made it to districts and ended with a 14-3 record. The Varsity Basketball team also went to Districts this year. The Boys Golf team went all the way to State this year and finished 14th. The Girls Swim team took sixteen girls to the State meet this year as well. The Boys' Cross Country team qualified for State for the first time in fourteen years, and also placed second in the league and third in the region. The Marshall Redskins rocked the Twin Valley once again.

Homecoming was a success as usual. Events were held Wednesday night. The seniors ended up first during the week, with juniors in second, sophomores in third, and freshmen in fourth.

Many people took the time to go see the play put on this fall, Whose Life Is It Anyway? This year's Junior Miss contest was a big hit as well. Julie Belgin is this year's Junior Miss.

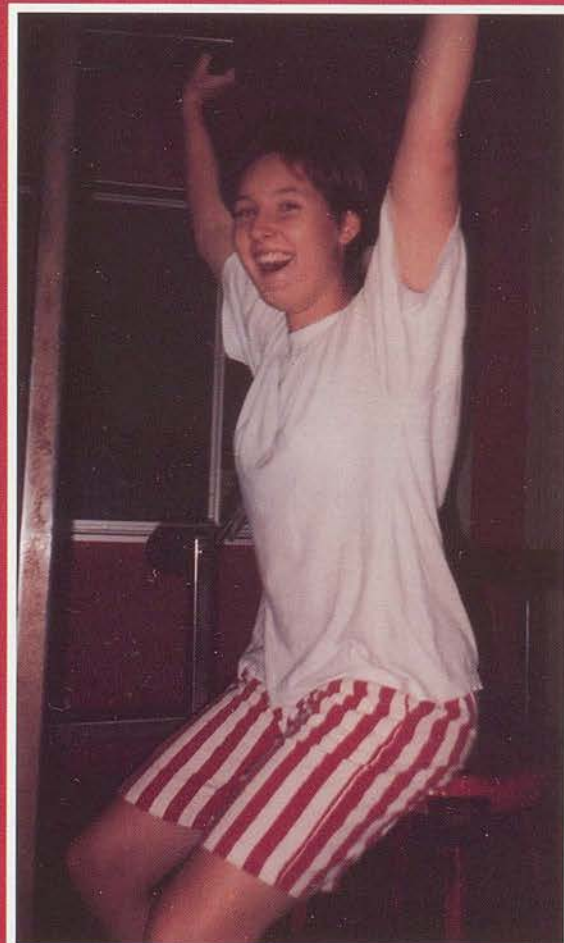

The fall season was a success in many ways.

Conversation between cousins
Annie Scears and Richie Huggett have a talk in between class periods.

I think I'm going to throw up
Jeff Evans pushes himself to win the race. Jeff went to the state meet this year.

Getting buff
Martine Vermeulen lifts weights during swimming practice. Martine is an exchange student from Belgium

You can pick your friends you can pick your nose, but you can't pick your friend's nose
 Ginny Lortz goes to work on the senior float during Homecoming week. The senior float took second place.

Scootin' to the finish
 The seniors scoot their way down the gym floor during the centipede race.

Chillin' in the Cav
 Jim Lough goes cruising through town one last time. It's sad, but the Cav has died.

Hack's going to crack him
 Jeremy Hackworth zeroes in on his Tecumseh opponent as he prepares to make another bone crushing hit. Marshall ended up beating Tecumseh 7-6 in overtime.

Ahhhh!
 Jessica Bassis scoots down the hall during one of her swimming practices. Jessica went to the state meet

Take A Bow

It was Friday, September 19, 1995, the gym was packed with the whole student body. All eyes were on last years homecoming court, as they held the names of the people who would represent the school at the homecoming football game. As the assembly went on, the anxiety of the candidates could be seen, as they all twitched and dripped with sweat, waiting for the names to be read. When the time finally came the winners were ecstatic. While Jenny Stevens, Phil Galoway, Amy Rosko, Tim Williams, Shannon Goodwin, John "Daddy" Dobbins, Lisa Ward, Adam "Goose" Gase, and the King and Queen,

Jesse Bell and Erin Madden sat in their chairs with a glow on their faces, the sight brought a tear to many of the student's eyes. The chosen ones then set their sights fro Friday, October 6, and the homecoming game. When the night finally arrived the King, Queen, and all of their court were ready for their journey down the track. "The ride down the track was a whole lot of fun, and knowing that everyone in your class picked you to represent them in a great feeling," stated John Dobbins. The 1995 homecoming court represented our school extremely well and made everyone proud to be REDSKINS!

The Jubilant Junior

A Kiss From a Rose

If you snooze, you lose
An exhausted student takes time to catch a little shut eye during the dance. Many students get very tired due to working hard on the dance floor.

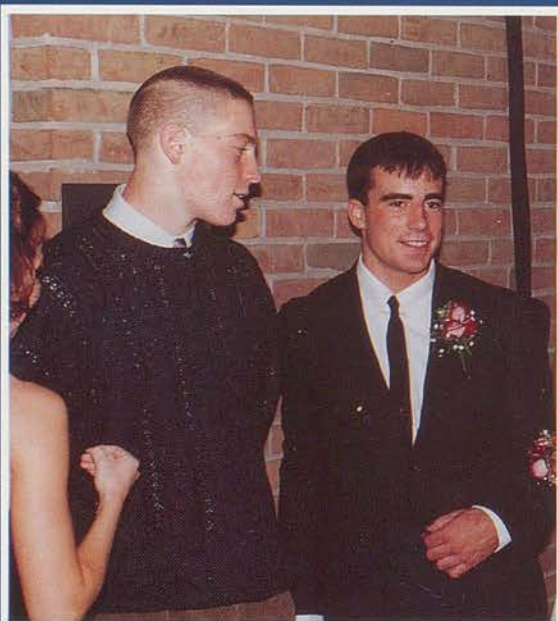

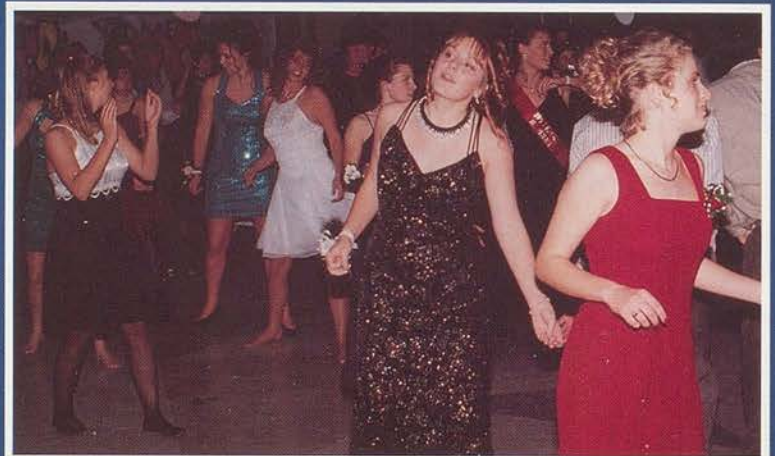

Homecoming 1995 was one to remember. From the moment your date arrived you knew that the night was going to go well. Just one glance and you were hooked. Hopefully your date wasn't having a bad hair day or accidentally wore white socks with black pants and black shoes. Or maybe your date showed up at your house when you still had your mud mask on with a towel on top of your head. But look on the bright side-your night has just begun, and it can only get better.

"A Kiss From a Rose" was Homecoming 1995's theme. The tables were decorated with silk roses with gold glitter sprinkled on the tables. The walls had huge banners on them with "A Kiss From a Rose" written on them along with hand-drawn roses.

Homecoming is just one of the most memorable times of the year for everyone. Some people think that eating dinner is the best part of the night, but others felt that the dance was the most enjoyable. It just gives everyone a chance to be their own person and show their stuff out on the dance floor.

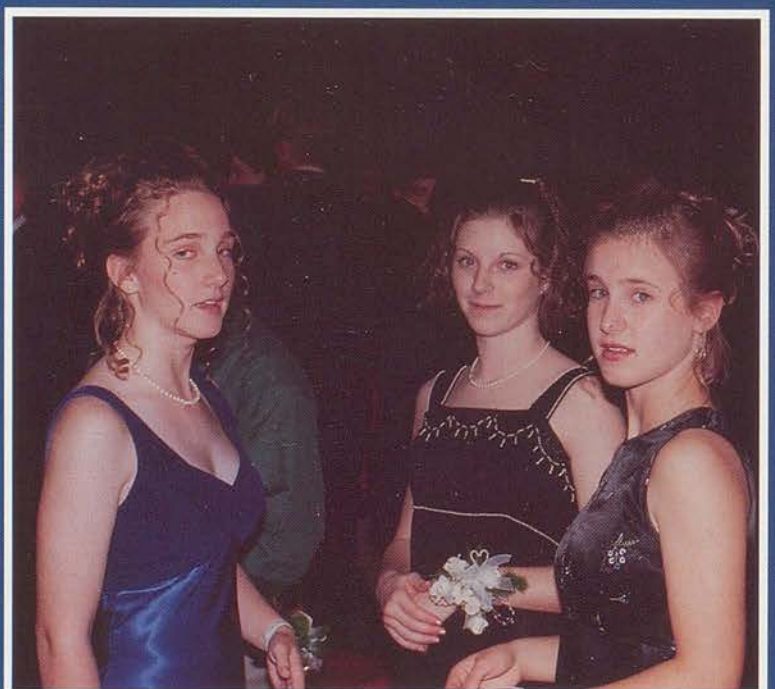

Break it down
The guys and gals of MHS work their magic at the dance. Many of the girls chose to take off their shoes so they wouldn't hurt themselves.

Say
"Cheese"
Ben Hankey smiles for the camera as Josh Heppner eyes him. Although Josh came with a date, for much of the night he stared at Ben.

Girl talk
Anne Kellogg, Christa Morgan, and Danielle Vining held a friendly chat during the dance.

Here's the queen
Erin Madden makes her dramatic entrance to the dance. Because of a mistake with dinner reservations, Erin showed up a little later than she was supposed to.

I'm smooth
Chris Bell flashes a million-dollar smile as he chills with his anonymous date. Chris' rollerblading has helped build his endurance for the dances.

Andrew, are you having fun yet?
Andrew Neidlinger and Maggie Kendall mingle amongst their peers. Andrew obviously didn't find what was going on as amusing as Maggie did.

Getting ready to boogie
Eric Dale and Annie Scears hang out in the hall. Eric and Annie tore up the dance floor all night long.

Smells Like Teen Spirit

Homecoming is usually a fun filled, action packed week for most students at Marshall High School. It's a welcome break from the sometimes boring school routine. One of the activities that got everyone pumped up was a week of dress-up days, which included Costume day, Pajama Day, 60's, 70's, and 80's Day, Class Colors Day, and Redskin Pride Day. The theme for this year's floats was "song titles," the freshmen chose "Leader of the Pack," the sophomores chose "Another One Bites the Dust," the juniors did "The Lion Sleeps Tonight," and the seniors did

"Eye of the Tiger." Also adding to the fun were the class games, which took place on Tuesday this year. The ever-popular tire was also brought back this year and was captured by the seniors. In fact, when all was said and done, the seniors ended up as the overall winners of the Homecoming events. The highlight of the week for some students had to be the football game against the Albion Wildcats, in which the 'Skins pulled out a 40-0 victory. Overall, Homecoming '95 turned out to be a memorable one.

Wildcats Will Boil Tonight!

The juniors came in first in the float competition with their representation of "The Lion Sleeps Tonight." In fact, a few junior girls sang their own version of the song and had it recorded at WKFR.

The Eye of the Tiger

The seniors gathered at Rob Brownell's house and worked hard to finish their float on time. They obtained the lovely shrubbery from Line Designs. Their float took second in the competition.

Will They Ever Stop?

Jim Lough and Kelly Kiewiet show off their rope jumping skills as they hopped their way to a first place finish. They only practiced for 4 minutes before their amazing performance, but it seemed like they prepared for days.

Slammin' a Dew
 Freshman Elizabeth Mathieu and sophomore Marna Miller did the Dew, but they weren't quite fast enough, since the seniors' Emily Dereski won this event.

Another One Bites the Dust
 The sophomores came in third in the float event, with their representation of a Redskin burying our opponents. The sophomores worked on their float at the fairgrounds.

Playing Dress-Up
 Annie Scears, Elysia Hecox, and Jessie Fitch got creative and participated in one of the dress-up days during Homecoming week. The dress-up days were a good way for students to get psyched up for the football game on Friday night.

We Don't Smell
 The seniors got motivated with homemade signs and showed their spirit by wearing their senior T-shirts. The seniors won Homecoming overall, as well as the United Way collection, in which they raised $251.25.

Lady in red

Queen of the night ... Julie Beglin takes time to show off her plaques and smile. Julie will compete in Alpena representing Marshall.

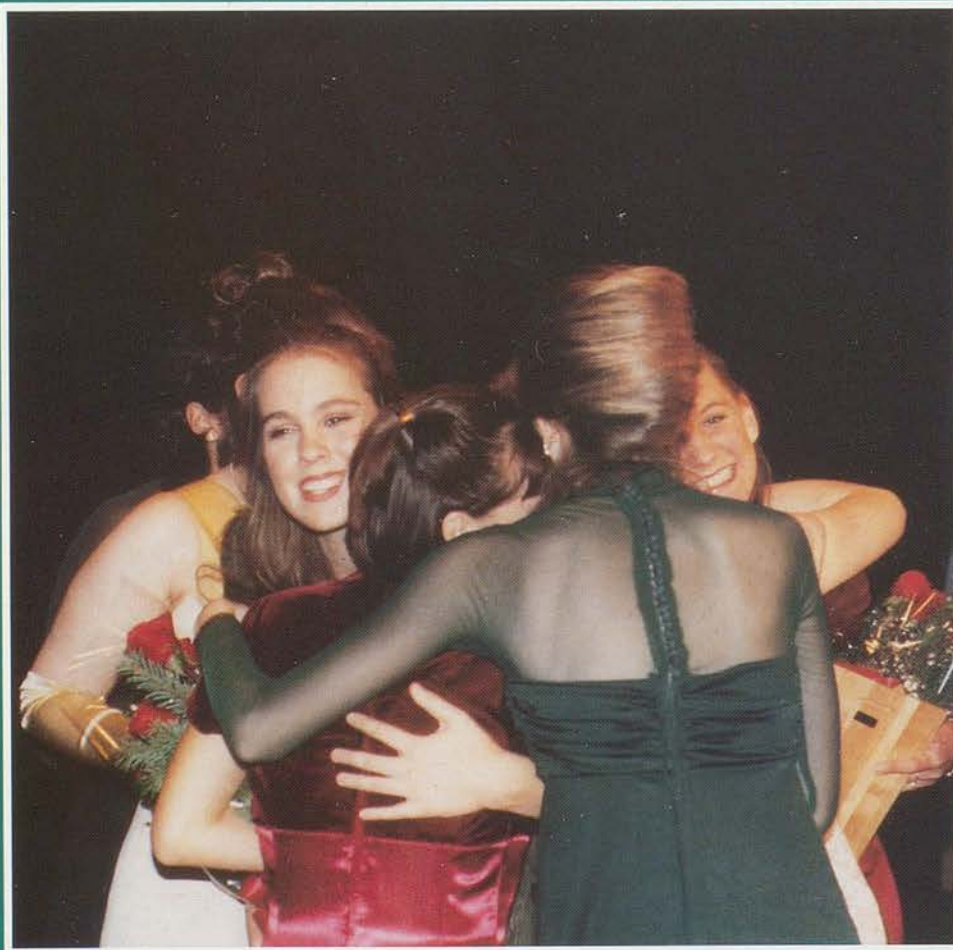

Smile ... that's all Julie Beglin could do when they announced she had won the 1995 Junior Miss title. After eight weeks of practice, nine senior girls from M.H.S. were introduced at the beginning of the competition. This year's theme, the "Roaring Twenties" featured the flappers & the Ziegfield Girls. Julie Beglin took the Scholastic Award; Cammy Edsall won the honor of First Runner Up. Suzy Abbott took the Creative and Performing Arts Award; and Emily Rosene won the Spirit of Junior Miss Award, voted on by the other contestants.

The winner was decided after each contestant was judged in five different areas: fitness, presence & composure, creative and performing arts, scholastic achievement, and panel review. The creative and performing arts was a talent chosen by the girls. Their choices ranged from a humorous reading of tips from mom to singing and dancing. The girls also introduced themselves and gave a response to a topic question they had received the day before. These topics included a person you would like to meet, the person who most influenced your life, and one thing you would change about yourself, among others. The girls' hard work paid off the night of the competition.

Strike a pose ... Jenny Fuller presents her dance routine at the Junior Miss competition. The girls worked eight weeks preparing for the big night of competition.

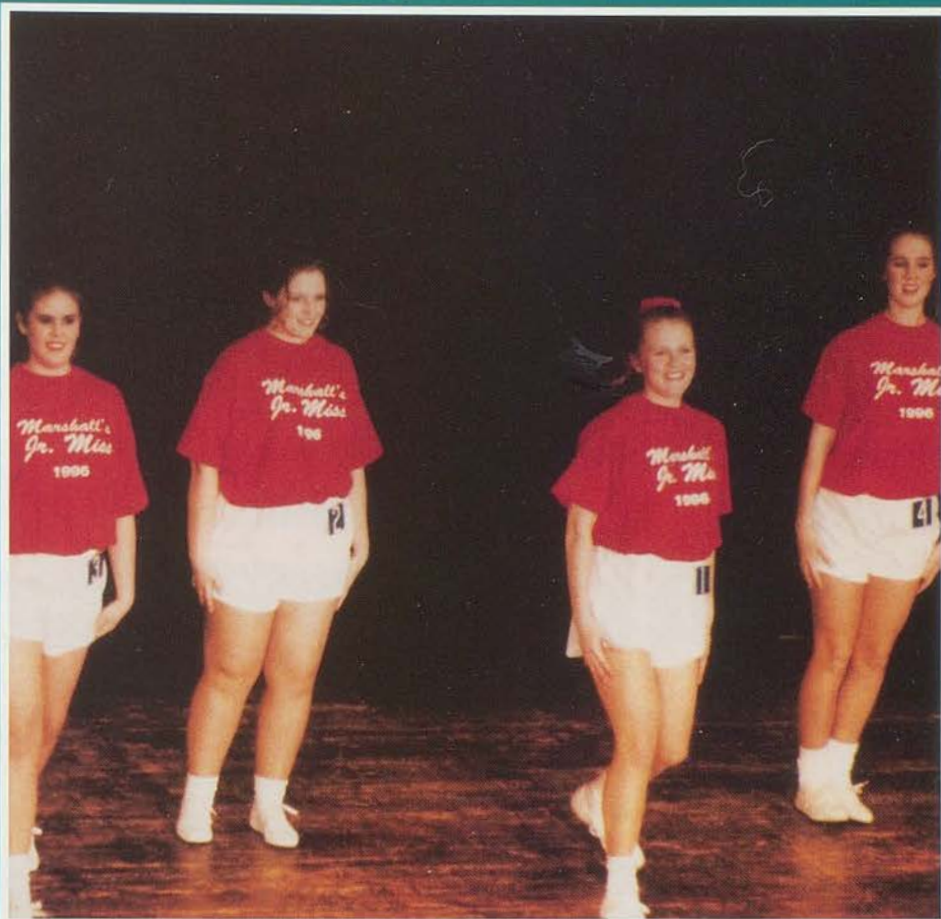

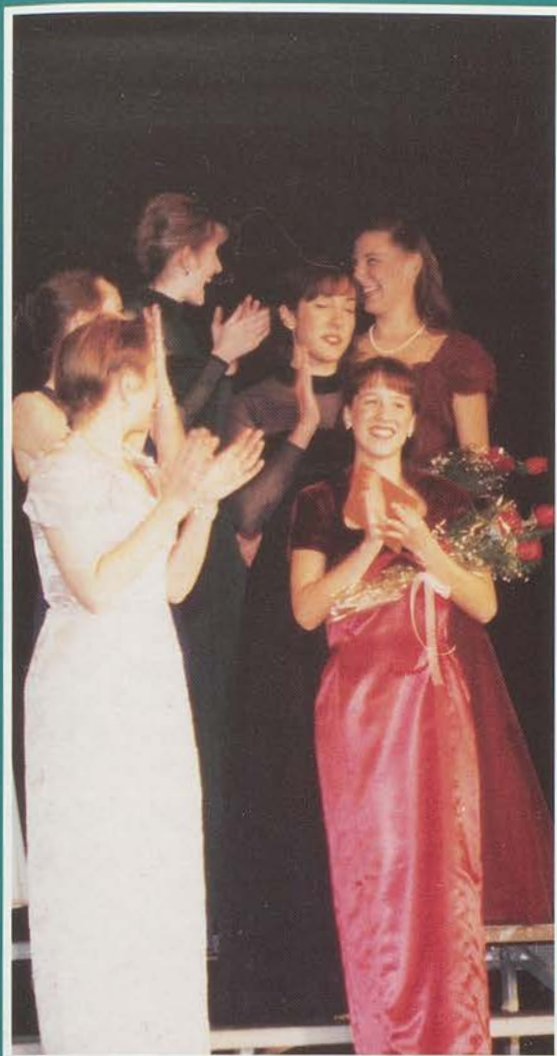

One final hug ... Kelly Dominique, Suzy Abbott, Cammy Edsall, and Julie Beglin congratulate each other after program. Cammy took the honor of First Runner Up.

And the winner is Julie Beglin. Emily Rosene, Michelle Swanson, Marquise Blakeslee, Jenny Fuller, Kelly Dominique, Amy Rochelle, and Suzy Abbott congratulate Julie after she won the honor of 1995 Junior Miss. The competition was held Thanksgiving weekend at Marshall Middle School.

Feel the burn ... and smile. Michelle Swanson, Emily Rosene, Marquise Blakeslee, and Cammy Edsall perform their fitness routine. This routine was part of the program.

Gee Thanks! Emily Rosene accepts her award with a smile of gratitude. Emily won the Spirit of Junior Miss Award.

And the winners are ... Emily Rosene, Cammy Edsall, Julie Beglin, and Suzy Abbott. They smile one last time for the camera. The girls' hard work paid off.

Entertainment while entertaining!
 Greg Trax, Nate Cox, and Mike Laupp goof off quietly while waiting for their cues in the make-up room.

Waiting for the verdict.
 There is a tense silence as Claire, her lawyer, and her doctor wait while the judge makes his decision.

This is your life

Imagine having a whole life full of dreams and promises ahead of you, and then waking up one day having to realize that it's all gone. Imagine having to depend on other people to do even the simplest things such as scratching your nose or whisking away a fly. That was the reality Claire Harrison (Erin Maddin) had to face. Claire was a successful sculptor until a near fatal car accident paralyzed her from the neck down. Now, bedridden, she feels her life is worthless, a burden to society. She decides to hire a lawyer to either have her released or to let her die. No one is pleased with her decision. So here is where the morality trial comes in. Should a patient have the right to choose life or death? Well, Whose Life Is It, Anyway?

The fall play attracted quite a crowd this year. It was a drama with a little humor, thanks to one flirtatious orderly and an innocent student nurse! This play was a lot of work for the cast. Each day after school rehearsals went on for hours while memorizing lines, working on blocking, making sure everything is just right, and even coming in on weekends to build the set. That doesn't include squeezing in homework! It kept them all busy. Here and there they had a little fun too! A few cast members tested each other's concentration abilities by giving little sideshows backstage while others were performing! (Only during rehearsals of course!) Kevin Rayner had his car TP'd by a couple of fun seeking castmates! And, as always, there's a good cast party to look forward to!

After the weeks of working out details and with the help of a good production staff, everything came together like peanut butter and jelly! The play was a hit! Well done cast and crew!

Light as a feather!
 Claire enjoyed her regular session of insulting the head nurse so much that she paid no mind to the orderly dusting her head, or the nurse doing her daily rounds!

Finally spotless!
 Striking the set is the part of the production that usually no one looks forward to, including Rachel Kelly. Now it's done and she can finally go home! Sleep is a good thing after five days of "Hell Week" before the performances!

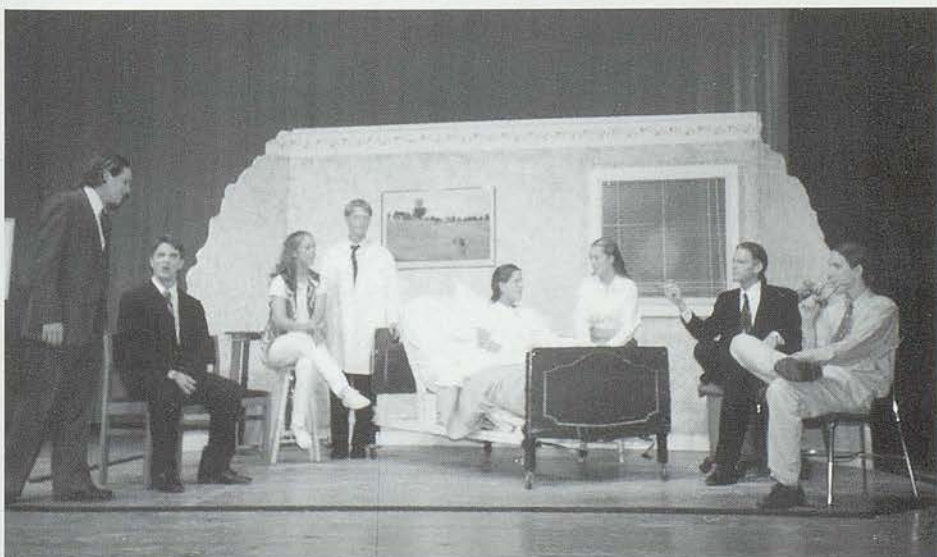

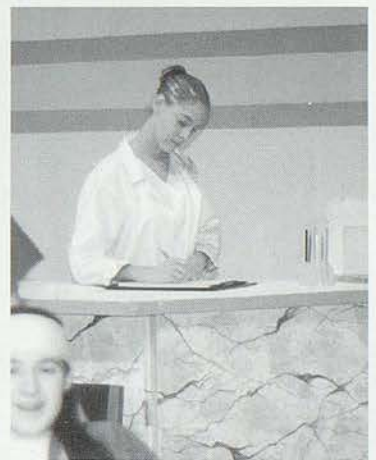

What did I do?
After being yelled at, frazzled social worker (Kelly Dominique) was calmed by head nurse (Kayla Watson). Student nurse (Cammy Edsall) watched.

Posin' proud
Each night, the play had a big turnout. Kelly Dominique, Kayla Watson, and Kevin Kayner were pleased as they stood listening to the crowd.

That's a wrap!
They managed over a month together without any stitches, so the cast of Whose Life Is It, Anyway? got together one last time before the production was completely over.

A little hungry?
Cammy Edsall and Kelly Dominique are anxious for food service! They must have worked up quite an appetite from running around the hospital all hours of the day!

Let's discuss this...
Court's in full session. Doctors and court workers gather in Claire's hospital room to argue her case. After weighing the pro's and con's, and to the dismay of her friends at the hospital, the play came to a climactic end as she was granted freedom of choice over her own life or death.

Holding down the fort.
Kayla Watson, who is head nurse, fills her time with paperwork and pretends that she can't hear people calling her "cold-hearted."

Only the Strong Survive

The season started with an exciting overtime win against Portage Northern and ended with a thrilling overtime victory against Tecumseh. The team compiled a 7-2 regular season record to earn them a spot in the playoffs. Though coming up short of the win against Harper Creek, the team had a great year. "We progressed throughout the season and the team really came together," explained Junior John Dobbins. Led by Senior co-captains Chris Hug and Steve Wolk the team consisted of talented Seniors, Juniors, and five Sophomores. Junior J.D. Stealy summed up the season by saying, "It was a great year; we had total team effort and a lot of fun."

Take It to the Limit

The JV Football season started with a loss to Portage. In the next game they showed what they really could do, when they beat Lakeview 36-0. JV went the first half of the season winning one and losing one, then in their last three games they practically killed their opponents by scoring over 40 points per game. Because of the burst they got in the last three games they ended the season with a 6-3 record.

The freshmen football team had an outstanding season and played good football. They won the first five games in a row including games against Lakeview and Harper Creek who didn't show very good sportsmanship after the Varsity game earlier in the season.

The game against Charlotte was really tight, and freshmen team suffered their only loss to Charlotte 7-8. The freshmen team ended their season with an 8-1 record.

SHOUT!

The Varsity Football Cheerleading Team took on a whole new look this year beginning the, "New Tradition," of cheerleading. Mrs. Joan Saber took over the Varsity squad as the head coach and introduced the team to new upbeat cheers including the kick line. The cheerleaders made their kick line throughout the games to count off the number of points scored by the Redskins. The girls really got a workout after the Redskins scored 40 points against Albion at our own Homecoming game. The cheerleaders also found that they could get more crowd involvement by giving them noise makers. This not only contributed to team support, but also in intimidating the opposing teams. The team also got new uniforms this year. Jenny Fuller felt, "The uniforms really improved our image and gave us a fresh look." The team also found that with all these new changes the team was given the opportunity to add to the new tradition of cheerleaders. The ideas started by this year's squad will be followed up again next year along with a few more additions.

Touchdown!

Some things will never change. Mariah Musselman, Danielle Wheeler, and the rest of the Varsity squad perform the traditional fight song cheer after another Redskin score.

M.H.S.

The Redskin girls try to stimulate the Redskin followers at Tecumseh by yelling the M.H.S. class cheer. The Redskins packed the stands everywhere they went this year so the cheerleaders always had a lot of support.

Pump up the volume

The Marshall High Junior Varsity and Freshmen Cheerleaders brought team spirit into the challenging games that the Redskins Football teams played. Although the Redskins lost some games, the cheerleaders were there to support their team, and to keep the games alive and filled with excitement.

One could tell by the cheerleaders' faces that it was not an easy task to accomplish, especially during the games that were played in cold, wet weather. But no matter what, the cheerleaders pulled through and kept the crowd entertained at home or away games.

Hit Me With Your Best Shot

"BULLDOG!" That single word was the key to the Varsity Soccer team's success as they accumulated a 14-3 record this year. With the phenomenal offensive lineup of Russ Kavalhuna, Jim Kiebala, and Brian Wolf, the goalie received repeated spankings as Jim Kiebala shattered a school record by scoring 33 goals in only three years at high school. Kavalhuna and Wolf were no slouches themselves as Russ ended up scoring 14 goals in only 15 games and Wolf had 11 goals this year. The season wouldn't have been a success without the strong midfield of Andrew McCormick, Andrew Neidlinger, and Kevin Rayner. These guys worked very hard this year running both ends of the field with their unbelievable moves and quickness. Their opponents couldn't expect anything more than defeat. Enough recognition isn't given to the defensive lineup composed of Norm Dabbs, Derek Dee, Steffen Jepsen, and goalie David Ruesch. The aggressive style of these defensive geniuses was very intimidating to anyone who crossed their path. The goal-keeping ability of Dave will be deeply missed by all returning players since he averaged around 10 saves per game this season. It was thought that this year wouldn't have been a very good season, but due to hard work by all the players and the coaches Barry Phillips and the infamous Ed Szmatala, this was a season that will be remembered for years to come.

Hey Kevin, this isn't gymnastics! With the all mighty flip throw-in Kevin launches the ball into orbit over the field. Kevin was the only player this year who was able to do this spectacular move.

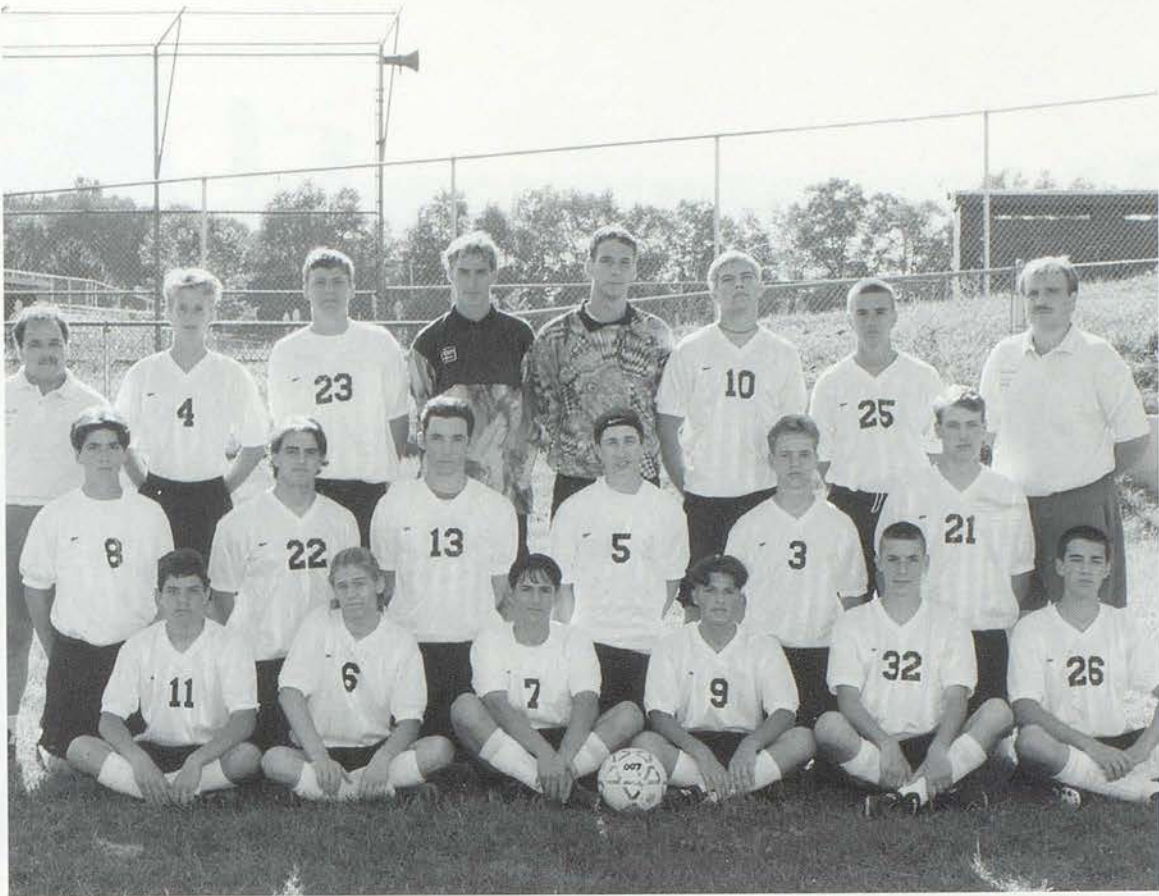

I don't think so. Derek Dee rejects another feeble attempt of the other team scoring. Derek really saved Dave Ruesch some time this year since most of the shots never made it to him.

Russ Kavalhuna: "Everyone thought that this season wasn't going to be one of our better seasons, but thanks to our great coaches we pulled off one of our best records ever!"

Have a nice trip, see you in the fall. Steffen Jepsen blasts another ball past the unexpected goalie.

First Row: John Thompson, Jacob Gates, Ryan Traver, Luke Peck, Andrew McCormick, Seth Palmer
 Second Row: Brian Wolf, Kevin Rayner, Leo Powers, Ryan Schook, Derek Dee, Jeff Ringengberg
 Third Row: Coach Barry Phillips, Steffen Jepsen, Andrew Neidlinger, Florian Link, David Ruesch, Russell Kavalhuna, Jim Kiebala, and Coach Ed Szmatala.

We're going to school these chumps. These boys in blue don't know what's in store for them when Kevin and Andrew blast through their defense. Andrew and Kevin worked very well together this year as a team.

Kickin' and Screamin'!

Teamwork was the name of the game for the Junior Varsity soccer team this season. Success was the result, posting a record of 8-5-2, the JV showed that they are going to be a team to reckon with in the coming years. With the combination of Nick Barnes, Brian Zalewski, and Sean Duffey blistering the nets with their powerful shots, and Brian Woods smothering almost every ball that neared the goal the JV proved to be an intimidating force. But as noted before, the JV team all realized that there is no "I" in "TEAM". The midfielders and defense also played major roles in the JV team's success. Captain Greg Rasher and Justin Weare led the midfielders, and Andy Fast and Jamie Paradine dominated most of their foes while playing defense. Coach Tiesworth noted that he was very pleased with his team's effort and their overall playing. With the success of the JV team and the varsity team which contained many underclassmen, the Marshall High School soccer program will definitely enjoy many great seasons in the coming years.

Girls Just Want To Have Fun

The Marshall Girls' Varsity Basketball team had fun while they compiled a 13-9 record overall this season. The Lady Redskins, led by senior Tri-captains Jamey Hamilton, Sara Duffey, and Liz Pedranzan made it all the way to the District final game against Coldwater before concluding this year's season.

The tri-captains were honored by being selected for Twin Valley Awards this year. Jamey Hamilton was named to the First Team All Conference, Sara Duffey was named to the Second Team All Conference, and Liz Pedranzan earned Honorable Mention.

The Redskin team was made up of four Seniors, four Juniors, and two Sophomores. They worked together both offensively and defensively and played hard all year as many games went down to the wire before a win or loss was determined.

Team awards this year went to Maggie Kendall being voted Miss Hustle, Jenny Stout was voted most improved and Jamey Hamilton and Sara Duffey shared the MVP award for the Varsity Hoopsters.

Yes, these girls just wanted to have fun this year and they did! Congratulations, girls. The Redskin fans were very proud to attend the Girls' Basketball games this year. By you having fun, you let us have fun.

One Hot Minute

The Marshall High Junior Varsity and Freshmen Girls' Basketball teams put on some tremendous showdowns. The games they played brought out their skill and talent. One could see that the girls had practiced hard for each game that they played.

"The practices were hard and there was not a lot of fooling around. The team worked well together and coach Konkle was like a second mom to us. We could talk to her about anything," said Jodi Rodgers.

Control

C'mon!
Junior Chris Gilbert seems to think that talking to his ball will help it drop. Chris was known for his low scores and his outbursts during practices.

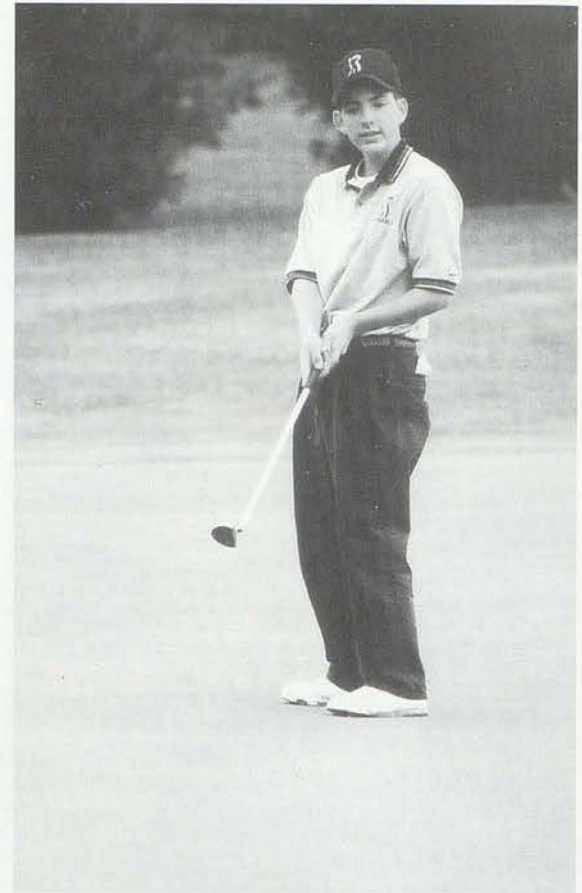

With the Varsity Golf team going all the way to Regionals and taking 14th in the State, Coach Reynolds said, "I was very pleased with the team this year. Taking 14th in the state was very satisfying but if the weather had cooperated with us, I felt we would have taken 13th."

The team had a lot of wins this year and a lot of good placements in the invitationals. Tyler Burgdorf had this to say: "I felt we had a good season. I liked the way we pulled together towards the end. I felt like we made something happen." Adam duBois stated,

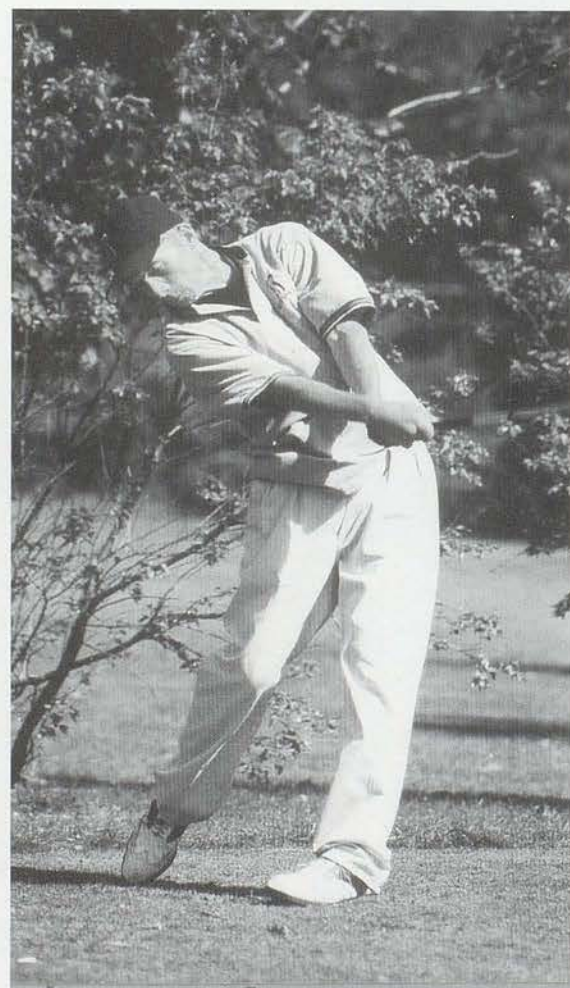

"I think we could have done better score wise, but I'm satisfied that we placed 14th in the state."

Jim Lough stated how he felt he personally did this year. "I had some good shots, I had some bad shots, I made some putts, I missed some putts, but golf was fun this year."

Within the next few years, the golf team is going to see quite a few good golfers, and with the Varsity team returning next year, the Redskins are going to be a very tough team to beat.

Run around

The 1995 tennis season proved to be an exciting time for the returning Varsity tennis team, coached by Jean Jansen, as well as the newcomers on the JV team, coached by Jody Foreman. Home matches had their fun moments, but the away matches provided the most laughs for the players. This year, the regionals took place in Sturgis, which meant an early morning departure from the teachers' parking lot. Varsity player Elysia Hecox commented, "I remember that. We brought blankets and pillows and we all fell asleep on the bus."

Shiree Rochelle had fond memories of the time that she and Amanda Walters were walking through the Harper Creek parking lot and ended up dancing behind the marching band that happened to be practicing. The JV team furnished their own amusement by playfully harassing Coach Foreman. He seemed to entertain them during practice, judging by the laughter resounding from the far courts. Even though the JV and Varsity teams didn't play matches at the same time, they still found time to bond during practice and after matches.

Go the distance

The 1995 Boys' Cross Country team worked all summer to go the distance. Seven members of the team qualified for the state meet, where they finished twentieth. The seven to qualify were seniors Jesse Bell, Jeff Evans, and Andrew McKenna; juniors Matt Bramble and Ben Marshall; sophomore Brad Bigelow; and freshman Randy Sherer. The increase in the number of Freshmen and Sophomores is very encouraging for future years. The highlight of this season was qualifying for the state meet, which has not been done since 1981. The overall season was viewed as a success, taking second in the Twin Valley. The August heat, early morning practices, and dedication this summer helped the team "Go the Distance."

One step at a time ...
Jesse Bell leads a pack of runners at a cross country meet this fall. He went on to qualify for the state cross country meet.

In the lead ...
Ben Marshall takes the lead at a cross country meet at Cornwell's. Ben was one of seven to qualify for the state meet.

Late for a date ...
No, Matt Bramble is trying to stay ahead of two very close contenders during a cross country meet. Matt pushes for a great finish to qualify for the state meet.

Keeping the distance ...
Jeff Evans puts distance between himself and his competitor. This year's regional meet was at Cornwell's. The team qualified for the state meet.

Hit the road, Jack

The 1995 Women's Cross Country team had a very successful season, led by Senior co-captains Suzy Abbott, Christina McPherson, and Penny Barnes. The Lady Skins jumped from last year's last place finish in the conference to fourth place in '95. The girls also had a strong showing at Regionals; unfortunately, none of the girls qualified to compete at the State meet. The '96 Women's Cross Country team promises to be even better than this year's with top runners Sophomore Jodi Rodgers and Freshmen Jenny Bramble, April Evans, and Megan Marquoit returning to lead the team.

Are we having fun yet?
Freshmen Liz Leahy and Sarah Dilman are enjoying their swim practice.
They're skating their way to success.

This year's swimming team was undoubtedly filled with a tremendous amount of talent. Splashing to the top of the lineup was Jessica Bassis, who qualified for State in the first meet. Martin Vermeulen, an exchange student from Belgium also qualified for State, and she hung her flag high in respect for her country. Leaping her way to the top was Liz Haines, who not only broke the school record once, she broke it three times in one season.

The team's chemistry was outstanding and uncanny to teams in the past. After every meet the majority of the team members set personal records. The season was long, (literally) a wholoping three months. WOW! Participating in drag, which is when the swimmers dress up in a great number of bathing suits and go swimming, hmm ... sounds like fun.

Shiny Happy People

Winter time is full of activities for students at Marshall High. Sports like volleyball, basketball, wrestling, swimming, and cheerleading begin. Speaking of sports, Girls' Volleyball had a great season, and three of our wrestlers went to State. Jerrid Stepp placed seventh, Ben Gase placed third, and Chris Hug, unfortunately didn't place due to an injury. Boys' Swimming came in third place at Conference and Rob Brownell went to State. We also actually had guy cheerleaders this year! That's a whole lotta something!

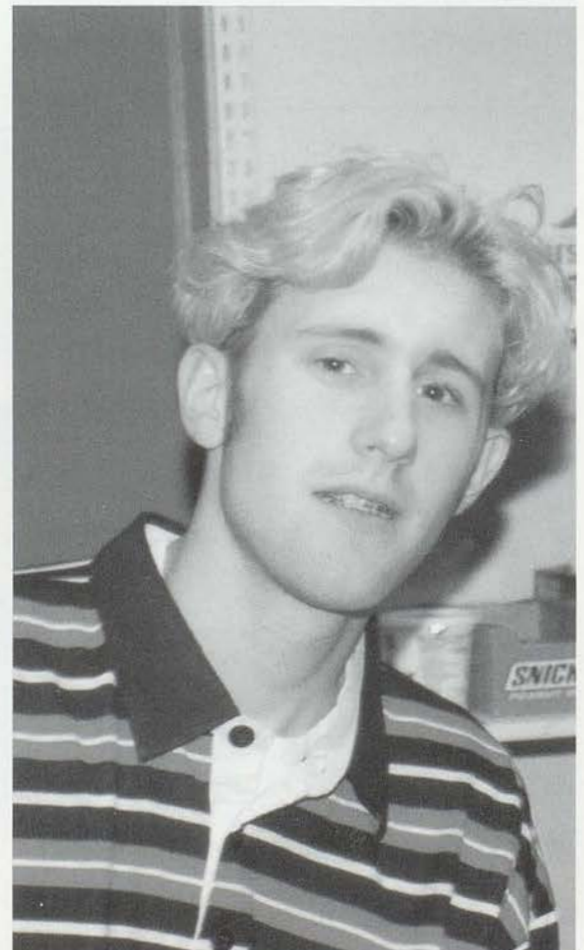

But that's not all that's going on. This is the time of the year when the Junior class comes together to plan the Prom. And they certainly have proved to be creative! Ian Schnaitman said he joined the Prom Committee because, "I wanted to get with my friends and help organize something we'll remember for a long time." Also, Dave Swender competed in the John S. Knight competition for Debate/Forensics and placed seventh. Intramurals also start up. (That's when students form teams and compete against each other on Monday nights). This year the basketball cheerleaders put on a Sadie Hawkins dance, where the girl asks the guy. And I must say, it turned out terrific!

Winter definitely has its fun times. It's been a great winter season both in sports and outside activities. But we still have Prom and all the Spring activities to look forward to.

I Don't Believe You Want To Get Up and Dance

M

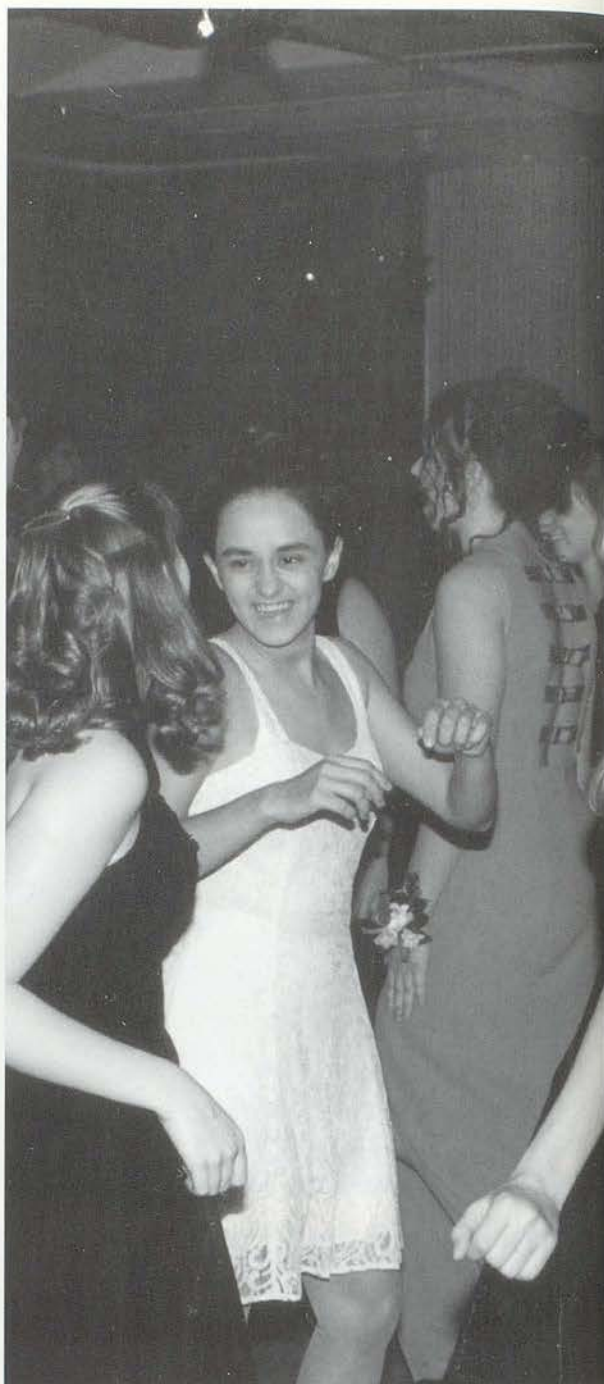

arshall High School students chased away winter boredom at this year's Valentine's Dance. The JV and Varsity cheerleaders sponsored and organized the event by decorating the cafeteria for a night of fun and romance. There was also an added twist this year. The girls asked the guys this year, making it a Sadie Hawkins Dance. Minchie Walters and Emily Morey said that it was exciting to ask guys instead of waiting to be asked. When the night had come and gone, everyone agreed that this dance was memorable for both girls and guys alike.

Romance in the air
Some cheerleaders, who put on the dance, and their friends break it down in the cafeteria. The cheerleaders spent a lot of time decorating in order to give the dance its romantic theme.

Magic night
These partiers glide romantically across the dance floor. Dave Michaels from WKFR was the DJ providing the romantic tunes.

On Top of the World

It's a chilly cold day in Marshall. A Strange-looking group is hanging around the school carrying weird long bags or funky wear size XXL winter boots. They are the ski club waiting for the bus to come and pick them up to take them to the ski resort, Bittersweet.

Bittersweet offers 6 chair lifts plus a rope lift on the beginner slope. There are also 5 full size slopes with different degrees of difficulty. The moguls, rated the most difficult slope, attracted some of the ski club members, while some wanted to take it easy on the normal slopes. Bittersweet offers a ski club discount that members can use to get a ski pass for 8 dollars and can rent equipment for 8 bucks also.

The drop on the side of a slope interests many skiers that like speed more than safety, and that's where you can definitely see the coolest jumps (and falls).

Skiing is fun and ski club members have discovered the excitement of speed that comes from going down the hill.

Surf's up! Chris Montague snowboards down the snowy mainslope of Bittersweet. Snowboarding is becoming more and more popular way of getting down the hill.

Ready, set, smile! Brian Wolf, Gabe Robinson and Josh Metzger smile confidently on the bottom of the hill. In the background you can see the cafeteria where skiers could go and warm up after a while of skiing.

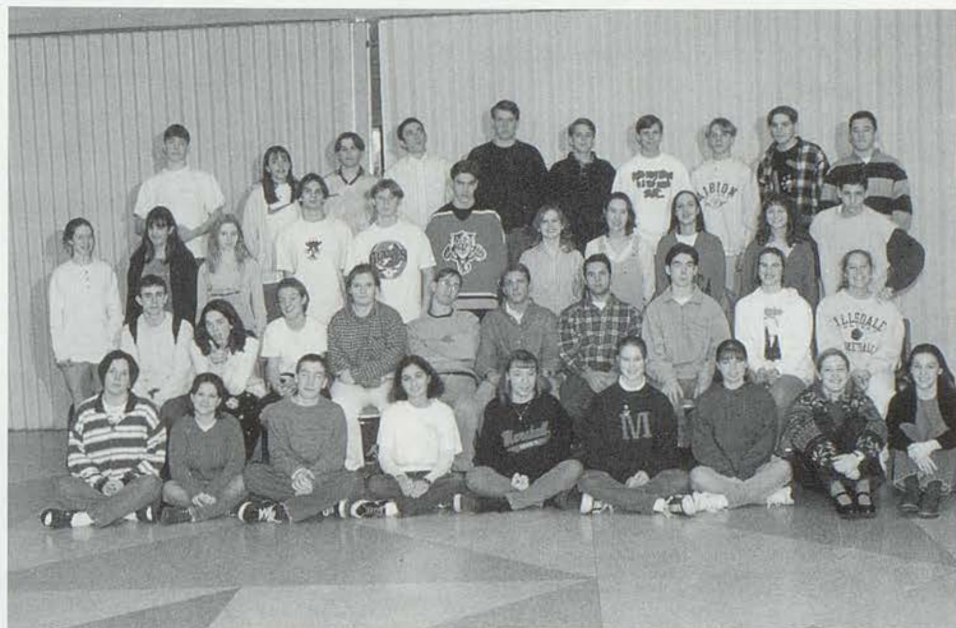

Have a break. Tyler Borghdorf and Ethan Ebner are having a well-deserved break after a couple hours of skiing. Weather conditions in Bittersweet were fairly decent for skiing.

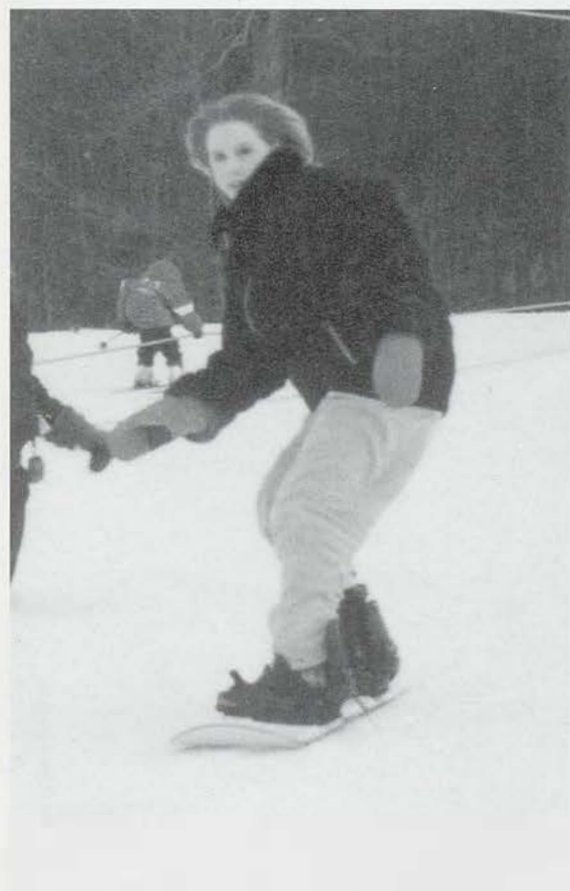

Jump! Ben Bosserd jumps off the ski lift bump. Ski lifts worked fairly well for many purposes taking people uphill and in the air.

Kristen Ditto works on her style of snowboarding on the beginner slope. The beginner slope offers a good opportunity to practice because the slope is not too steep.

Let's Get Physical

UHH, where'd they go? Carrie Whittaker, Kellie Butson, and Emily Dereski wait in anticipation for their volleyball game to start. Most of the games started on schedule at 7:30.

Intramurals allows friends to get together at the high school every Monday night to get a little physical on the court. The season began January 15 and went through March 25. When asking Mr. Reynolds what he thought about this year, he said, "We had a good turn out this year. With the help of Mr. Dryer, things went a lot smoother."

At the end of the season Mels Allsport won the guys part of intramurals. The members of Mels Allsport are Chad Nelson, P. J. Fraley, Adam Gase, J. D. Stealy, Eric Dale, Darin Lee, Jerrid Stepp, Jeremy Hackworth, Mike Sloan, and Corey Dale.

The Tulips II won the girls' season. The members are Kim Kutzli, Tiffany Rollo, Chris Dowding, Jill Treat, Allison Mead, Tiffany Tucker, Angie Reynolds, Christa Bischoff, and Janilee Bischoff. A special thank you to Mr. Reynolds, Mr. Dryer and all of the other people involved in intramurals for their time.

Hey momma, look at me now ... Jason Schnaitman ate his Flintstone's vitamins and grew awfully tall. Tall enough to glide by his defenders to attempt a slam dunk!

Setting up for an ace ... Emily Line gets ready to serve in an Intramural volleyball game. Intramurals were held every Monday night.

Focus, focus SHOOT!! Jim Kiebala, a member of the Rainbow Brites, gets ready to shoot the ball. At the end of the game, the Rainbow Brites pulled off a victory.

Give me a V for victory ... Intramural volleyball teams come together to rejoice no matter what the outcome of the game is. This promotes good sportsmanship.

Basket Case

Marshall High School Varsity Basketball players started out with a great season. They beat Homer, 75 to 58, in the beginning of the season. After that the season had its ups and downs, winning a game here and there.

They played hard and well, giving most teams they played a difficult challenge, especially Sturgis, when they were half way into the third quarter, down by 10, and ended up winning the game 59 to 56. "The game in which we beat Sturgis was the highlight of the season", said teammate Ben Marshall.

The team practiced every day after school during the season, and overall finished the season well.

Nobody does it better

The class of '98 has built up a phenomenal reputation as exceptional basketball players in their high school career. This year they continued their reign as Twin Valley Champions compiling a 10-2 record. Behind the starting line-up this team has a bench that could compete with any other teams starting line-up in the league.

The class of '97 also has a reputation as great basketball players. They had a great season under the coaching of Rich Hulkow as they combined their offense and defense to compile a 17-3 record. With these great players they will go far.

The freshmen and J.V. teams have great potential and futures ahead of them. Marshall should look ahead with great expectations for their boys' basketball program.

Get ready for this

"M, M, M to the H; H, H, H to the S; M to the H; H to the S; MHS!" No, this is not a typo. It's just one of the many new chants the Varsity Cheerleaders used to cheer their players on to victory. With a little bit of the old added to something new, this year's squad rocked on to a victorious season.

With the addition of three new guy cheerleaders, the squad was stronger than ever. John Dobbins, Matt Paulson, and J. D. Stealy helped the girls support the basketball players. "It's definitely been a different experience for me.

It's fun hanging out with some of the girls," stated John Dobbins on his first year as a cheerleader. J. D. Stealy said, "Although some people gave us a hard time, we had fun getting the crowd geeked up." The girls were all for the guys being a part of the squad. When Mariah Musselman was asked what she liked best about cheerleading she answered, "I like the way our team worked together to help enhance school spirit."

Great job, girls (and guys!) on a wonderful season. We hope that this year has started a new tradition.

Clap your hands

Although the Marshall JV cheerleaders consisted of only five girls, they were known for getting the stands riled up and rockin' for the JV basketball games. This group of enthusiastic individuals was made up of Krysten Sanford, Kelly Winchester, Crystal Amaro, Jenny Crampton, and Nicole Stone. The JV cheerleading squad combined their voices at each game to pump up the JV basketball players and cheer them on to a winning season. "When the girls started cheering, it took me and my teammates to another level. They really helped us turn it up," stated John Thompson, a member of the JV basketball team. Crowd participation is another important factor in getting the team pumped up during the game. All of the girls worked really hard this season to learn new and exciting cheers that would get the crowd involved. The response from the stands was very enthusiastic. One fan stated, "I have been going to the basketball games for years and they have never been this fun. I love the new cheers that the cheerleaders are doing!" Overall, it was a very successful season for the JV cheerleading squad. Good job girls!

We are the CHAMPIONS

Champions is one word of many that can describe this year's wrestling team. The team, consisting of only three seniors, was young but successful. The team sent four wrestlers to Regionals: sophomores Ben Gase, Alan Fleming; Junior Jerrid Stepp, and Senior Chris Hug. Gase, Stepp, and Hug placed second at Regionals, qualifying them for State. Unfortunately Fleming broke his leg in practice and was unable to participate in the Regional meet. "At first I was really disappointed but I realized I still had two years left," stated Al.

As a team they won the Twin Valley and fell just one point short of qualifying for Team Regionals. Along with the four that made it to Regionals the team was helped out by Freshmen Alex Goodman, Nick Barnes, Arlie Endsley, sophomores Nick Dereski, Adam Wilson, Will Day, Justin Fields, and Junior Jason Clemens. Only losing three wrestlers, the team will come back strong next year.

Pump it up

This year's Girls Volleyball team was quite young, but didn't let it show one bit when they gave favorites like the Lakeview Spartans a run for their money.

The volleyball team of last year was ranked tenth in the state, which is quite an honor. Despite not being ranked this year, the record doesn't measure up to the amount of talent and hard work displayed by these fine competitors. Impressively enough, especially for having a shorter team, their defense was one of the best in the state. This team's chemistry was an important part of their success. "Despite of all the obstacles we all knew we had to fight hard," said Senior Penny Barnes. Even though they lost to several teams less talented than themselves, they always seemed to step it up a notch against tougher competition. Among their many accomplishments the girls won their district this year.

Tear the ROOF off the sucker

This year the JV and Freshman Volleyball teams were on a three step program: bump, set, and SPIKE! This winter, volleyball was a way of life for these two teams who were determined to win, and that's what they did.

The Junior Varsity team was unstoppable! With their excellent coach Gina Loveless, who made them work extremely hard to achieve their goals, they came out of their season with a 22-8-2 record. Anne Kellogg, who played on the JV team last year, led this year's team to their impressive record. Anne also received help from the tower in the middle, Jessica Bassis, who repeatedly pounded the ball into opposing players' faces. With the incredible team unity and leadership that this year's JV team possesses, it's easy to see why they tore through this season.

Although this year's freshmen team didn't post as good a record as the JV, they did prove that they'd be a force to reckon with in the coming years. Some comments made by some of the older, wiser Varsity players were that Nicole Bazubik has great potential as a middle hitter, and Jessica Rewa works well reading the hitters in the back row. They also said that Courtney Woods and Jen Stevens were great all around and kept the team together. These two volleyball teams give great hope to all the coaches for the coming years and are sure to be the teams to look out for.

Who would have thought that a group of guys dressed up in nothing but a Speedo could cause so much trouble. This year's swim team has certainly left their mark. They sent seven people to the State meet this year. The crew they sent included in the 200 medley of Rob Brownell, Karl Kowalske, Dan Schroeder and David Yang and the 400 medley relay of Rob Brownell, Jeff Evans, Billy Umphrey and Mike Weaver. Also going to State in other events were Billy Umphrey in the 200 Free, Dan Schroeder in the 100 Breast stroke and Rob Brownell in the 100 Fly. When asked how he felt about attending his first State meet Billy Umphrey stated that, "I thought it was neat being able to go my freshman year. Hopefully by my senior year I can place top six in some event."

All the guys agreed that the meet against Sturgis was a very important one for them. After creaming the Trojans 108 to 78, as a gesture of good faith Rob handed out his senior pictures to all of the Trojans for a remembrance. Congratulations for a job well done and good luck to next year's team of Speedo-wearing men.

Here Comes The SUN

Spring is a busy time of year at Marshall High School. Many students are involved with spring sports and other spring time events, such as the spring musical, "The Wiz", and 50's Day. Others are busy preparing for their final exams and looking forward to the end of the school year.

All of the sports teams worked very hard and had successful seasons. The boy's track team finished fourth place in the Twin Valley. The girl's track team had a very successful season, too. The team can credit part of their success, in part, to four very talented freshmen that joined the team this year, Jen Stevens, Jenny Bramble, Sara Dillman, and Wendy Etue. The girl's golf team can be very proud of their performance this season, as well. The girls took second place at Regionals and placed fifth in the State, overall. The girl's JV and Varsity soccer teams also had very impressive seasons. Their records were 10-2-1 and 7-7-2, respectively. The varsity girl's soccer team also made it to District Finals because of their hard work and dedication. The baseball, softball, and tennis teams also did well this season.

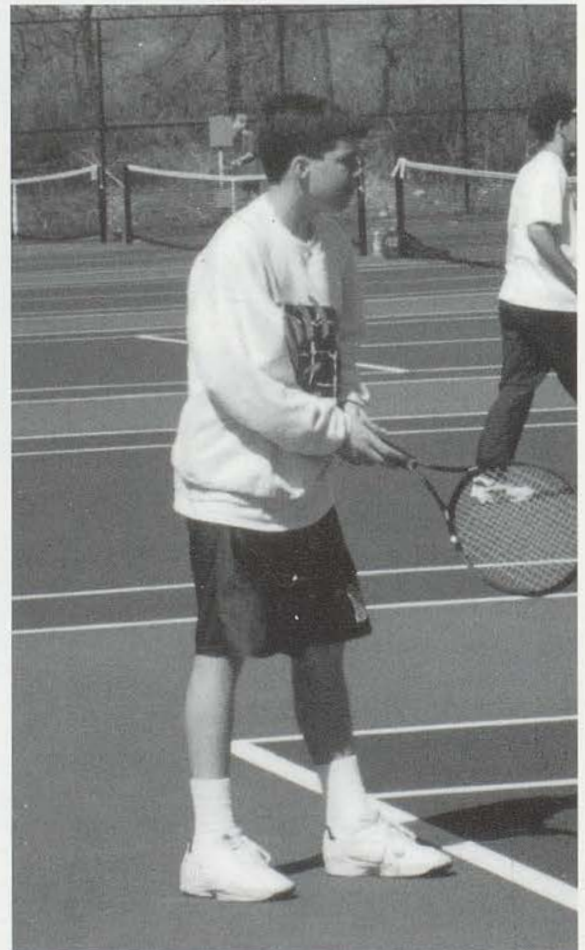

Prom is another big event during the spring months. This year the Junior class decided to break the tradition of having Prom at Stouffer's and held the event at the Federal Center in Battle Creek. The decor of the Federal Center ballroom went right along with the medieval theme that was chosen for the big event. Many people said they liked having Prom at the Federal Center because there was more room to dance than there was at Stouffer's in the previous years.

After Prom and sports are over, the school year goes by very fast. Talk of graduation and summer vacation fills the halls at Marshall High School. Everyone is ready for some fun in the sun.

Making new friends
 Spring is the ideal time for beginning new friendships. Here, John Dobbins spends some quality time with his new buddy, Fortifur.

What's so funny

Shark Attack

Veena Narasimhan doesn't know what to do while her brother is getting swallowed by a shark. They went to Universal Studios for their vacation.

My buddies

Michelle Bivins, Maggie Kendall, Sara Duffey, and Jen Stout gather for a quick picture in front of a palm tree. The girls spent their Spring Break in sunny Daytona this year.

New Experiences

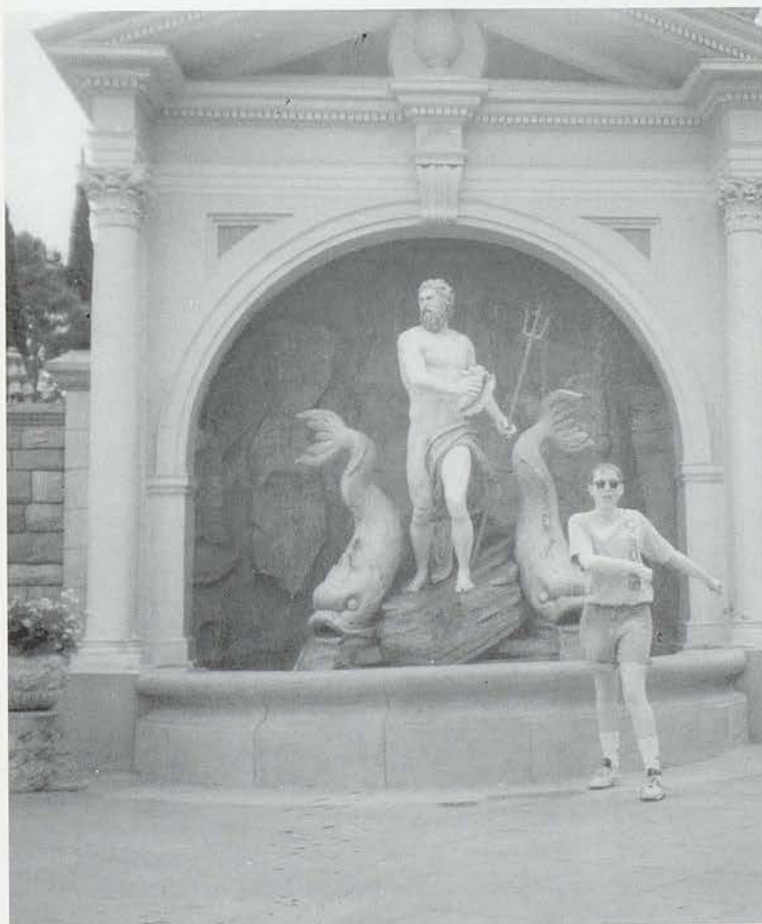

For some, Spring break means learning something new. Playing the organ is just one of the many new things Elizabeth Squier learned to do.

Look ma it's the Mackinac
Minchie Walters frolics by Lake Superior. She went up to the UP for her Spring Break vacation. The weather wasn't the best but she managed to grin and bear it.

The Scarecrow (Nate Cox) sings out his sorrowful, short-life story to Dorothy with the accompaniment of crow that aren't afraid of him. His one desire is to have a brain.

Hooray!
All the Emerald City citizens, including Sarah Collins and Lauren Rocho, rejoiced after Evillene melted away. Everyone did the limbo and balloons dropped in celebration!

Let us point you toward the Wiz!
Addaperle (Kate Goedde) and the Munchkins informed Dorothy (Cammy Edsall) about the odds and ends of Oz. Dorothy's best bet at getting home would be to follow the dancing bricks directly to the Wiz.

I love boys!
These studs, Jacob Gates and Kris Tarkiewicz, escorted in gracefully singing Glinda and, as a special surprise, carried out a giggling happy Addaperle. Glinda's song stirred actual thought in these two!

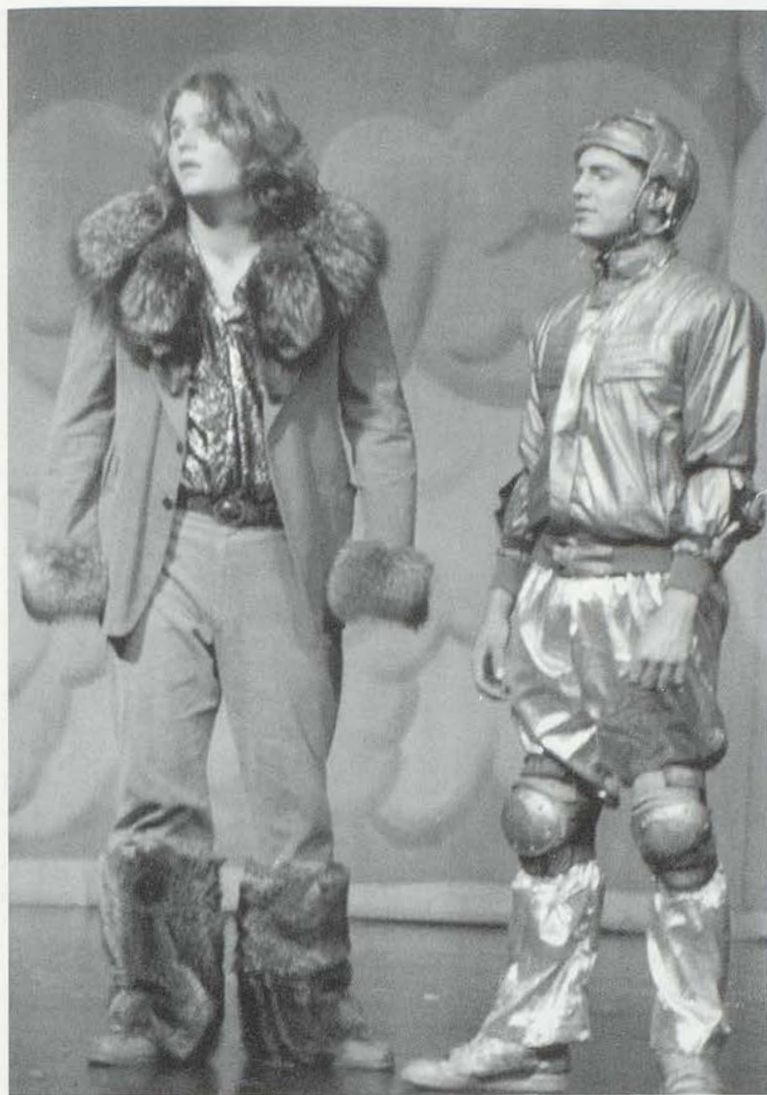

I'm a mean ol' lion!!
During a rehearsal, Greg Trax dragged Nate Cox across the stage as a display of his lion fierceness. As it turns out, when Dorothy flicked his nose and growled back, the Lion was only a coward. He sure fooled everyone! Then, after meeting the Poppies and ending up all loopy, singing "In the Jungle" and getting busted by the Field Mice Patrol, he eventually got his courage and everything was "All right!"

A liberated woman!
No Winkie dared cross Rachel Kelly as Evillene. One hint of bad news and she'd put a pox on your house or a spell on your coconuts!

We'll miss you. Saying good-bye was the hardest part of the journey for Lion (Greg Trax) and Tin Man (Kevin Rayner).

A whole New World

The Wiz followed the same storyline as the classic Wizard of Oz, only with much more pizzazz! The show was total excitement from start to finish with dancing bricks, singing crows, talking food, winged monkeys, feel good flowers, and much more. Not to mention the dazzling costumes and wild, colorful set pieces adding to the effect! Each song had a certain stylish swing to it that made it stick in your head days after seeing it! Who could forget Rachel Kelly (Evillene) storming the stage with "No Bad News", or Kevin Rayner (Tin Man) loosening up with "Slide Some Oil To Me", and even Carrie Conklin's (Glinda) soothing performance of "A Rested Body is a Rested Mind"? The jazzy style of dance moves was a new experiment for our theater department, which turned out simply marvelous! All on a newly refinished stage! All these elements and great chemistry brought up a whirl-wind of energy everyone could sense.

A lot of fun and memories were made during The Wiz. Things didn't always go right, like when there was a certain costume "shift" on stage, or being seen when the curtain opens, but that's all part of the fun. Each senior felt a sense of sadness as the curtain closed for the last time, ending another chapter of high school. This show truly was an adventure for all those who ventured to be it or see it. We took a bare stage and transformed it into the musical land of Oz. Be sure to watch out for the returning talent next year!

Winged monkey fly! These funky monkeys were called in to do Evillene's dirty work. Putting the spunk in the monk's here are Ben Hess and Jacob Washburn.

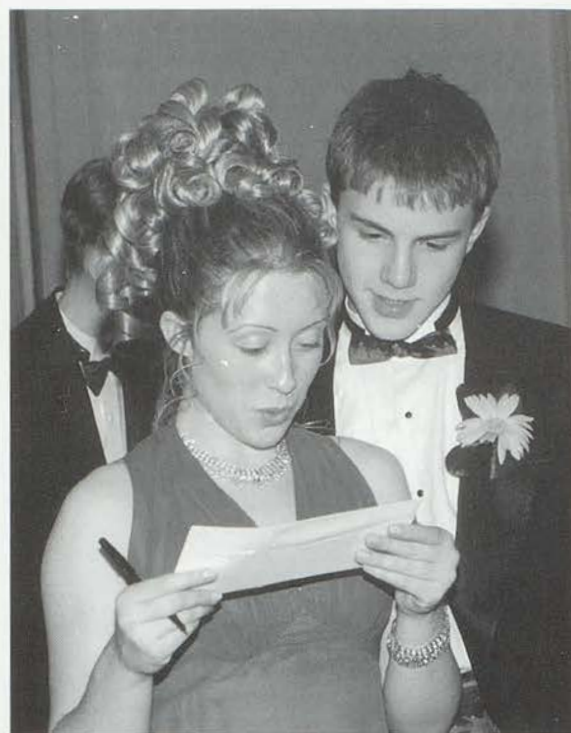

Easin' on down the road After adventuresome introductions, their worries were left behind as the four new friends dance down the yellow brick road together.

Oh what a night

"I think the music, theme, and setting of Prom made it enjoyable for everyone. It was an incredible end to my Senior year," remarked Penny Barnes.

It began like it ended. Music floated from the hall as couples entered the ballroom. Candles flickered on the tables while couples sat and talked. Out in the hall a castle front lingered in the background. Prom night 1996 had begun.

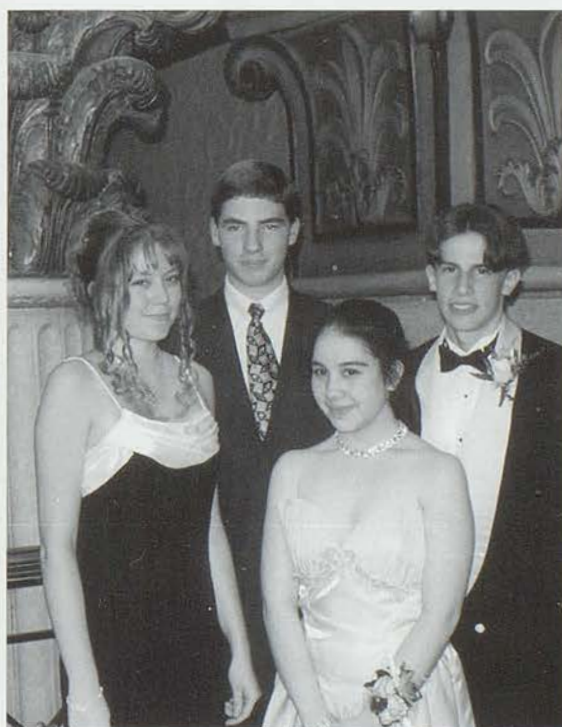

Months of planning by the Junior Committee were over and the night had arrived. The Committee, headed by Junior Class President Matt Bramble, with the help of Joan Saber, Mr. Malinowski and other classmates, worked together to plan the enchanted evening. They would finally see their hours of hard work pay off. "I'm thankful for the dedicated people who showed up to the meetings and helped with the set-up; I couldn't have done it without them." commented Matt Bramble after the Prom.

Mid-Knight Magic was the chosen theme for the evening. This year the prom was held in the Battle Creek Federal Center Ballroom. A red runner lead the way from the entrance to the ballroom steps. The flags provided an arch over the path to the steps. Inside the ballroom they lead the way to the spacious dance floor. The fountain was the center piece, dividing the dance floor into two sections.

It took one's breath away to see the young ladies in glamorous gowns. The young gentlemen left behind their tee-shirts and jeans for tuxedos and bow ties. Even with the ill-fitted clothing of some, a good time was had by all. The time had come when all of the primping would pay off. Dinner jitters were over and the time to dance had come.

As the magic continued Mr. Davis gave a toast to the Prom Committee and the Senior class. The night was a success that ended anti-climatically with the last song being "The Dance" by Garth Brooks. Prom '96 may have ended but the memories will be with us forever.

Lookin' good
Lunchtime was transformed as Marshall High School took a step back in time. We turned the time back not one, not five, or even ten, but forty years. Melissa Bice, Carrie Whittaker, and Jen Ferencz show they can do the dances popular in the 1950's. Carrie and Jen sport typical fifties attire, poodle skirts and sweaters. The special day was enjoyed by seniors and underclassmen alike. The underclassmen can all look forward to the end of their senior year when it will be their turn to dance lunch away!

This line-up of senior girls shakes their tails to a familiar fifties tune. The girls really enjoyed this silly dance.

Twist and Shout

About 15 years ago, two young teachers (Arn and Burns) looked for a way to make the sometimes dull season of early Spring more exciting. Their answer came in the form of slicked back hair, saddle shoes, and poodle skirts. Fifties day was born. Initially the event started out as a dance at night too. Mr. Burns stated, "It was really popular at first. Five or six hundred kids would come, but we stopped having it when only twenty freshmen or so would show up to dance in the gym." Even though the days of the sock hop at Marshall High have come and gone, the seniors still enjoy the end of the year tradition.

Bust a move

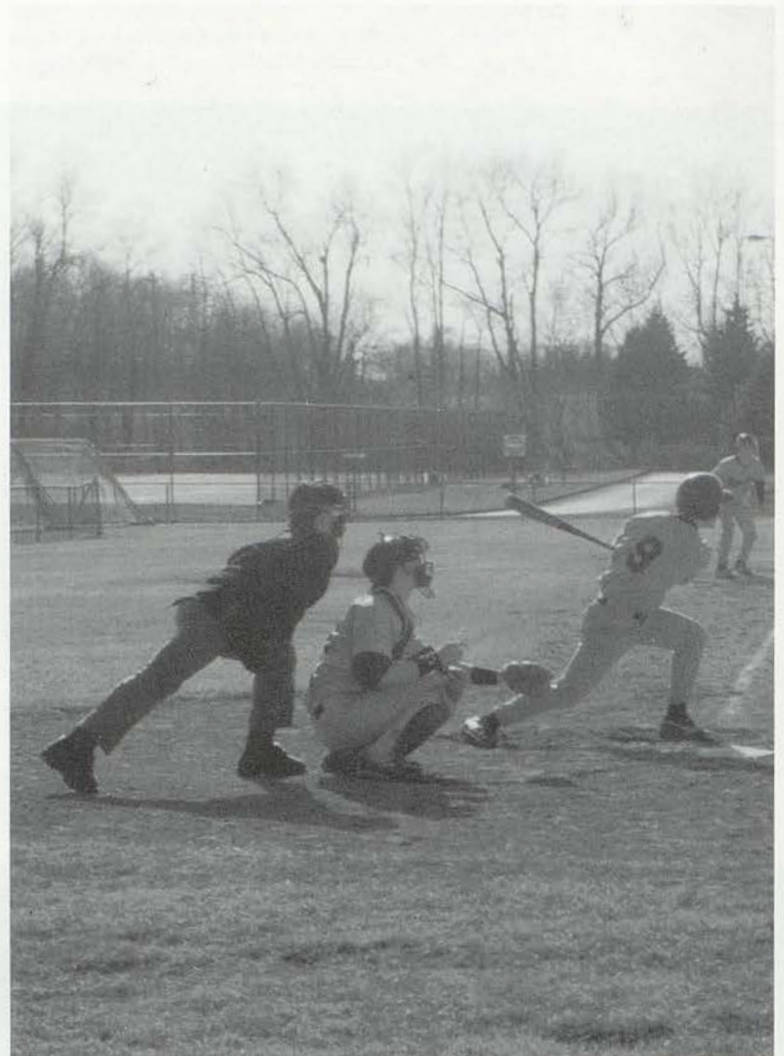

This hip daddy-o may look like a construction worker, but it's really Arn, attempting to portray a member of the Village People. Many students found his interpretation of YMCA to be uncanny.

Batter up
Jeremy Hackworth gets prepared to blast the ball into the parking lot. Josh Heppner warms up in the background.

This year's Boys Varsity Baseball Squad was full of promise and desire. In their first confrontation they took on the Battle Creek Central Bearcats. The Bearcats, with a state ranking, came into the game thinking they would walk all over the spirited Redskins. That never happened. The Redskins showed the arrogant Bearcats that they came to play with their game faces on, and we destroyed their record along with their confidence. The team's talent and work ethic was extraordinary. Teamwork and talent together equalled a great hitting average. "The pitching staff this year was solid," quoted senior first baseman Josh Heppner. The future is looking even brighter with returning standouts J. D. Stealy, Ben Gase, John Dobbins, Shawn Kelly and Ben Bosserd. Memorable reflections on the season is when P. J. Fraley dove into the fence in order to prevent a home run.

When I Come Around

The Marshall High School Junior Varsity and Freshmen Baseball teams started out with a great season. With high spirits and a lot of motivation, both teams played well throughout the season. The JV team started out with three wins in a row, and the Freshmen team also started out with the same winning streak. Both teams had many game cancellations, but the JV team made up most of their games. As far as the Freshmen are concerned they only got to play 11 out of the 25 scheduled games. "The season was great, but it was way too short. I had a lot of fun, and so did many of my teammates," said Phil Galloway of the Freshmen team.

Get ready for this Allison Mead gets ready to throw a pitch to a Coldwater Cardinal player. Allison had a very good season as a pitcher this year.

When's it gonna get here? Carey Dowding waits for the ball to arrive to her in right field. This was her second year on the Varsity Softball Team.

Let me see it Angie Brubaker, Leslie Booth, and Amanda Kimball sit on the bench to wait for their turn to play ball. Angie and Jenny hope to return next year and play softball.

Let's sun bathe While Amy Anderson helps the coach with the record keeping, Katy Tarmnel and Jenny Kimmerer wait to get into the game. Every person got a chance to play and try to support the team.

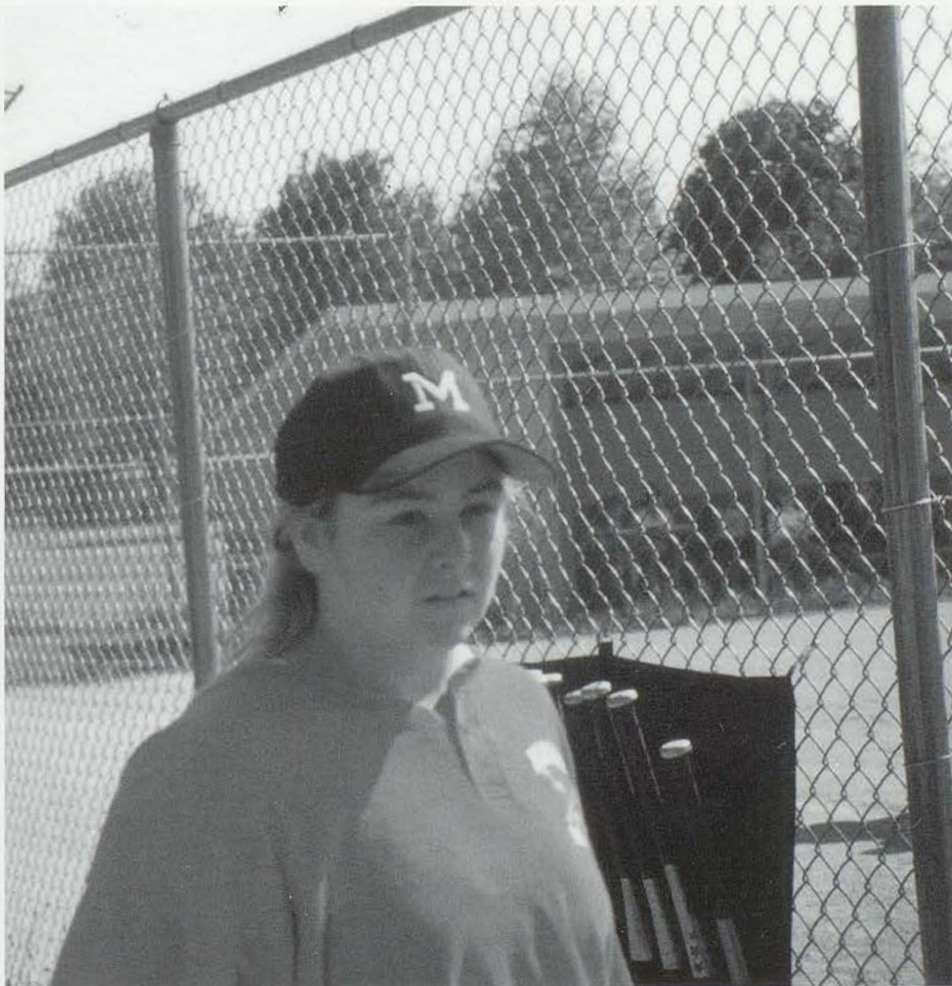

Come on, give it to me
Shannon Goodwin waits for the ball in left field. Shannon was on the JV team last year, but was moved up this year.

Who can I run to

The Varsity Softball players ended their season with over ten wins this season. Their season was very excellent compared to others in the Twin Valley. The team consisted of seven seniors, four juniors and two sophomores.

When Carey Dowding, was asked how the season went she said, "The season was really fun, and I had a lot of fun working with my teammates. I'm glad I got to participate in softball this year." Let's hope next year's team does as well.

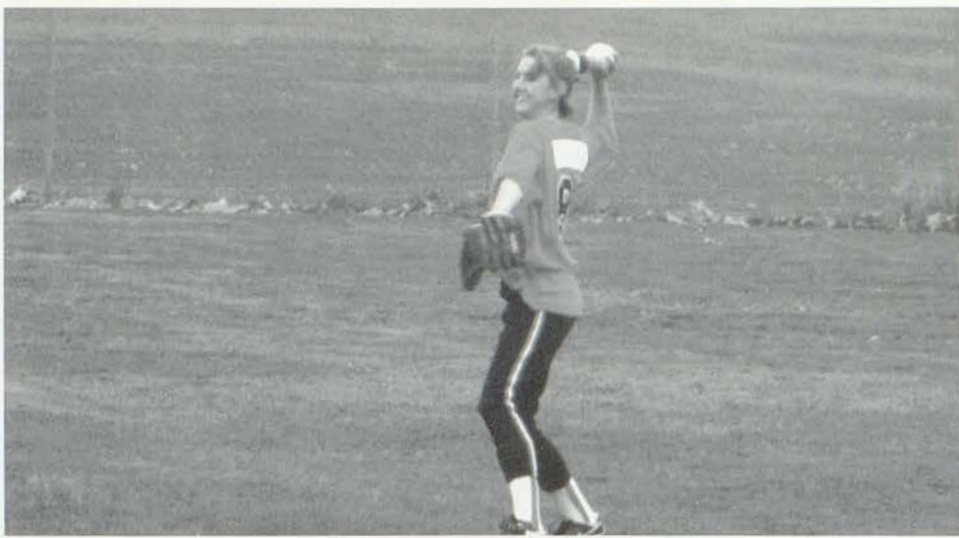

Do I have to go out on the field?
Emily Dereski leaves the dugout and approaches the field. This was Emily's second year on the Varsity Softball Team.

Incoming Senior Kristy Sunderman throws a loose ball to the infield. Kristy joined the team late in the season, but always had a great time!

On target Freshmen Kelly Winchester throws the ball right on target. Next year, with all the freshmen returning, the J.V. squad promises to be solid.

Play the Field

Concentration

Sophomore Angie Brubaker snags a grounder and gets ready to throw somebody out. Angie had a great season, and can't wait to play next year.

The 1996 J.V. Softball team took its bumps and bruises this season with a 5-14 overall record. Much of the team had little experience, but the girls played hard every game and never gave up. Coach Julie Hendricks said she was very pleased with the girls' attitudes throughout the season and says she looks forward to a more experienced team and improved record next year.

At the end of the season many of the sophomore girls were moved up to the Varsity squad. Although the girls didn't get a whole lot of playing time, it was a great experience. Next year the girls will only be more prepared for the Varsity season.

Teamwork

The J.V. team huddles together at the beginning of one of their games. Even if record-wise the season wasn't record-breaking, the girls all had a great time and look forward to next season.

In there Sophomore Amanda Kimball puts a lot of concentration and arm into this pitch. Amanda was moved up to Varsity at the end of the season.

Keep on truckin' Senior Kristy Sunderman rounds the bases during the game. Even though Kristy won't be on the team next year, she knows they'll have a great season!

Take a Breather
Third year Varsity player, Tommy Lam, takes a break between matches. Tommy has had the experience of competing against many advanced players.

Just Chillin
Peter Brundage relaxes before a tough match against Sturgis. This is the first time Marshall has won against Sturgis in about thirty-four years!

Getting ready to go
A group of eager players, including Mike Shirey, Peter Brundage, and Florian Link wait anxiously to get started on another game. This year has proved competitive and tough.

Varsity Tennis

Where's the ball?
John Thompson keeps his form as he tries hard to wait for the ball. John's been a part of the Varsity team for two years.

I'm waiting!
 Ryan Traver waits patiently for his opponent to serve the ball. After one year of playing on J.V. his skills improved and he advanced to the Varsity team.

It Just Won't Quit

This year's Varsity Tennis team is even stronger than it was last year. With five returning underclassmen, they've held up their tradition of trying their hardest to be the best. The team also consists of one freshman (Alex Blum) and two foreign exchange students, Steffen Jepsen and Florian Link.

Like last year, Marshall placed first in the Sports Festival with many personal bests. They also placed third in the Twin Valley Tournament, and fourth at Regionals. However, their overall record turned out to be better. They won ten of the twelve games they played - the best record they've had in the past few years. "I'm very pleased to be part of a team that's done so well and so much." Matt Rodgers agreed.

This year has had many highlights. Besides the fact that the team has made an excellent record, they actually beat Sturgis. Marshall High hasn't beat them in at least 34 years. Peter Brundage commented, "Beating Sturgis has shown me that anything's possible with sheer will and determination."

So to the 1995-1996 Marshall Varsity Tennis Team, congratulations on a well-done season, and good luck to those returning players.

I'm gonna whop you
 Freshman Alex Blum gets ready to beat his opponent to a pulp. Alex is the only freshman on the Varsity team this year. He really enjoys playing tennis for school and even plays in his leisure time.

I'm so beautiful
 Aaron Brumfield practices his professional form. This was Aaron's first year on the team.

 John Turner attempts to distract Andrew Neidlinger from hitting the ball better than John can. John played third singles this year and Andrew played first doubles with David Ruesch.

Here ya' go
 Luke Peck receives a great lob. Luke played with Derek Dee in the second doubles position.

Great balls of fire

This year's J.V. Tennis team made a big improvement from last year. With more matches than last year, the team had plenty of chances for more wins, so they took advantage of that.

Coach Jody Foreman's professional tennis skills really helped last year's returning part of the team, but it helped the newcomers even more. With Coach Foreman's help, Luke Peck and Derek Dee finished the season in the second doubles position, and Andrew Neidlinger and David Ruesch in the first doubles position.

Coach Foreman had this to say about this year's J.V. Tennis team: "I felt it was a phenomenal season. We were a very tough team for Sturgis to beat and we took third with Coldwater in the Lakeview invitational. If there was a way for this year's team to play last year's team, this year's team would beat last year's 7-0. They've improved so much and I am very proud of this year's team and can't wait until next season."

Most of the team will be returning next season, and a lot of new freshmen will really help the team a lot. With Coach Foreman's help, the team will be a very tough challenge for everyone.

I'm outta' here
Kris Tarkiewicz packs up his racket after a long practice. Kris helped the team a lot playing in the fourth singles spot.

Back row: Coach Phillips, Maggie Kendall, Randi Pepper, Sara Duffey, Jen Stout, Rachel Kelly, Coach Ashton.

Active and Kickin'

The freight train rumbles through Ilo Mathewson heads the ball forward as she tears down the field. Ilo was a main part of the defensive juggernaut of this year's team.

Scoring at will was a repeated ritual for the Varsity Girls Soccer team this season. With the leading goal scorers from last year, Kelly Kiewiet and Jen Stout, returning for this season, the opposing goalies knew that the net they were tending would be receiving a large number of shots. Kelly and Jen were not the only people attacking the goal. Liz Smith also unloaded many lethal shots on goal and was the other player to make up the "Trio of Fabulous Forwards." Although scoring is great, "defense wins games," as they say, and the girls didn't lack in this department at all. Anne Kellogg and Amy Rosko led this talented defensive juggernaut. Game in and game out the girls on defense hustled, scrapped, and sacrificed their bodies for the team. The determination of the defense and the relentless attack put on by the offense propelled the team to the district finals and a record of 7-7-2.

Keep me searching for a higher goal

This year's JV Soccer team was young but forceful. They had a record of 10-2-1, and came out and played hard every game. They had around 25-27 members and all but seven were freshmen. This year the team was hampered by injuries, but it didn't seem to dampen their spirit or their skill. When asked about his team Coach McCauley had no trouble in praising his team, "It was a great year, one of the most successful JV team in Marshall history. We beat Lakeview and that right there makes for a good season. The best thing about this year is that everyone contributed, it was a total team effort." Since the team is so young it holds promise for the Marshall program that the next couple years will be successful.

Who made the shot?

While the girls weren't playing themselves they helped keep stats, so they're in the game when they're not.

Who's got the food! After games the girls always received food for their efforts during the game. The girls always took turns bringing the food.

Where's the ball? Members of both teams fight for control of the ball. Possession and playing the ball are keys to winning the game.

We Go 'Round In Circles

A close call Pole vaulter Kevin Rayner flies to get over the bar. His best vault this year was 12'6".

The 1996 track season was a successful season with the team placing 4th in the Twin Valley. Leading the way for the Redskins were senior tri-captains Jeff Evans, Josch Banfield, and Steve Thurman. With Jeff and Matt Bramble running distance, Eric Dale running mid-distance and Ryan and Adam Saylor cleaning up in the sprints, it was always a good meet to watch. The field events also played an important part this season with Kevin Rayner in the pole vault, Norm Dabbs in the high jump, Mike Frost in the long jump, and throwing the shot and discus was Steve Thurman.

This year's seniors had some great performances; however, they only sent one to State. Ryan Saylor qualified for State in the 200 m dash. The seniors will be missed, but the freshmen have worked hard to fill their shoes.

Going strong
Junior Eric Dale runs hard to finish his lap of the 1600 m relay. This relay team improved since last year and hopes to do better next year.

Time to BURN

At a medium pace Jenny Bramble keeps a steady pace throughout the race preventing herself from becoming too tired out to finish. Jenny was very talented at knowing how fast her pace should be to keep her team in the lead.

As I neared the track the smell of burning rubber overwhelmed me. At that moment I realized the Girls' Track team was blazing their trail to victory. The girls put their opponents to shame as they dusted them in one event after another. Although this was a rare occurrence, the girls put forth a valiant effort every time they laced up their spikes. The girls ended up with a 2 - 6 record at the end of the year thanks to their excellent coaching staff. The team captain Liz "skywalker" Pedranzan is not only an amazing high jumper, but she shows great leadership skills on and off the track. Another important member of the team is Jodi "the Wyld Stalyn" Rogers who was infamous for placing in the 1600 meter race and 3200 meter relay. The fantastic foursome of Freshmen consisted of Jen Stevens, Jenny Bramble, Sara Dillman, and Wendy Etue. The coaches were not worried about having an excellent team in the future thanks to the fabulous four. The girls had a great time this year and in the process they learned how "team" is actually spelled.

A skip, hop, and a jump away from victory Leigh Ann Burger sends her body soaring across the sand pit and put her opponents in the dust. Leigh Anne was a valuable asset to the team this year helping them clear their path to a great season.

Use the force Liz

The 1996 Girls' Golf team enjoyed one of their greatest seasons ever. They began the season ranked sixth in the state, and finished fifth after a great showing at the State Tournament in East Lansing. They began the season with big win over Concord, and continued to smoke their opponents the rest of the way.

The girls cruised through Regionals, and took second place. They qualified for the class B, C, D State tournament. The State Tournament is a two day tournament. Twelve teams qualified to compete on Friday, but only ten competed on Saturday. # Oh Whatta Thrill

In the 1995-96 school year Marshall High School continued the eight block system. This was the second year of the eighty-five minute-classes. This was a new concept for the incoming freshmen. Freshmen Kim Organek stated, "At the beginning the classes dragged on forever, but now I am used to it."

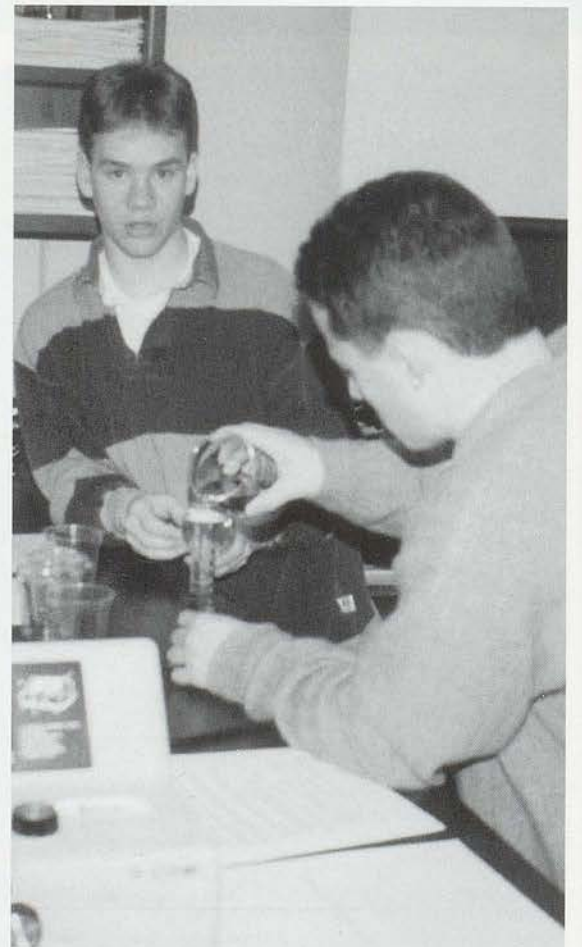

Seminar is a time that students get to work on homework and get extra help from their teachers. "I get to work on my homework while having a lot of fun," stated Jason Peterson. Not many changes were made from last year except for advisor. Advisor used to take place of seminar on every Friday. Now we have advisor once per marking period. Advisor is a time where the students talk to their teachers and other students about what is taking place at Marshall High School.

All in all this was a good school year and everything seemed to continue to move smoothly. As we continue to smooth out the rough edges of the eight-block system it should keep on improving.

Computer time

Meredith Kubicek and Liz Pedranzan think carefully before writing their captions. Due to the fact that there was only two computers for twenty-one students, computer time was limited.

Overload

Ben Marshall takes a short rest due to his writer's block. This was Ben's first year of journalism class. He now knows the challenges that a journalism student faces.

Ian Schnaitman sometimes worked on yearbook business in the athletic office during class. Ian was our business and advertising manager which included a great deal of responsibility.

Circle of Friends. Sarah Royster, Andie Cornwell, Jodi Roders, and Penny Barnes work on indexing pages. The index is simple but it takes time and a lot of patience.

Just a little patience Meredith Kubicek looks over song titles for a headline. In the first few days of class, students came up with 1500 song titles. From those titles we created our headlines.

I know that it's here Minchie Walters and Emily Morey sort through pictures in order to finish their pages on time. On an average, yearbook uses about 75 roles of film per year.

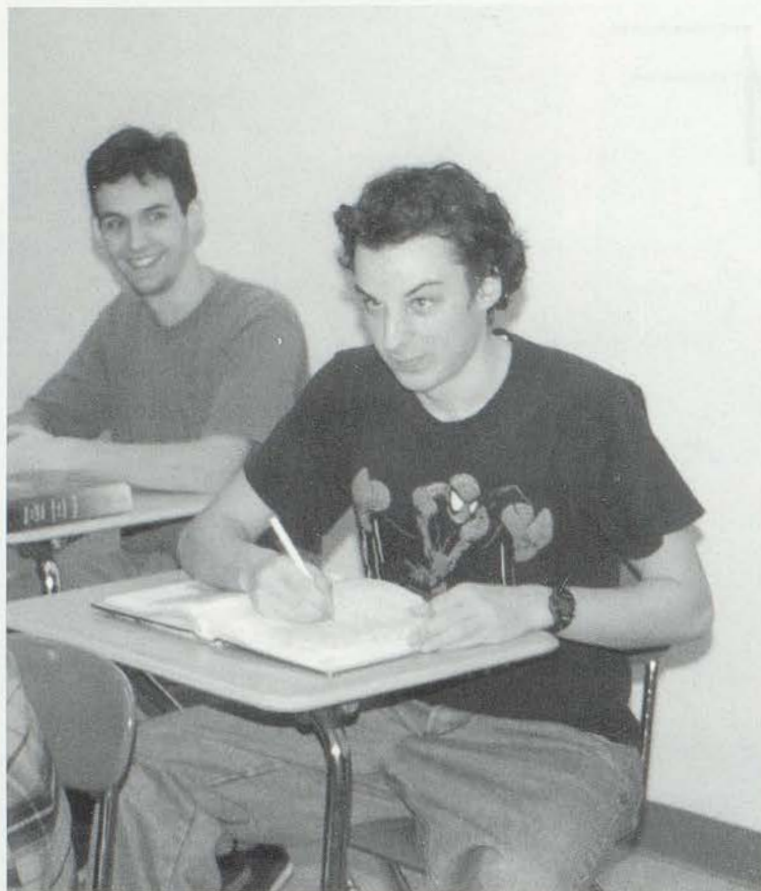

Help me! In distress Beth Kivin tries hard to figure out what to do next. Deadlines are very important things to meet for a successful yearbook.

Interesting?
Mr. Ickes uses the Media Center for his own purposes while his eleventh grade class works on their research papers. In English 11 Honors the papers must be eight to ten pages long, roughly twice the length of English 10 papers.

Workin' Hard
Derek Dee works patiently with the microfilm, taking notes for his research paper. Juniors have several due dates connected to their papers, and one is at least 35 notecards which must be shown to the teacher.

Elysia the Great
Elysia Hecox practices Forensics in the hallway. Forensics may be substituted for Senior English. Members of the Forensics team compete in weekend tournaments, rather than just doing the regular classroom work.

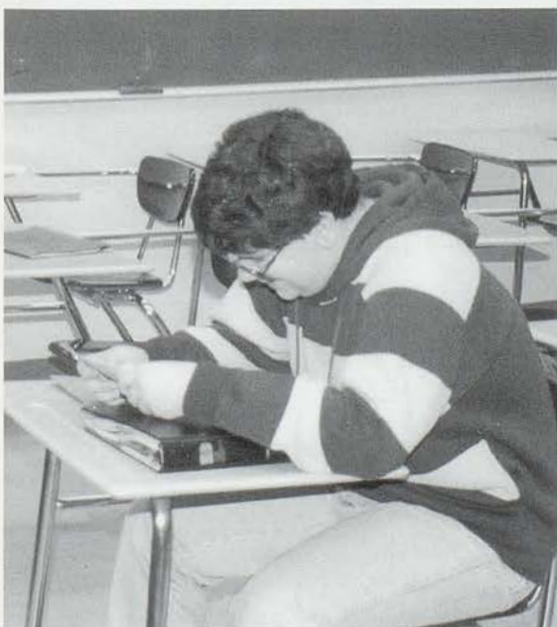

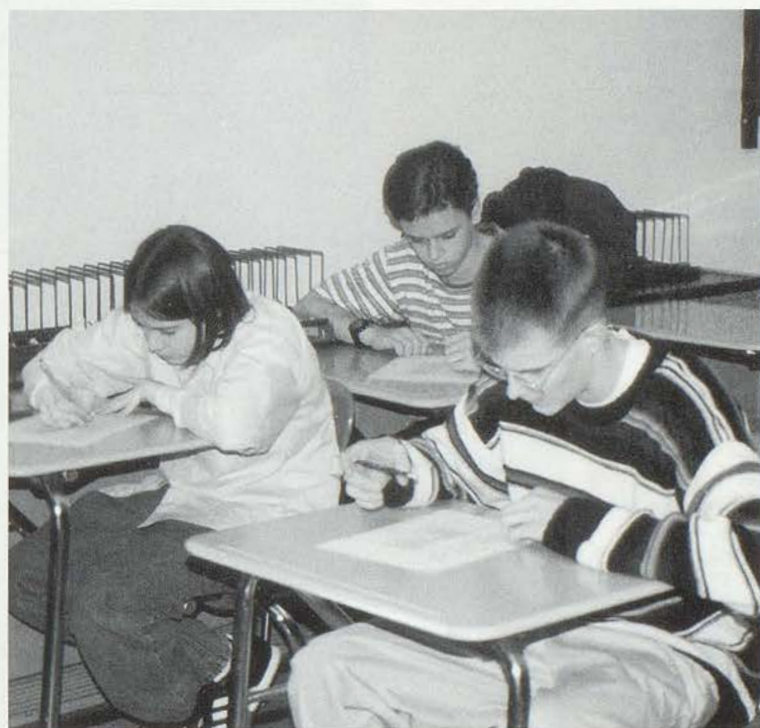

Listening?
Members of Mrs. Emery's English 11 class study Huck Finn by Mark Twain. Juniors read several novels by American authors in their study of American Literature.

Teamwork
Katie Gray and Liz Squire work together in their English class. Freshmen are introduced to Shakespeare with Romeo and Juliet and Dickens with Great Expectations.

Is it hard?
Richie Hugget, Kevin Hutchins, and Ryan Triece take a test in English 9 Honors. Honors classes cover the same material as regular classes, but at a faster pace.

Why me?
B. J. Ziskal did not want to show his look during French class in Ms. Ward's room. He has his fans though; Liz Smith and Elizabeth Mathieu smile happily because they think he does not look that bad. They are a real moral support during trouble times.

Maureen interrupts at that moment asking Mr. Walton for a better explanation.

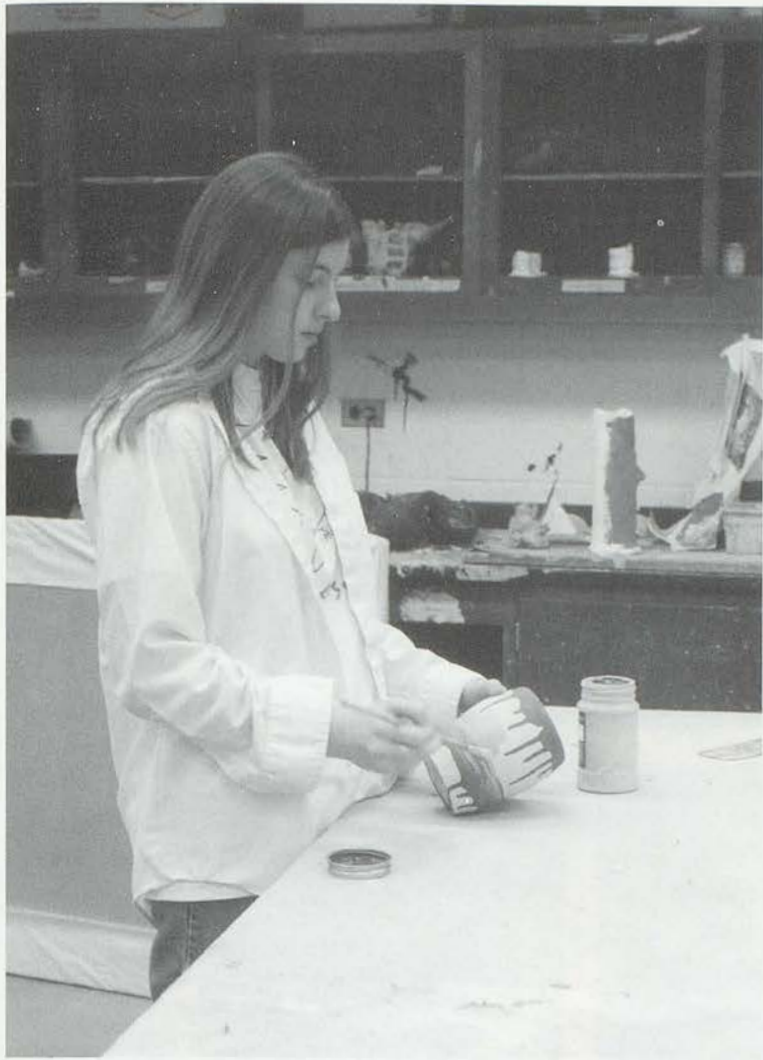

Could you move that can, Jesse? The independent art student and senior, Jesse Bell, works on another of his modern art pieces. Unfortunately, he only showed us half of it. At the same moment, Jim Doolittle goes to think about his work taking his materials to his table.

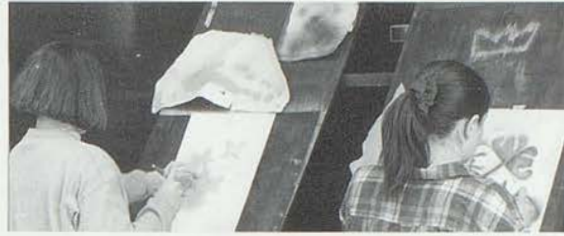

Turn that saw on! Relaxed and feeling the soft texture of his board ready to be cut, Kirk Stephens takes his time starring at the saw. Is he asking it why it isn't running?

Painting pottery pretty. She is independent student Lisa Ward giving the last strokes to her pot. Lisa's specialty is wheel made pottery.

Don't turn around girls. Emily Rosene and Jackie Moore work in their first air brush experiment. They try to figure out its different techniques.

Stay there! Struggling during his industrial class. David Mackendrick scrapes the glue that is on his board warning it to be still and not slide away from his hands. David is working on his board for a shelf project.

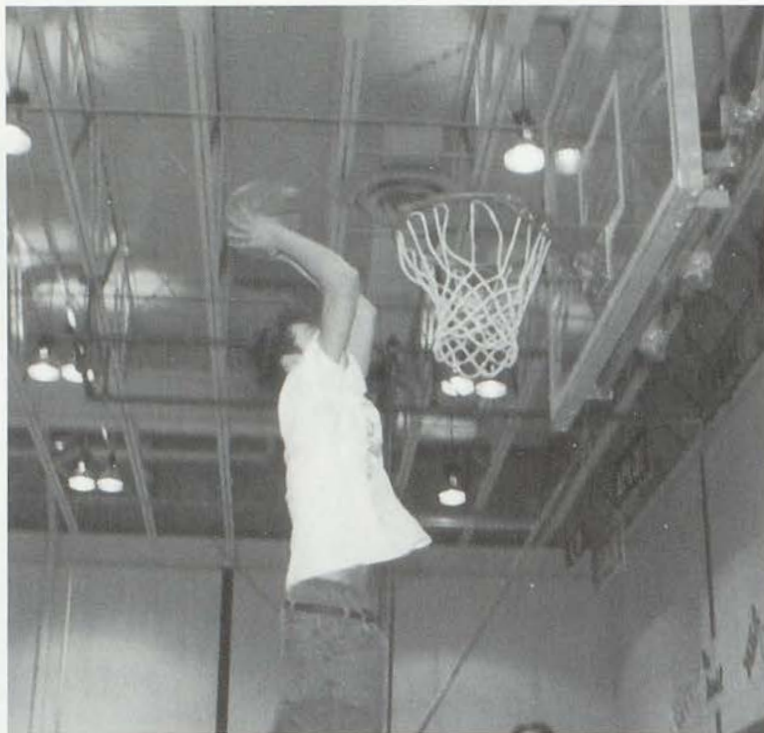

Peel it up. Liz Smith has the ability to create the most beautiful butterflies - her specialty - using block prints: a requirement for art design class. This technique consists of a picture carved on a rubber block that allows Liz to do as many prints as she wants and to use a variety of colors too. She really is an artist.

My Buddy and Me

Tommy Miller and his steer go through the daily preparations at the County Fair before judging. This type of hands-on learning takes an entire year of preparation. Most of the FFA members participate in out-of-school activities such as this. Many raise animals and make projects to submit for judging. In other judging of this type, students are judged for such activities such as building feed testing facilities and other projects which improve other projects. These types of experiences not only allow students to show off their work but to compare it to the work of others. The Future Farmers of America is a national organization of 444,497 members that are looking for careers in technology of agriculture, business and science. There are 7,264 chapters that extend all the way to the Virgin Islands. The goal of FFA is to enhance the leadership and knowledge through agricultural education.

The Beat Goes On

The 1995 season was an uneventful one for the Marshall Redskin Marching Band. It began with camp the week before school started. The band practices basic marching techniques and begins work on the Homecoming/Festival show at camp. At festival in October, this year held at Portage Northern, the band received a "2" rating. Along with the Homecoming show, which is performed and improved upon several times, they did a show with the seventh and eighth graders and the Senior show. The Senior show is the last game of the year, when the graduating seniors are recognized. The seniors choose the music and chart the band's movements for half-time. The band also did the Home Tour and Christmas parades.

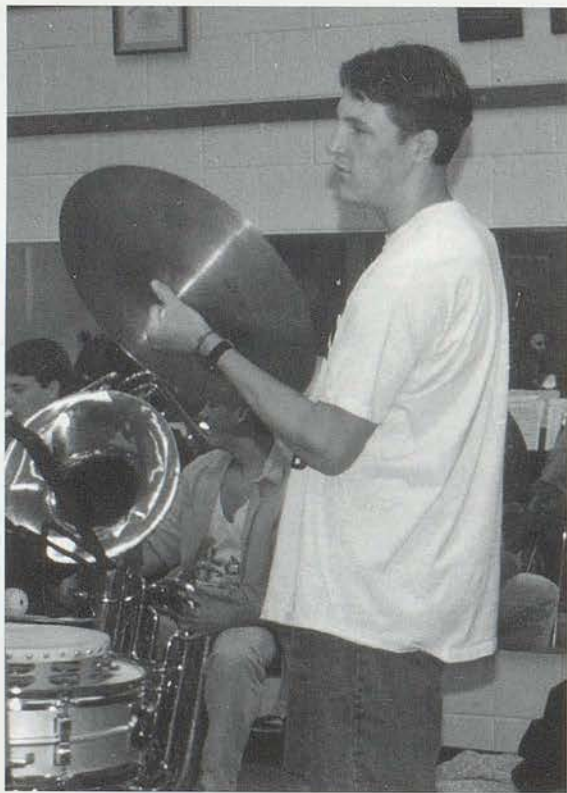

In December the MHS Marching Band becomes the MHS Concert Band. They perform several concerts, always including at least one march in their music selection. The concert band also attends festival, this year at Vicksburg. They received a second division rating. Many members belong to the Jazz Band, which plays for school functions, like basketball games and National Honor Society inductions, but also for non-school things, like dances.

This year was Mr. Conklin's 12th and last year with the Marshall bands. He is moving to Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, to run the Mulberry Farm Bed and Breakfast. Mr. Conklin has long been a Civil War buff and re-enactor, and this opportunity is a dream come true. At the Spring concert the seniors gave him a "Cotton Pickin' Band Seniors" t-shirt, a framed picture of themselves, and a pen for his guest register. Then Kate Goedde, Brend Mondoskin, and Andy Elms presented a gift from many members of the band and the community — a new piccolo trumpet. Mr. Conklin was speechless for the better part of a minute. After a tearful playing of "Auld Lang Syne," MR. Conklin said goodbye to Marshall. He will be sorely missed by his students, and many others in the community.

Stay in step!

Teen Beat

The Marshall High School Choir is full of "Teen Beat." They work toward district festival and perform in community concerts. This year at festival they earned a "2" rating. Jenny Skidmore went to Solo & Ensemble Festival where she earned a "1." Mark Shurig and Jessie Fitch also competed each earning "2" ratings. Mr. Clissold will be retiring after twenty-seven years. During their final performance, Sarah Cronk and Bonnie Adams sang "Wind Beneath My Wings." The choir looked on with teary eyes and alumni returned for the event. It was an evening of singing, dancing, and tears. Congratulations to Mr. Clissold for a successful career at Marshall High School.

Mike Shirey begins to play the drums as he stares off into the distance to visualize the rhythm he is going to play.

As the year comes to a winding end the Marshall Orchestra has once again displayed a stellar performance with their musical talents. Mr. Keranen was the mastermind behind the great sound which the Marshall High Orchestra produced. Mr. Keranen stepped in this year as the new Orchestra Director, and made the already great Orchestra sound even better, which is hard to do. Mr. Keranen is returning next year on a mission to reach an even higher level of perfection to the sound of the Orchestra. The Marshall orchestra has a reputation of excellence throughout the area, and with this tradition comes a lot of respect. That is why here at Marshall we are very proud of our Orchestra. Good luck!!

No one said it would be easy

No one said it was easy to stand up for yourself or be a leader or a rebel. The members of M.H.S. SADD stand up for themselves and their friends. Getting a message across is certainly not easy.

The members of Students Against Drunk Driving attended the Operation Safe and Sober at the Battle Creek Air National Guard. This seminar was designed to inform students about drunk driving. Part of the day was spent driving a car simulating drunk driving. The students listened to panelists, who were victims of drunk driving. They also took a tour of the base.

The SADD members try to influence other students in positive ways. The SADD members this year decided to paint a mural downtown, to show people celebrating life is important. Eight students who are interested to join SADD and help plan events for next fall.

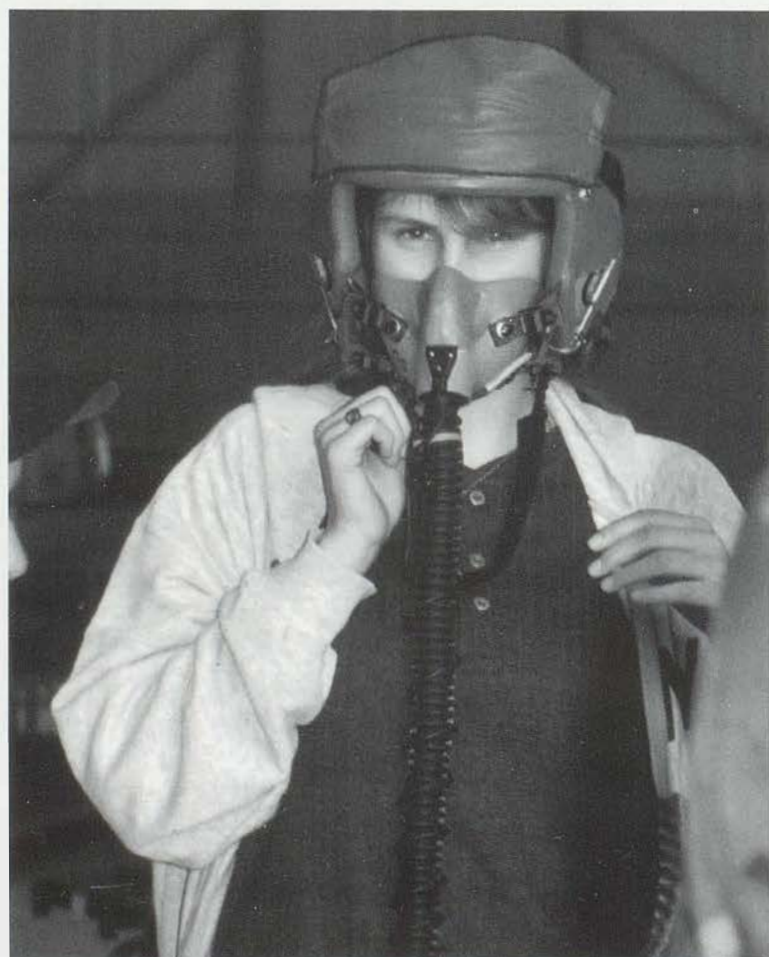

"SADD has been influential and helpful after attending Operation Safe and Sober. I realized how fatal drunk driving can be. Driving the car was scary and listening to the panelists touched my heart. It was certainly an experience I will never forget," stated Jessica Flanders.

"SADD was a great experience, especially Operation Safe and Sober. At Operation Safe and Sober, you got to drive a car that simulated drunk driving. It makes you aware of the dangers of drunk driving," stated Marc Paskett.

Once again this year, the M-Club was lead by their fearless leader Ben Armstrong. The group spent many long nights working the concession stand at basketball, volleyball, wrestling, and many other winter sports home games. Their main incentive was the trip to Cedar Point at the end of the year. In order to qualify for the trip, each member of M-Club had to work at least twice at the concession stands throughout the year. In order to be a member of M-Club, the student must have earned their Varsity letter the previous year. The members of M-Club are usually the majority of the student body who are also involved in most of the other school activities. They do not only focus on athletics, but also grades and school spirit.

 bers of M-Club show that they are involved in many of the activities that this school has to offer. Many members of M-Club not only participate in athletics, but just about anything this school has to offer.

Leavin' on a Jetplane

For most students, the end of the year comes quickly, but for seniors, the date arrives too slowly. That date that we thought would never get here was May 31st. From start to finish, the year was too long, but we'll all miss little parts of it: Homecoming, Class Night, Class Party, and Graduation. Many of us have gone to school together since we were in Kindergarten, and next year will be the first time we won't be with familiar people. Whether going to college, the military, or joining the workforce, the Class of '96 will be embarking on new experiences and undergoing many changes.

This year was full of many great happenings for the seniors in activities. The Varsity Volleyball team won a District championship, the Football team ventured back to the playoffs, and the Girls' Golf team was one of the best all season long. The other sports also fared well. The Boys' Soccer team had the best record in history, the Boys' Tennis team beat powerhouse Sturgis, the Boys' Cross Country team went to State, and the Girls' Swimming team broke all kinds of records. The Seniors were vital to all of these things and all of us will remember them as great memories of our Senior year.

Spirit
Cammy Edsall and Dawn Wespinter faithfully cheered the boys on this season. Their spirit was carried throughout the year to the rest of the class.

What's she doin'?
Meredith Thompson sits here, ready to scoot, at swimming practice. The smile on her face shows how much fun she's already having!

I'm ready
Kristy Sunderman gave blood in February when the Red Cross came to the high school. A lot of people passed out, but Kristy did great! Everyone loved the snacks afterward.

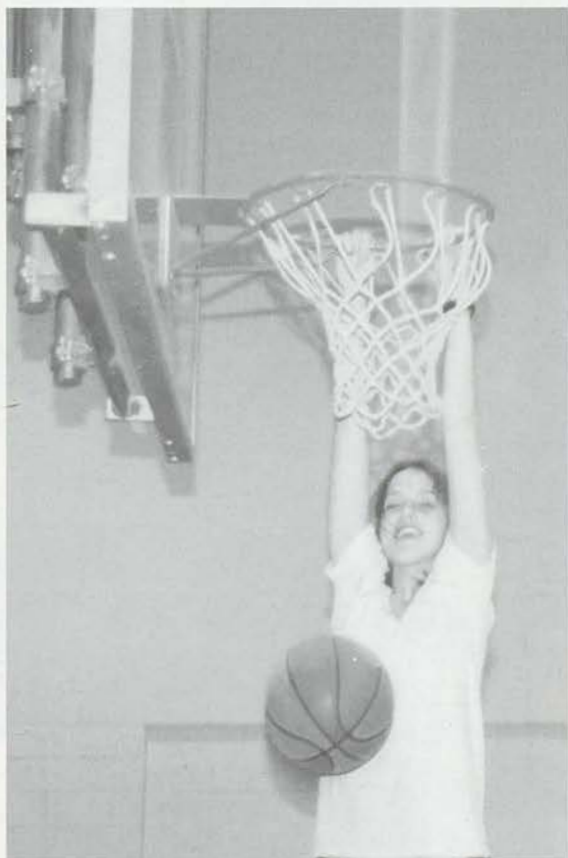

In drag
Tibor Kormendy and Marie Vespa were both exchange students this year. They loved Spirit Day!

Lowest Forms of Life
R. J. Selby and Jesse Bell, along with Matt Rodgers, formed the Class of '96's band. They played at pep assemblies and Expresso Yourself.

Dedicated students
Michelle Bivens,
Jen Stout, Dave
Ruesch, and Rich
Friedlund study hard during class. Doesn't look like getting done. They must be thinking about graduation.

Above the rim
Erin Madden is the only girl at Marshall High that can dunk. Where was she during basketball season?

Lookin' good
Adam Gase and Josh Heppner are all decked out
for Homecoming. Both enjoyed themselves a lot.

There will never be another tonight

The tradition of class night has been around for 20 years now. This year, the class of 96 finally got a shot at putting on the show. All the seniors have been thinking about what they would do for class night since their freshman year. Then the moment of truth arrived! They came, they played, they worked, and then they conquered. The show had such a good reputation that the tickets sold out close to 7 A.M. the day of the class night!

As the day of Class Night came up, a lot of seniors would tell you that they weren't exactly thrilled to be involved considering that all the late night dress rehearsals happened during finals week! Jason Peterson said, "It was the best week of hell I've ever been through! It really was a lot of work but it really paid off. There were a lot of great skits this year so, this year's show was good. We succeeded to make you laugh and a few of us cried. We ended the show singing "Hope that you enjoyed the show!" Most everyone did.

It's time. Hospital staff (a.k.a. MHS students) help Mr. Foreman (Matt Rodgers) calm down and help his expecting wife Michelle (Christina Shoen).

You call that a pirouette? Coach ordered the football team to learn some grace, so Julie Beglin got to work on Josch Banfield. Adam Gase, Chris Hug, and Darin Lee.

Um, teacher
Adam Gase has just been seduced by a classroom of meek shy girls after putting on special glasses. And the teacher didn't believe him!

Miracle machine
The new Flobee product does everything, even cut hair in this informal skit by Meredith Thompson, Michelle Bivens, and Josch Banfield.

Farm folk
Former Mar Lee
students Julie
Beglin, Jenny
Fuller, Koren
Grable, Sarah
Stripe, and Mike Laupp tried to prove to the Marshall kids that, unlike their reputation, they really are somewhat civilized.
They had modern things like a few paved roads
and a John Deere!

Singin' a groove
Rachel Kelly sang
one of her favorite songs as Martin Mejia accompanied
her. Class Night
this year had a lot of music,
including different bands and dance routines.

Elvis lives!
Liz Haines redoes her 8th grade talent show impersonation of the Elvis song
"I'm all Shook Up."

Brother bother
Siamese twin brother's Adam Gase and Chad Nelson followed their brother Darin Lee around all night trying to play fun games together.

Everybody together
Class Night is a sad and happy time for seniors. Class members gather for one last farewell before graduation. Now they can finally rest!

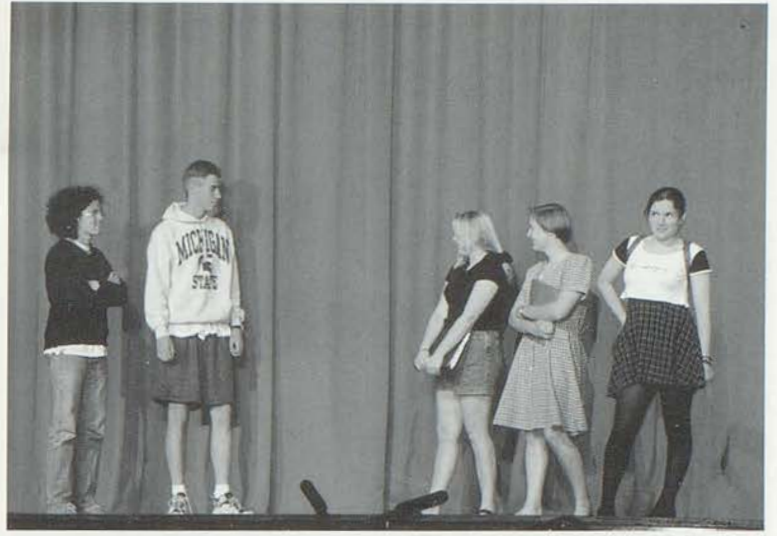

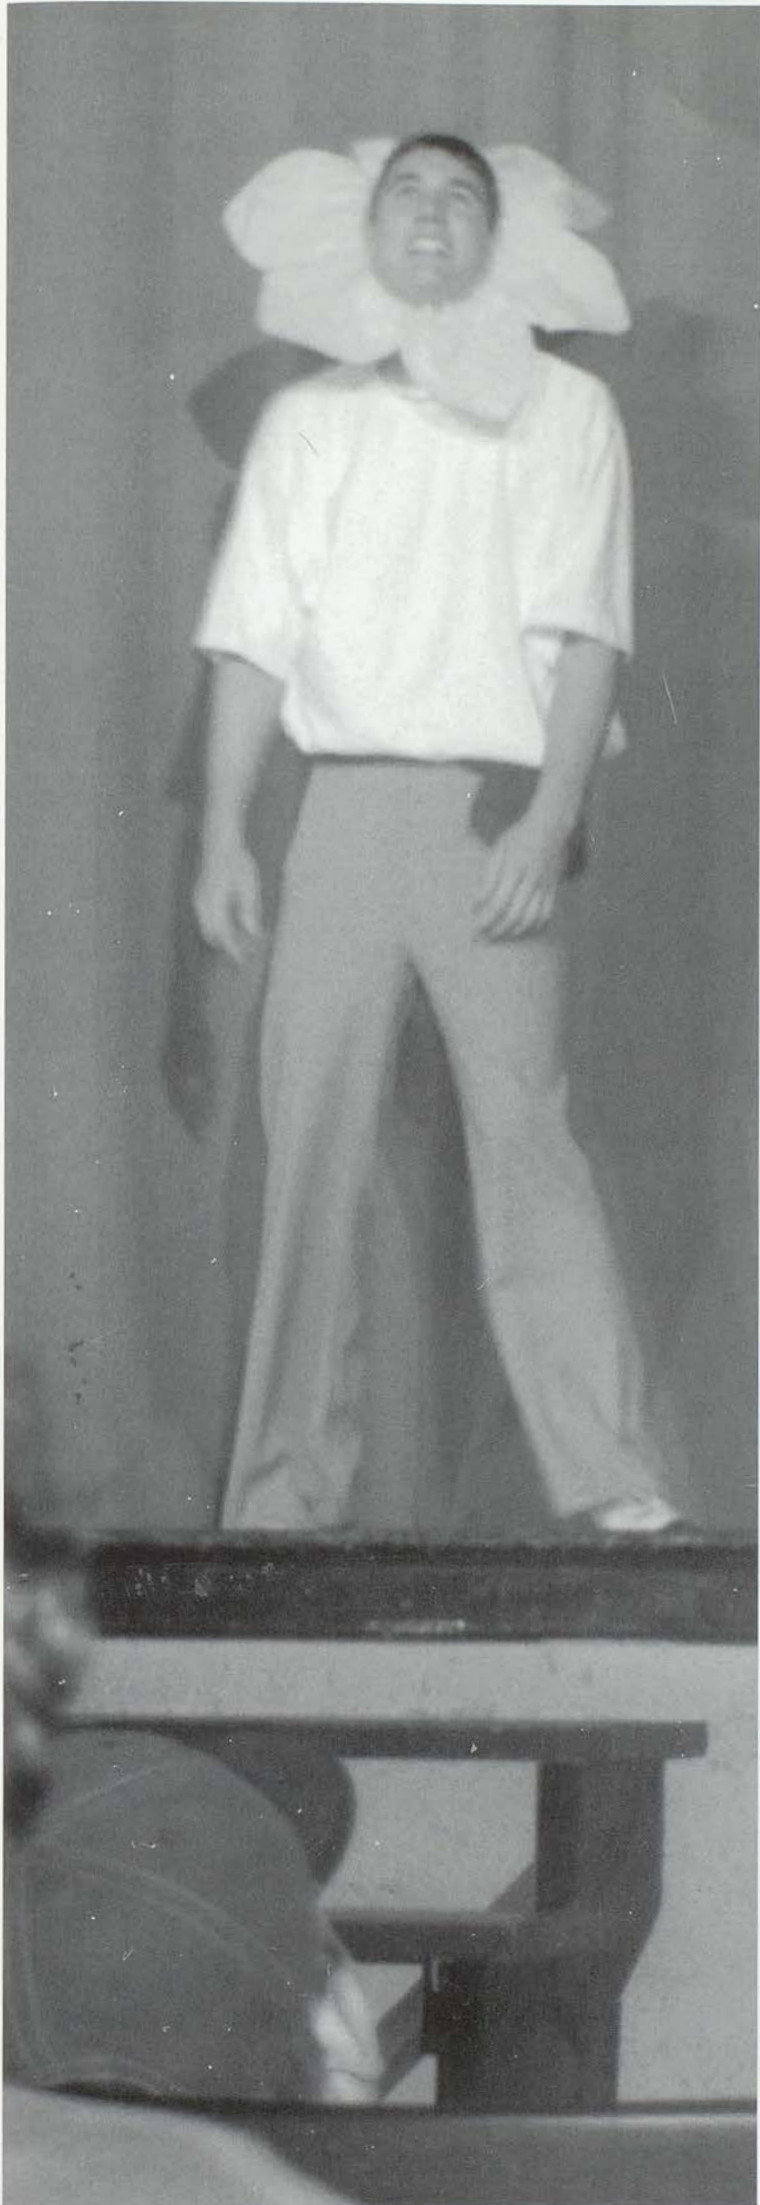

Can't we all just get along?
The Marshall Pep Band had a face off with the Varsity Football team to see who was more important on the field. As it turned out, they learned to appreciate each other.

Girl scouts honor
Reenacting childhood was a popular theme for several skits that night. Here, Jen Stout and Christina Zapata pledge to sell the most cookies, if they don't eat them first!

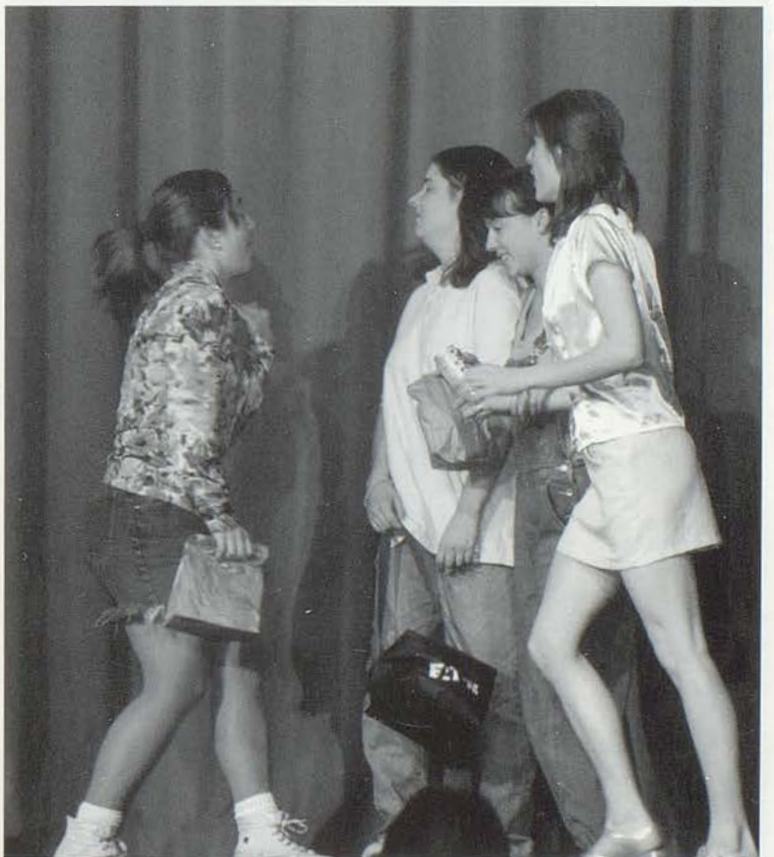

Hey, Mickey!
These girls, Mary Beth Parker, Michelle Bivens, Christina McPherson, and Angie Jaquint danced along to "Mickey" as Suzy Abbott (not shown) ran around the stage!

Who are you?
In the exchange students' skit, Anja Spreeman, Martine Vermulen, and Marie Vespa ask Martin Mejia and Florian Link silly questions.

Spring sing
Christina Zapata patiently directs this rowdy group of kindergartners as they sang BINGO and fidgeted a lot!

Flower power
Mike Sloan sang "You Are My Sunshine" as he timidly walked about the stage. He was also in the previous skit about the woes of nature.

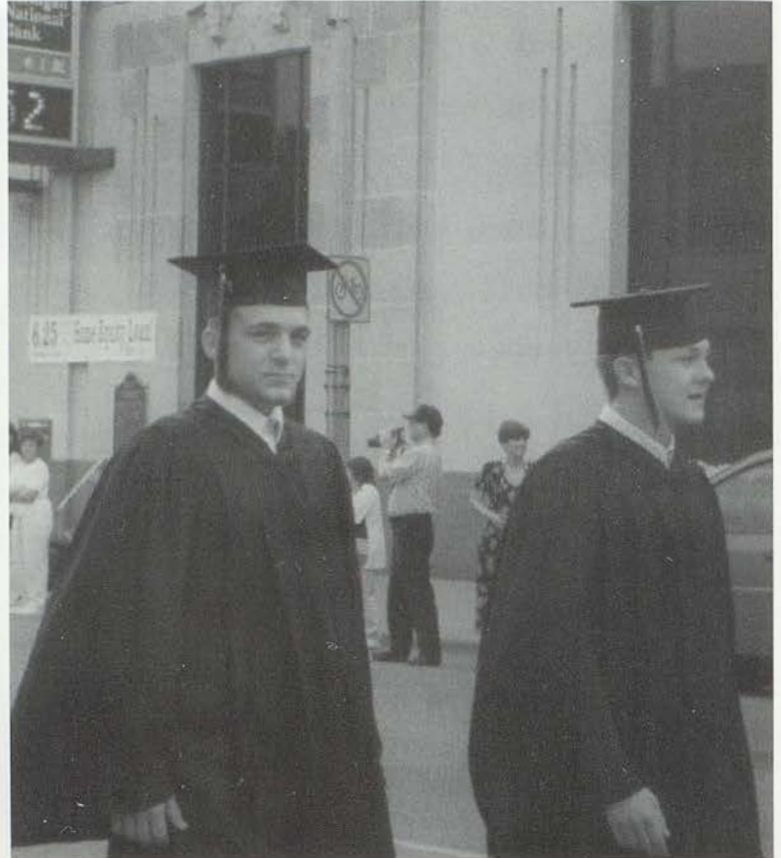

Gossiping girls
After listening in on two other girls, Christina McPherson, Sara Crane, Suzy Abbott, and Kelly Dominique blab what they're sure they heard.

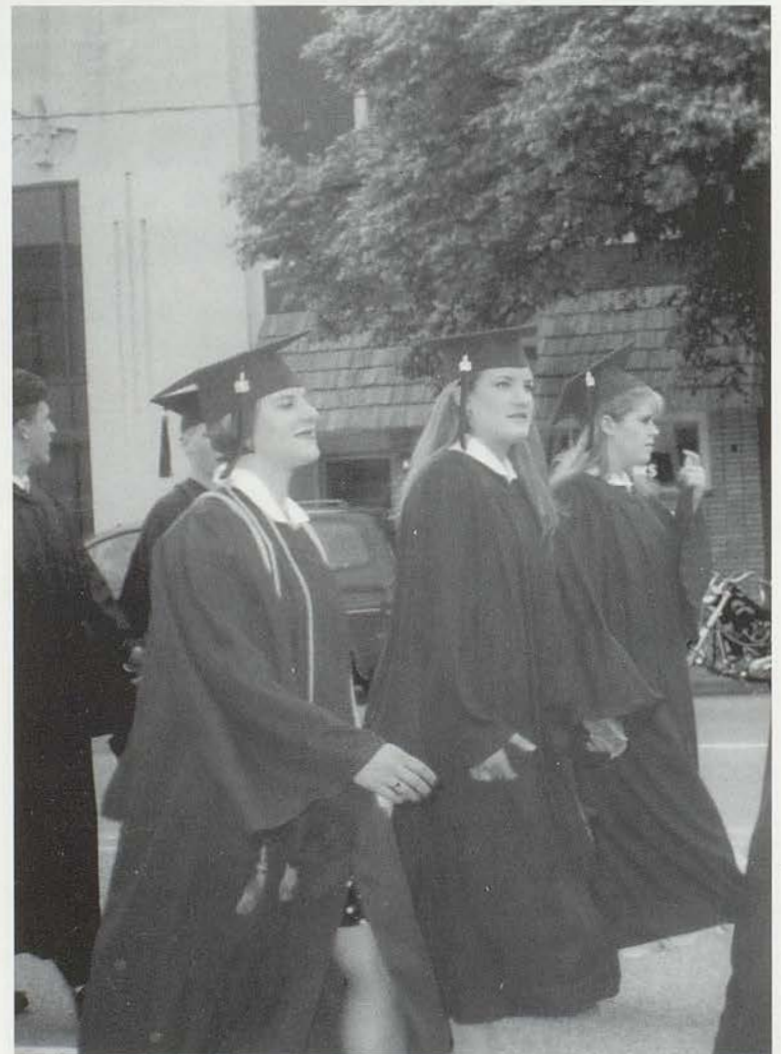

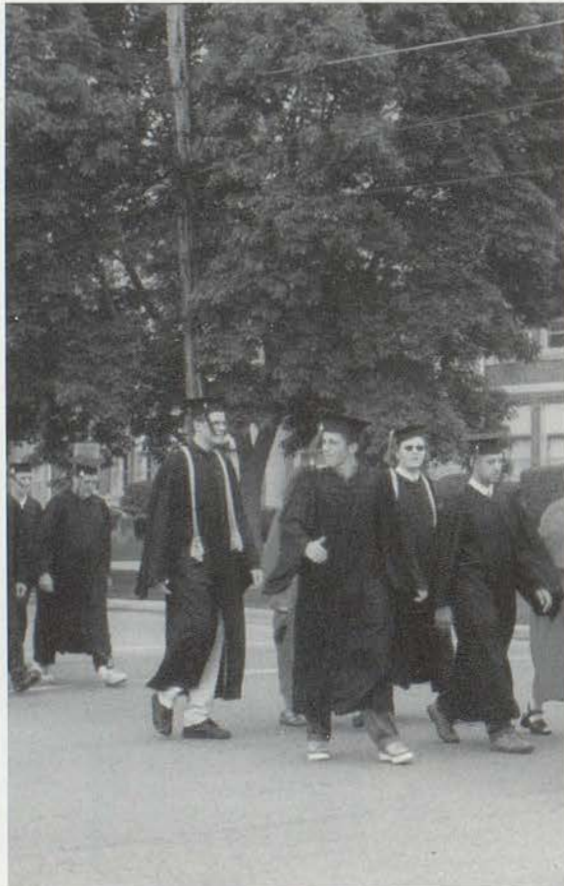

A parade through town
Walking the streets Steffen Jepsen, Miranda Bell, Martine Vermeulen and Anja Spreeman look happy and students this year. There were ten exchange students this year.

Handsome in Black
Kyle Hughes and Ted Lutzke walk through town. A tradition for the Marshall High School seniors is walking through town before graduation ceremonies.

Just the guys
Chris Elyea, Mike Laupp, Greg Trax, and Gabe Robinson walk with their class. The walk began and ended at Marshall Middle School. Mike gave a humorous and inspiring speech during graduation ceremony. Chris and Greg both graduated with highest honors. Chris was a member of National Honor Society for two years. Greg was inducted during his Senior year. Gabe wore a smile, relieved that four years of high school was over. Graduation means parties and fun for many seniors. The students of M.H.S. all have different plans for next fall.

Just us Girls
Jen Owens, Corrine Pierce, and Michelle Swanson walk through town. Many seniors participate in the optional walk.

Almost Done
Carrie Whittaker, Jeff Williams, Cory Winfree, Brian Wolf, and Steve Wolk wait for their diploma. They were the final seniors receiving a diploma. After graduation, many attended the senior party.

A time for us

A gray Saturday morning would not prevent the Marshall High School graduation from continuing. The class of 1996 walked through town. The days of high school classes, tests, and finals were over. New doors had opened for the graduates of Marshall High School.

The band began playing as the M.H.S. staff entered the field. The students waited to begin. Carol Smith, Aimee Rochelle, and Sara Goedde sang the "Star Spangled Banner" to start the celebration.

Mike Laupp and David Swender were chosen as class speakers. Mike's speech brought laughter to the audience. Dave Swender gave an inspiring speech. He stressed the importance of remembering the childhood one leaves behind while preparing for the future. Mr.

Jerry Kimmel gave the commencement address. Lynne Haley, President of the Board of Education, gave a short speech before the graduates were introduced. The speeches were an inspiration to the graduating class.

The students received their diploma and School Board members congratulated them. After the final diploma was handed out, caps were thrown into the air creating a cascade of red and black. The Marshall High School class of 1996 had graduated and were ready for the parties to begin. Parents were filled with mixed emotions. Some were thankful their child had made it, others cried, but all were very proud. Congratulations and best of luck in the future to the Marshall High School class of 1996.

Graduating again?
Mr. Telfer, Mrs. Knaack, Mr. Walton and Miss Magnus leave the field. The staff sat with the seniors during the ceremony.

A final farewell
Christina Schoen waves goodbye for the camera. Christina was a member of the top ten at Marshall High School. The cords around her neck represented her participation in National Honor Society and graduating with highest honors. Christina took two foreign languages and is looking forward to college. After graduation, many of the graduated Seniors talked to friends and family. Congratulations, tears and hugs were exchanged. Four years of hard work had come to an end. High School has ended and the future awaits them.

Congratulations to the class of 1996!

Graduation
by Jessica Flanders, Tammy Lam, & Minchie Walters

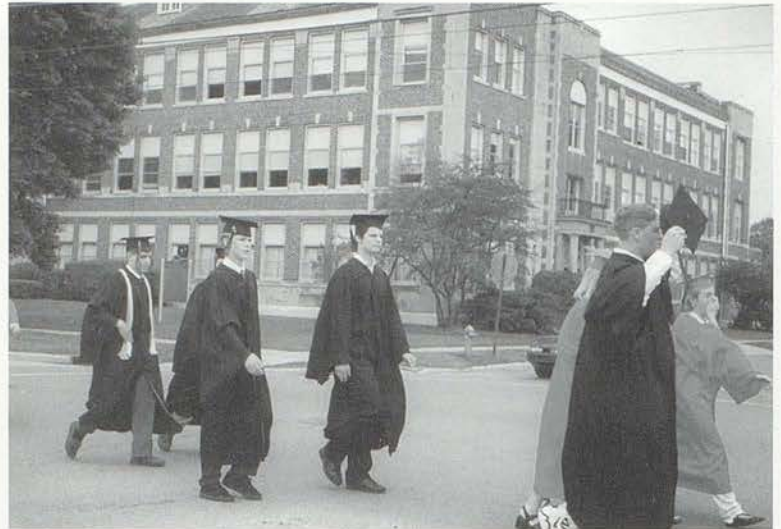

"Seize the moment"

These words spoken by David Swender were inspirational to his classmates. David's words of wisdom were helpful to the graduating class and students in the audience.

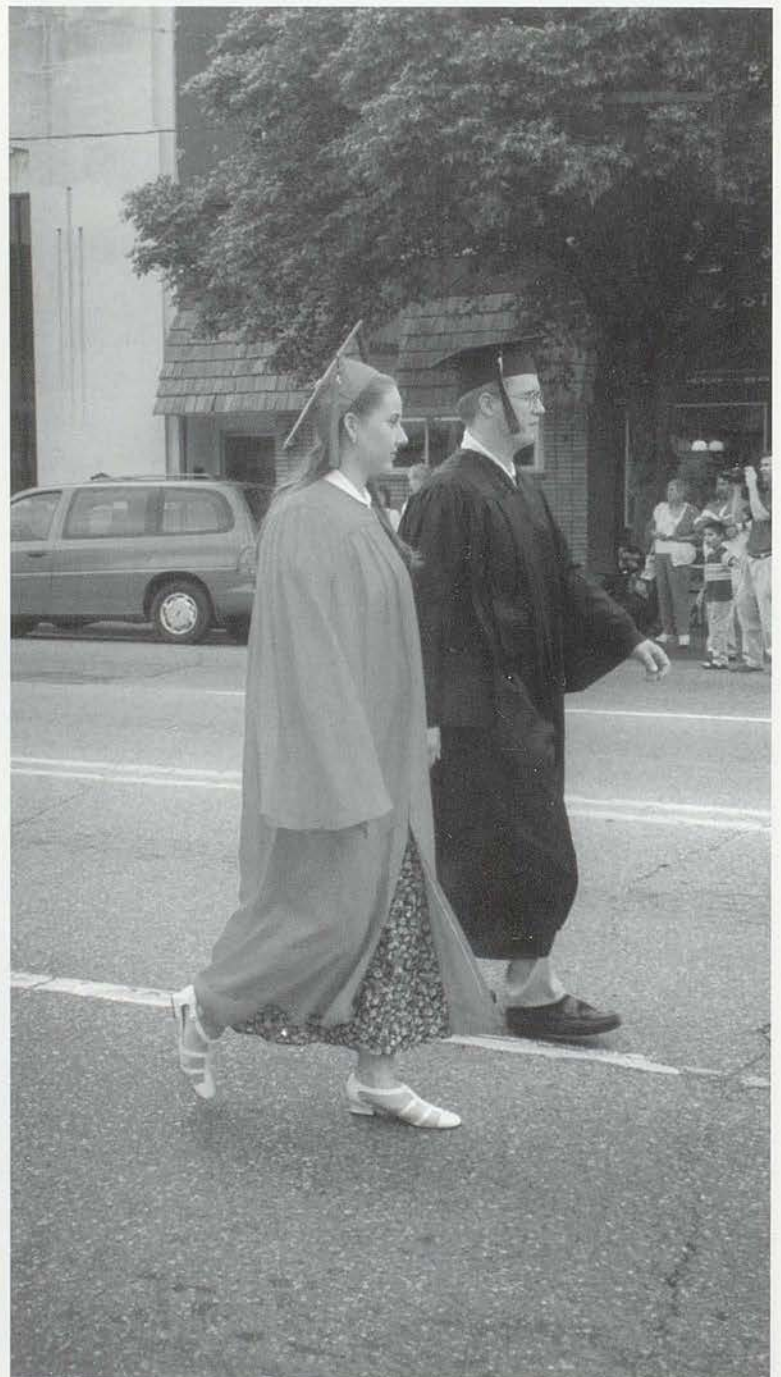

Almost there Cory Winfree, Jeff Williams, Steve Wolk, Christina Zapata, Brian Burns and Mr. Armstrong walk across the field to take their seats. Mr. Burns and Mr. Armstrong were the class advisors.

Three worlds in one Mikko Orsilla, Tibor Kormendy and Lance Ford walk through town. Tibor and Mikko were exchange students to Marshall High School this year.

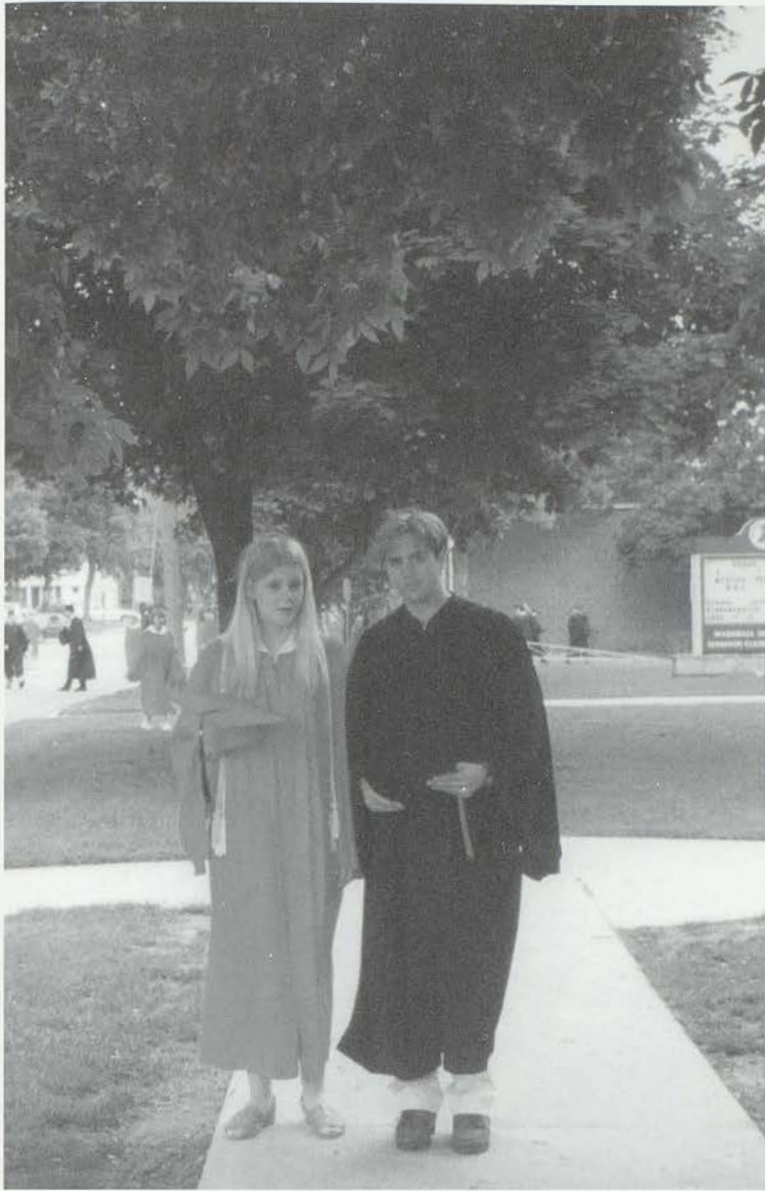

The time has come Sara Goedde and Chris Hug walk across the football field at graduation. The senior class wore the traditional Redskin red and black for graduation. Sarah graduated with high honors. To graduate with high honors a student must earn a 3.5 GPA. Chris was captain of the wrestling team.

Walk of a lifetime Aimee Morey and Ryan Lautzenheiser walk together through Marshall. Many people came to watch the parade of seniors.

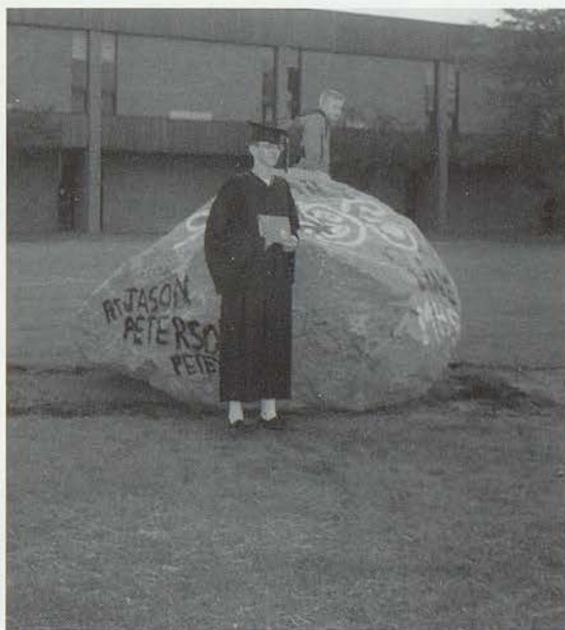

Let's get ready
Danielle Larson and Chris Bell stand outside of the Middle School. They had completed the walk through town. They were preparing to go to the High School for the graduation ceremony.

Free at Last
The new graduates of Marshall High School celebrate graduation. The sky was filled with a cascade of red and black as hats flew into the air. This traditional toss concluded the ceremony.

What a trip
Pete Driver, Leslie Booth, Elizabeth Bretkreutz, and Rob Brownell exit the field. High school has ended and a new trip begins.

"Oh say can you see ..."
Aimee Rochelle, Carol Woods, and Sara Goedde sang the "Star Spangled Banner." The beautiful performance was appreciated by the Seniors and audience alike.

The Rock
Aaron "Gozz" Gosselin shows off his diploma beside the class of 1996 rock. The rock was brought in by Judge Line. Many graduates took their picture by it after the ceremony ended.

I've had the time of my life

"Walk of Life"

The seniors venture down Green St. in their caps and gowns. This would be one of the last times they would be together as a group.

"Baby Face"

Penny Barnes shows her cute little smile during seminar. She enjoyed her seminar because she liked to watch all of the "different" people in there.

"The Sign"

While putting up posters and newspaper clippings, Jesse Bell whistles a happy tune. Jesse can be seen throughout the halls and in the bookstore.

"Can't Touch This"

Josh Heppner does his best Hammer impression. Josh had a lot of fun at fifties day.

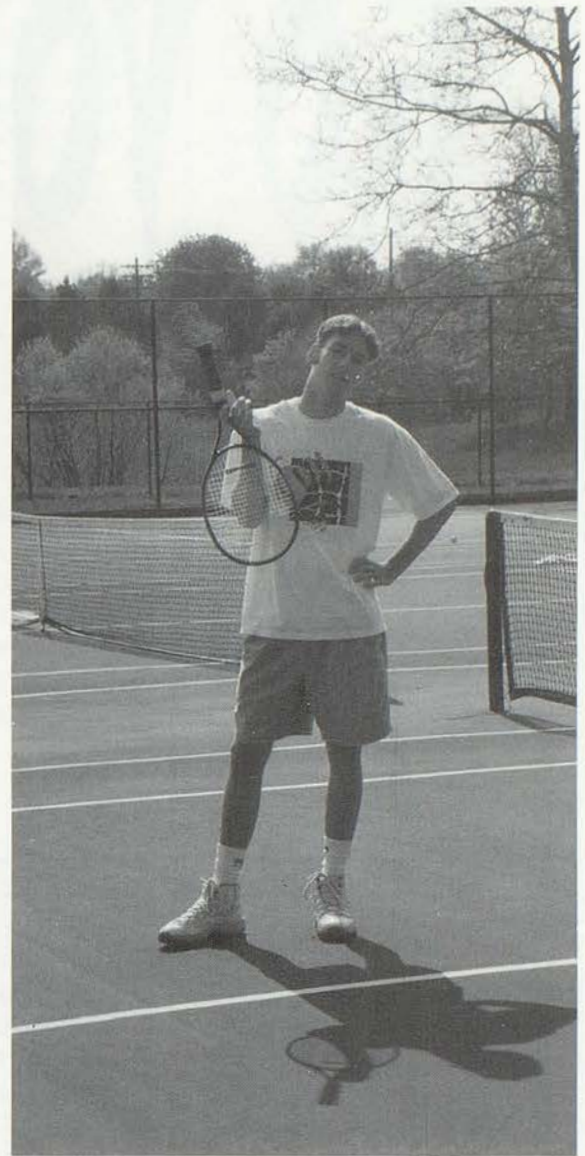

"Joyride"

Taking a ride on Jessica Moffat's Huffy is Emily Line. She made several rounds around the tennis courts before the team caught up with her.

"Dude Looks Like a Lady."

R.J. Selby takes a stroll during class. It almost looks like he might be carrying a purse, but after further inspection, it looks to be some sort of knapsack.

"Superfreak"

Dave Ruesch asks, "What's up?," after obviously defeating his weakling opponent on the tennis court. Dave was involved with many sports this year.

"I Will Survive"

Maybe after someone helps Julie Beglin up, she will be able to receive her Junior Miss title. The competition was fierce, but Julie blew away the judges.

"Beat It"

Playing a game of Scrabble is Leo Powers, Liz Haines, and Jen Stout. The game seems to be keeping them in a trance.

Joshua Ivey,

Your talents are your gift from God. What you do with them is your gift back to Him. Go for your dreams!

Love,
Mom and Dad

Josch Banfield,

As you head down the road to your future remember we are always there to give you love and support. We are very proud of your accomplishments in high school and look forward to another Spartan in the family.

Love,
Mom and Dad
P.S. Let's do lunch ... Dad!

Jessi Shaver,

We're so very proud. You're such a people person. So remember what you give is what you will become. Set goals high and your dreams will come true. Greet your future with a smile, success is there for you.

Love,
Mom and Dad

Amy Vandever,

You have grown into a beautiful young woman. You have always brought sunshine into our lives. Go and grab the future.

Love,
Mom, Dad and Mike

Tyler Metzger,

Your great sense of humor will take you far in life. I celebrate with you your graduation from my alma mater.

Love,
Mother

Christina McPherson,

You have no idea how proud you have made us! You are a wonderful person!

Love,

The Home and Family People

For more than 70 years, Better Homes and Gardens' magazine has been a family tradition.

We bring this experience to every home we sell.

To us, it's more than just a sale ... it's a way of life.

The Saints go Marching in ...

The Marshall School System will be losing two very talented and artistic faculty members at the close of the 1995-1996 school year. Mr. Conklin has taught at Marshall for eight years as the band teacher. With Mr. Conklin's lead, the band has excited the crowd at many of the football games with their captivating half time show. The jazz band has also spiced up the home basketball games. One of his many students, Liz Wheat, had these things to say about his departure. "He's been a wonderful director and it'll be really hard to lose him." Meredith Kubicek added "He's done so much for the band he'll be a tough act to follow." Cammy Edsall, a Senior who has had Mr. Conklin as her band director since the sixth grade added that, "Because of his good attitude and fun way of teaching music, he was the one reason I stayed in band for all those years." After his departure from Marshall, Mr. Conklin plans to move with his family to Pennsylvania to start up and run a Bed and Breakfast.

Marshall bids farewell to Mr. Dave Conklin

Follow my lead
Mr. Conklin leads his band at one of the many spaghetti dinners he was asked to perform at. The annual spaghetti supper gave the parents and staff an opportunity to see the various musical groups at the beginning of the year.

Congratulations! Mr. Conklin is shown here with the 1994-1995 band after they received high rankings at the State Band Festival. The band was honored with cake and many other celebrations. Mr. Conklin has led many bands during his time at Marshall to many high placings at the State Festivals.

Oh How the years Go By ...

Mr. Phil Clissold says good-bye
after 21 years

The King lives
Mr. Phil Clissold is honored at his last Pops Concert of the year and his last as the director of the choir. The choir performed many light and happy numbers and was crowned "The King" at the end of the night.

Mr. Phil Clissold will be the other teacher who will be retiring at the close of this school year. Mr. Clissold has taught at Marshall for twenty-one years. Mr. Clissold has seen many talented groups in his long stay here. Mr. Walton has worked with Mr. Conklin for eight years and Mr. Clissold for twenty years. He commented that "These are two very talented and dedicated teachers. Their absence will leave only a few veterans at Marshall. I wish them the very best for their future plans." Mr. Ray Davis, who has worked with them for a number of years stated, "These two professionals have always been enjoyable to work with. Whoever gets their positions will find it very tough to fit in their shoes." Sarah Cronk summed it all up when she sang "Wind Beneath My Wings" to Mr. Clissold at their final Pops Concert. The choir department and the entire staff will miss all that Mr. Clissold has added to Marshall Choir department and to the development at Marshall High School. The yearbook staff would like to congratulate Mr. Dave Conklin and Mr. Phil Clissold for their success at Marshall and wish them the very best in all they do in the future.

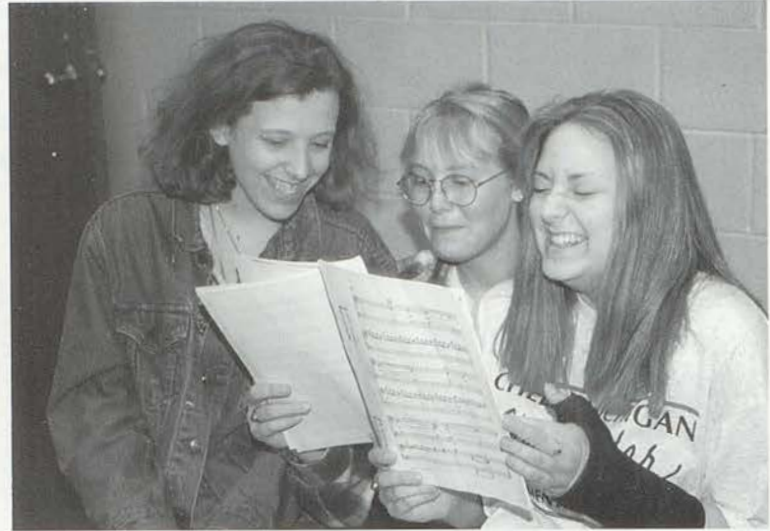

The full view
Junior choir student, Mark Schurig gets some help from Mr. Clissold on one of the pieces the class performed. The class learned the choir is not just about singing, but also sight reading, scales, and much more that added to all the success the choir has accomplished in the past year.

End of the road

Soaring high
Liz Pedranzan clears 5'0" on this jump at Coldwater. Being one of only three seniors
on the team. Liz's skills and leadership will be missed next year.

Off beat
Erica Kidder, Kelly Winchester, and Jenny Crampton look over their sheet music for choir. This must be one interesting song to get such a reaction from these girls.

Innocence
Kelly Kiewiet
caught in the act
of dancing tries
to look innocent,
while every one
else keeps strutting their stuff.

Catching some z's
Melissa Hall catches up on her sleep during class. She must have had a late night date.

Score!
The cheerleaders are going wild after Marshall scored to tie the game. The cheerleaders were very spirited and supportive to the basketball team this year.

Dancing
Matt Paulson and Russ Kavalhuna
show their moves
at the Homecoming dance. Homecoming is a time
for everyone to let loose.

The Blurr
Anne Kellogg runs down the hall to make sure
she is not late to class. With homework in hand, Anne is always prepared for class.

Jock to Beauty
The girls' basketball team takes a break from their dates to get their picture taken together. In front are: Stacey
Woods, Leslie
Mitchell, Maggie
Kendall, Amanda
Fralely, Ilo Mathew-
son Back: Katie
Madden, Liz Pedran-
zan, Jamey Hamilton, Sara Duffey, Jen Stout.

On the run
Jodi Rodgers pushes herself during the mile run at a Twin Valley track meet. Jodi's running abilities help
her not only in track but in cross country also.

After the bell
Samara Colwell, Jacque Crandall, and Minchie Walters walk home after a long day at school. After the bell rings the school empties in five minutes with everyone rushing to get to more interesting activities.

Open lunch?
Ilo Mathewson
and Jenny Crampton return to school after sneaking out to McDonald's for lunch. Though the school has closed
lunch it doesn't stop many students from leaving.

Tu parles francais?

Annie Scaers and Sarah Bedient help each other out on their French assignment. Group work is often a way to learn in Mrs. Berryhill's class.

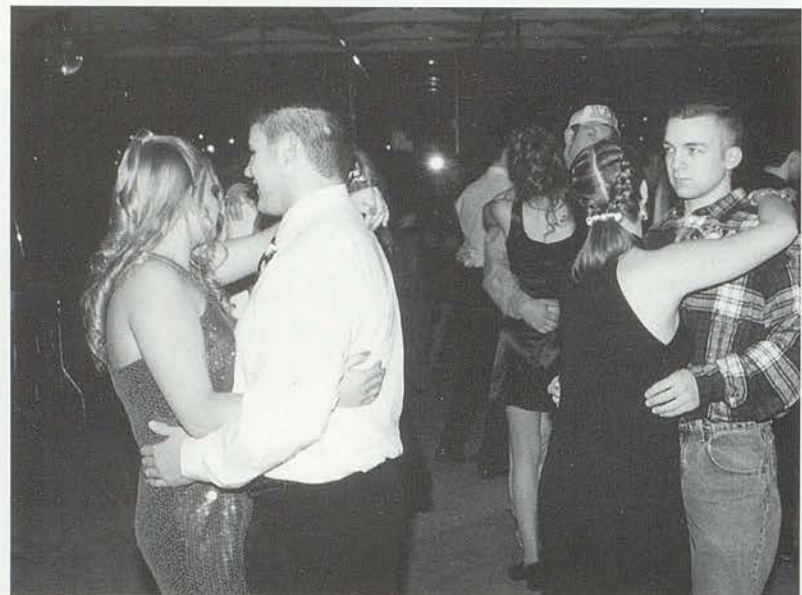

And the winner is?

Ryan Saylor and Adam Saylor sprint to the finish of the 100 meter dash. Both Saylor's with their quick moves caught many people's attention.

Rest and relaxation
Corey Dale takes a break from all the pressure of school to relax outside of the athletic office. This has become the spot for all the guys to hang out during and in between classes.

Dance the night away
Kassie Hamaker, Jerrid Stepp, Christina Grable, and Kyle Hughes dance to one of the last songs of the night. This year Marshall had a Sadie Hawkins dance giving the girls a chance to ask the guys to be their dates.

What the?
Randy Rollo and Adam Fish can't believe what they are seeing at Prom. Some couples get way too friendly in front of way too many people during the dance.

Body heat
Chris Campbell gives his date, Amanda Bagi, a little hug for warmth during the Homecoming dance. For most couples Homecoming is a time to socialize with everyone.
